ANNIVERSARIES OF RING BATTLES

1912-Johnny Coulon defeated Prankle Burns in 20 rounds at New Orleans. In the opinion of many of the fans who witnessed this battle, the Jersey City boxer had the best of it in fifteen of the rounds, and should have been awarded the decision and the bantamweight championthip of the world. The referce, Harry Stout, came in for much criticism from the Burns backers, and the crowd at the ringside was not at all pleased when Stout raised Coulon's hand as the victor. Burns was apparently a bit fearsome of the champion, and, with a little more pep" and aggressiveness, he might have scored at clean-cut victory. When Kid Williams went after the title he didn't hesitate to mix thinks. and as a result he won by out in short order. Burns had a lot that day in New Orleans, but he hoked the punch that would have brought home the bacon. 1882-Benny Yanger, Italian held-
