COST MARKET

New York, March 12—(Special Dispatches.)—Gold in London rose to a new high price today, reaching $40 per ounce, the highest price ever quoted. This is due to the strength of the London market, which has been active in buying gold in the last few days. The high price is expected to continue, as the demand for gold is strong and the supply is limited.

The President's Visit

President Wilson's visit to Europe is expected to have a favorable effect on the stock market. The news of his arrival was received with enthusiasm, and the stock market showed a strong reaction.
