In the death of James F. McGuire, which occurred last evening at the home of his aunt, Mrs. James McGovern, 274 Myrtle avenue, the South End, lost one of its most widely known young men. The deceased was 18 years of age and was a printer by trade, with the Sherwood-Morgan Co. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Mary Baker, Catherine and Theresa McGuire and also by three brothers, Patrick, Michael and Joseph McGuire.

Amusements POLPS

One of the happiest collections of vaudeville attractions and motion picture features ever found in a single program is that at Polps' theatre for the first half of the week. Every feature, Joe Mizale and Marthy know how to handle the sort of entertainment vaudeville goes like and they are "making good" with a vengeance, this week.

The Three Whales, local favorites, are more welcome than ever with their new, bright and snappy variety feature. Joe Mizale and Marthy know how to handle the sort of entertainment vaudeville goes like and they are "making good" with a vengeance, this week.

The Chaplin picture, "His New Job," in two reels and is a scream from start to finish. It is the first of the films produced under Chaplin's direction and is his funniest effort. In addition, there are other high class films of a dramatic nature.

Braving the cold of yesterday afternoon and last evening, hundreds of Bridgeport theatergoers ventured forth to witness the performance of "A Contented Woman" as played at the Lyric theater. Crowded houses were the result in spite of the inclement weather.

While Lowell Sherman, Miss Emma De Weale and Miss Emma De Weale and the other members of the company scored distinct triumphs in the production, the real interest was displayed in the dancing by Lynn Graham and Gilbert York.

In their series of remarkable classic and eccentric character dances, the young man and young woman gave an exhibition of fancy and grace like of which Bridgeport had never before seen. The applause accorded the couple was indeed merited for their act was of the highest standard throughout.

Mademoiselle Zabelle told the fortunes of scores of lady friends of the theater before the matinee and evening performances as well as between the acts at both shows. She occupied a tent in the inside foyer and provided to be one of the big novelties of this week's bill at the Lyric.

EMPIRE

"The Master Key," the greatest of all film series, will be shown at this theatre together with all other feature today. The tenth episode which will be shown today is the best yet and every episode seems better and more interesting than the last.

Tomorrow another program of features that contain what is known as the "vital punch," will be shown together with the latest installment of the "Exploits of Elaine," a thrilling detective serial featuring Pearl White, former heroine of the Famous Players and Arnold Daly, one of America's most popular actors. That mysterious criminal known as "The Clutching Hand," is being closely followed by Craig Kennedy, the greatest scientific detective of the age.

On Thursday every lady and gentleman attending either the afternoon or evening performance will receive a copy of this little but big photoplay magazine, "The Paramount Magazine," which contains cuts of the different players and plays of the Paramount kind and also articles by the leading players and producers of the greatest of all feature photodramas.

PLAZA

Headed by the Five Sullys in their hilarious farce, "The Information Bureau," the Plaza's bill for the first half of the week is making a most favorable impression upon the crowds that witness its every presentation. The Five Sullys are recognized comedians and their chatter gets over in big style while a very neat and classy arrangement of singing and dancing numbers are skillfully interspersed in a manner that could not fail to win commendation.

Denny and Boyle are also big winners in their odd and original offering of song and piano. The famous Nikko Troup which features Takeo Namba, who performs the novel and sensational feat of walking up a flight of steps on his head has an important spot that they well fill. There are three of these clever Japanese in the act and their work is extremely interesting.

Al Edwards entertains with a line of comedy talk and several instrumental solos, the latter being deserving of more than usual merit for Al is a musician in every sense of the word. His imitations on the concertina are immense and his closing cornet solo makes the music lovers in the audience sit up and take notice.

Lewis' Dogs and Monks offer a very pleasing line of entertainment in which the work of a large Simtan on a bicycle receives the most attention for he possesses a keen sense of humor that makes his tricks very amusing to the audience.

Charlie Chaplin, the famous funny "drunk" in his first and best of his comedy, "His New Job," which takes up two reels of film is creating a veritable gala of laughter at every showing. "The Home-breakers," a two reel Keystone special feature with Chester Conklin, the little fellow with the big mustache; "Mabel, Fatty and the Law" and "The Spirit of Giving" complete the bill.

Circuit Judge Robertson, who will try the cases of 1,000 men charged with having violated the state election laws at Elizaville, Ky., will endeavor to dispose of 50 cases at a time.

ENGLISH COUPLE TRAVEL SAFELY THROUGH GERMANY

London, Feb. 3.—That it is not impossible for English people to reach their way through Germany and Austria is shown by the return to London of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lantay after a business trip to Vienna. Mr. Lantay had important business interests in Austria, which two months after the war began, demanded his presence in Vienna. He had made this trip so often in times of peace that he suffered at his friends' warning of the likelihood of imprisonment and possible death as a spy. He took his wife with him, and proceeded in safety by another route, but was accompanied without accident. Mrs. Lantay thus described her adventure:

"Of course we did not report ourselves to the authorities in Vienna. We would have got into trouble, no doubt, if the authorities had known the circumstances, but my husband, being of Austrian parentage, although a naturalized Englishman, was able to carry things through.

"It is really remarkable the kindness with which English people are being treated in Vienna. I found it possible to do my trading in English, which almost all the attendants speak fluently. The feeling among the people whom I met seemed to be entirely toward the English and an English lady who is teaching in the schools told me that she notices no diminution in the number of pupils studying the English language.

"Within the past two or three weeks, the military authorities in Vienna have begun to tighten the restrictions surrounding aliens. At present, I believe, no alien enemy is allowed to go out after eight o'clock in the evening; they are not allowed to enter theatres and coffee houses, and violations of the alien enemy restrictions are punishable with a fine of $400.

"Vienna has begun to feel the pressure of the war very severely. The city is one huge hospital, and in many sections the children cannot go to school because the buildings have been required for hospital purposes. The university buildings and the Parliament House are also being used for hospitals. The streets are scarcely anything but wounded soldiers and civilians in mourning.

"The prices of everyday commodities are rising rapidly, and the supply is being curtailed. It is difficult to obtain any more than a supply for a day or two. The big loaf of bread which used to be sold for a penny or two has dwindled in size until it is barely an inch and the price is four cents. Meat is very expensive and petroleum is six cents for a half a pint. Dress materials, which were formerly used to obtain easily from London, are scarcely obtainable at any price.

"The town is full of small pox, and long lines of people are seen waiting outside the public physicians' offices for vaccination. The scarcity of men laborers is being met by the use of women and cripples for such work as street cleaning and housebuilding.

"I think the Austrians are generally very loyal to Germany. They look upon the Kaiser as the greatest leader of a century, and they are entirely confident that he will carry the war to a triumphant conclusion."

TEN YEARS TERM IS PROPOSED FOR CHINA PRESIDENT

Peking, Feb. 3.—A ten year term of office for the President of China, proposed by Craig Kennedy, is the principal feature of the Provisional Constitution Conference. In a covering note published with the law the conference declares that China cannot be subjected to the dangers and alarms of frequent presidential elections.

Other features of the law are: "That the president may be a male citizen of the Republic, (therefore not necessarily a Chinese) at least forty years of age; and that he shall have resided in China for a period of twenty years.

That at the time of the presidential election the president shall carefully and reverently nominate three persons from whom his successor must be chosen.

That the Electoral College shall be composed of fifty members of each house, and Li Fa Yuan and the Tsan Cheng Yuan, members being elected by ballot amongst themselves.

That the election shall take place in Peking. That the Electoral College may vote for the re-election of the President as well as for the candidate he nominates.

That there shall be an attendance of three-fourths of the membership and a vote of two-thirds of those present in order to elect.

That "when the year of election arrives, should the members of the Tsan Cheng Yuan (the Senate) consider it politic necessary, the then president may be re-elected for another term by a two-thirds majority of the Tsan Cheng Yuan without a formal election."

The Peking Daily News says: "Frankly, the law is not Republican, as the term is understood abroad, but it is Chinese. And the Chinese who legislate for China may be trusted to know what is best for the country during its transition stage. Whatever may be its (the law's) defect it has to be conceded that it has been drawn to meet the peculiar needs of China."

ENGLISH COMEDIAN KILLED.

London, Feb. 3.—Lionel Mackinder, a well-known English comedian who was one of the first of a group of London actors who volunteered for two and Keaton's special feature, has been killed at the front Mackinder made his first London success in 1895 in "The Shop Girl."

House Votes Death of Plucking Board

Washington, Feb. 3.—The House voted yesterday to abolish the Navy Plucking Board and to restore Lieut.-Col. Constantine M. Perkins of the Marine Corps to the active list, with his former rank and seniority. Consideration of this part of the Naval Appropriation bill had been made the special order for the day, and great interest was shown in the debate. The Perkins case frequently has been likened to the Dreyfus case in France.

The restoration of Lieut.-Col. Perkins to active duty will mark the successful end of a struggle of seven years. He was retired on December 31, 1907, by his voluntary application in compliance with a declaration made to him by a retiring board that if he did not retire voluntarily he would be removed summarily from the service as an insane person. Lieut. Secretary Daniels took up the case soon after he assumed office. Then Naval Committee subpoenaed the board appointed to retire Perkins and examined each member. The committee reached the conclusion that a great injustice had been done to the officer whose record for efficiency was excellent.

The Perkins amendment was carried with practically no opposition, although Representative Mann, the minority leader, made a point of order against it, which was overruled by Representative Hay, who was in the chair.

The debate on the paragraph to abolish the Plucking Board was contested stubbornly under the leadership of Representative Roberts of Massachusetts, who asserted that the clause would give the President power to restore officers to the active list on the report of the committees of the House and Senate. He moved to strike out the paragraph, but this was lost by a decisive vote.

An amendment by Mr. Fitzgerald of New York was adopted requiring that action, seeking the restoration of officers who have been plucked, be taken within two years from the passage of the act. As passed the paragraph does not mention by name any officer.

The officers whose restoration is recommended by the Senate and House committees are Capt. Armistead Rust, Lieut. Commander Lloyd C. Stark, Lieut. I. C. Johnson, Lieut. Richard P. McCullough, Capt. Ten Eyck Dewitt Veeder, Capt. Frank K. Hill, Capt. John H. Gibbons, Capt. F. M. Cotta, J. C. Leonard and Passed Assistant Paymaster Frederick H. Lemly. Capt. Frank E. Evans of the Marine Corps, who was retired ten years ago and now is on duty as recruiting officer at Pittsburgh, probably will be restored to the active list.
