REMINGTON CO. PLANS GREAT SOCIAL CENTER AROUND PLANTS HERE

An enormous colonization scheme for the East End of Bridgeport in a grander scale than even intimated before is today announced by officials of the Remington Arms & Ammunition Co.

Along its sides will be many churches, public halls, stores etc. Even now invitations are being extended to all religious denominations in Bridgeport to indicate their desire to establish churches there upon property that the company will arrange to supply them with. Fire houses and schools will also be built.

Along the top of the high hill now known as Pallade avenue a series of beautiful houses to be known as the "birds colony" is to be raised within a few months.

Plans are now being laid for a monster recreation, social meeting, gymnasium and an auditorium which will be located in the center of the newly purchased reservation.

One ad two-family houses are being built on Bond and Dover streets. The boulevard will be laid out through the widening of Boston Terrace.

DEFENDANTS IN RAILROAD TRIAL "ABSURDLY RICH"

H. L. Batts Says Public Could Take Their Money If It Wanted.

New York, Jan. 6.—Beginning the final summing up for the government at the trial of the 11 former directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, H. L. Batts, chief federal counsel, took vehement exception today to remarks made by the defense that he had been chosen to prosecute the case because he had been, in Texas, a law partner of Attorney-General Gregory.

"Mr. Gregory," he said, "knew I had experience in Sherman law cases. And it is true, as has been said by Mr. Nichol, that this is the most important case I've had."

Mr. Batts referred to the defendants as "absurdly rich men and declared that their wealth influenced the understanding in the community did not palliate the violation of the law."

"It is an important thing, gentlemen," said Batts, "for you to say whether an act which Congress has passed for the benefit and protection of you and your children should be enforced."

RESIGNATION OF RILEY ASKED BY GOV. WHITMAN

Albany, Jan. 6.—Governor Whitman today sent a letter to John B. Riley, demanding his resignation as state superintendent of prisons.

The reason for the demand, as stated in the letter, is that Riley had recently ordered a draft of sixty-six prisoners transferred from Sing Sing to Dannemora prison.

Most of the transferred prisoners, the letter says, have been or are promising to be in the common pleas court Welfare League, organized by Osborne.

HOWLAND'S Entrances in Main Street, Fairfield Avenue, and Cannon Street.

Bridgeport, Conn., Thursday, Jan. 6, 1916. The Weather:—Cloudy and colder tonight; Friday fair.

Overcoats from Sampeck tailors and with unusual style and smartness, one of a sort only $6.75.

This is finest news in many a day—to boys and their mothers; especially to boys who have been longing for an overcoat not exactly like chums'.

From Sampeck tailors, we've just bought a quantity of overcoats; each coat out of the ordinary; sizes 3 to 10.

For example, a little semi-fitted coat of English tweed! It's a splendid production on boys' lines, of the swagger coat of the season for men. And the tailoring upon it! And the effect it has!

Military coat of handsome gray (and its companion of army blue) have all the little soldierly touches. And the military alert air! And the spruceness combined with serviceability too.

Here are coats of splendid double-texture woollens (with rich plaid back), and of chinchilla as soft as a lamb's own coat, and of clever plaids and mixtures.

Here are coats with yoke and broad belt, coats of box style,—a great collection of individual styles for boys! Best of all—Here they are at special price.

Any coat in the lot is worth $10; some are worth more. But—We cleared up the end-of-season gathering at Sampeck House; and price is $6.75

Front basement.

Mourning hats of subdued beauty. A great test of a millinery store's ability: its mourning hats.

If it succeeds in producing grace and beauty, working with somber materials it may be depended upon for satisfactory service in each detail.

Mourning hats here display the resources of the store's force to true advantage. The handiwork of our skilled folks shows plainly in the subdued style and quiet grace which marks them.

Just now—such hats in the new lines and models of the approaching spring are being fashioned. Large medium and small shapes, simple and graceful, $5 and more; and less.

Mourning veils, a large large collection,—75c to $10. Second floor.

Here's to clear out dirty handkerchiefs. Let's be very frank! These are handkerchiefs dirtied during the holidays.

To be sure, nothing suffers less because of that than a 'kerchief—for nothing is more easily laundered. But they're dirty—and we want to sell them—so here they go.

5c kerchiefs—3c 12 1/2c kerchiefs—8c 25c kerchiefs—15c Main floor, center.
