CITY NEWS.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" at the opera house to-night.

John Murnane of South street is confined to his home threatened with typhoid fever.

Two hundred persons went to Coney Island on the excursion on the Naugatuck road this morning.

Five hundred persons attended the excursion of the Bricklayers' and Masons' union to Savin Rock this morning.

The fifth anniversary of the Ladies Aid society of the German Lutheran church will be held in Concordia hall on September 11.

Prof Bailey will reopen his school for dancing about September 10 and introduce the latest dances adopted by the New York Dancing Profession society.

The members of the Young Ladies Sodality of the Immaculate Conception church are requested to meet in the convent hall at 7:30 this evening. Every member is expected to attend.

The Hartford Post finds that there is a little soreness in certain localities because the First and Second regiments monopolized the praise of competent critics who attended Camp Coffin.

Mrs. Alice Eaton, aged 22 years, wife of M. E. Taylor, died at her home, 11 Orange court yesterday, the funeral will take place at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon from the house with services by the Rev. Mr. McCracken and interment in Riverside cemetery.

The alarm from box 25 called the fire department to a small fire at the corner of North Main and Hill streets, at half past one this afternoon. When the firemen had climbed the steep hill they found that one of the wooden shanties used at Chatfield & Chatfield's quarry was almost consumed. The shanty was razed, and two streams of water soon extinguished the flames. The loss was slight.

Frederick Oggesson of New Haven, a dance prompter who is well known in this city, is absent from his home and wife, and Miss Katie Hellinger is also missing. Oggesson has been paying attention to Miss Hellinger for some time, apparently unknown to his wife, who is mourning his disappearance. To make matters worse Mrs. Oggesson has received a telegram from Miss Hellinger explaining the reason for her leaving and stating that her husband will probably not return to her.

The article concerning the manner of voting on the question of license in various municipalities in Connecticut, printed in the Democrat and other state papers, is a little misleading. It contained the statement that those would be voting in the spring fences. The statement is radically wrong in one respect, as the act provides that the ballot shall be of a color different from the general ballot used." Those who opposed it there will be the ordinary Democratic ballot.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Where Waterbury People are Going For the Summer.

Miss Mary Maher is spending a week in the Berkshire hills.

James A. Carroll has returned from a week's vacation in the Berkshire hills.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gaylord of Forestdale are visiting their daughter, Mrs. M. E. Mahoney.

Mrs. John Monahan and her sister, Miss Kate Kenny of Stamford, who has been visiting the family of John Curran of Riverside street, left for New Britain this afternoon, where they will attend the marriage of their brother, Martin Kenny, which takes place this morning.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me."

The Jacques opera house will be reopened this evening with the new play, "The Girl I Left Behind Me." The scene from which is picturesque character. The play has not yet been produced, but the manager has never brought to this city a production which failed to please. Last is the full glare of the footlights. The uprising of the Colonel in the far west and their besieging of an stockade, furnish the somber side of the play. The lighter side rests on the love making of several couples, all of whom are the young people of the garrison.

Morrison's "Faust."

An attraction of which much has been heard is Morrison's famous production of "Faust." This will be seen at the opera house on Wednesday evening. The presentation is not the stale one from the excellence of the cast may, for it, embrace many of the stage's most brilliant people. Everything comes into play throughout the production.

"The Bicycle Girl."

Miss Nellie McHenry will be the attraction at the opera house on Tuesday evening. There are few artists on the stage as well known and as thoroughly well like Miss Nellie McHenry. She has been on the stage since childhood, and in the years she has been placed in every principal city in America in the Dominion of Canada, and is conceded to be the most versatile and vivacious artiste on the American stage.

The Laboring Man's Market.

A. W. Cassidy, proprietor of the laboring man's cash market, corner of South Main and Union streets, is a hustler. His business is constantly increasing, for the very good reason that he sells the finest cut of meat and the freshest vegetables at the very lowest prices for cash. Everything is just as advertised or money refunded. DEMOCRAT readers in Waterbury and Naugatuck are invited to call.

Clothing on Credit.

There is no excuse nowadays for Waterbury people to wear poor clothes. The Credit Clothing Co, 62 Bank street, has a fine new stock of clothing which which is sold at lowest cash prices, on easy weekly payments. All business is strictly confidential and the rule is strictly one price to all. You are invited to call.

The friendly league ball hall is for rent for daytime and evening.

CITY COURT JOB LOT.

FOUR MEN FOUND IN A SALOON AFTER HOURS.

A Boy Who Stole Coal Let Go With a Reprimand—Frank Gallagher of New York in Durance Vile for Stealing a Pair of Trousers.

Officer Bailey saw men entering the saloon kept by Daniel Cassidy, at 768 Bank street, yesterday morning and went in himself. He arrested four men in there, who gave the names of John H. Purcell, Frank Keegan, John Gillick and Michael Mahoney. They were taken to the station, but were shortly afterwards bailed out. Each settled his case this morning for $5. The case against Daniel Cassidy, for keeping open on Sunday, was adjourned until Thursday owing to the absence of Prosecuting Agent Mattison from the city.

James Sehoan was charged with wilful injury to private property. A. F. Yates, who lives at 134 Franklin street, is the owner of property at 20 North street. Sehoan has been a tenant of his in various parts of the city, but on June 10 moved into the premises, 20 North street. Mr Yates said that Sehoan left during the night of August 19 or 20 and took with him a shed and also owed one and one-half months' rent. He destroyed the walk where he removed the shed, the keyholes of the doors were also pegged up and the key was not returned. Sehoan and his wife said that they had left the shed in the cellar. It was only a common board and Sehoan had taken it off weeks before he left. The key he had lost and he only owed one half month's rent. Judge Cowell said tenants who skip out in the night and injure property deserve to be punished. He fined him $5 and costs and an appeal was taken under $50 bonds.

Patrick Boyle, charged with drunkenness, received a severe calling down. Judge Cowell told him that his mother received help from the town and supported him and that he never worked. He was sentenced to sixty days in the town house. Thomas F. Delaney, charged with drunkenness, was fined $5 and costs.

Thomas Ryan, a little boy cripple of 13, was charged with stealing coal from the City Lumber & Coal Co's yard. Patrick Boyle and Patrick Keating, employes of the yard, said they caught the boy last Saturday filling a small express wagon from the yard in front of the office. They had seen him there before and warned him away. The boy admitted that he took the coal. Boys out down looking for pieces of iron around the shops. He had once picked up coal there before. He saw Boyle and Keating and did not stop filling the cart when he did so then. The father of the boy said he had worked for the company for four or five years and he was not going to stop any longer. Court suggested that the boy go to work as it would be a hard thing on the father. He suspended sentence.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

A Meriden Teamster Instantly Killed in a Runaway.

MERIDEN, Sept. 2. John Sheehan, aged 35, a farm hand employed by ex-Judge Coe, was instantly killed at 7:15 this morning. He drove a pair of mules, which ran away. Sheehan was thrown under the wheels and instantly killed. He was married and came from Ireland a few months ago.

POPULAR RATES.

Have Added One Thousand New Subscribers to the Telephone Service.

The policy of the Southern New England Telephone company in making wholesale reduction in rates has been a matter of interest throughout the state since the announcement was made about May 1, and would take place.

Since that time over 1,000 new names have been added to the list of telephone subscribers, and the company has been unable to keep pace with the demand for new instruments. They have still unfilled orders for 225 telephones to put in which they are working their forces in various parts of the state to the utmost, but they expect to have them all in working order in about a month. When the last is put in place the system will be the most extensive in the east and the largest in this state. The company now has the remarkable number of 6,444 telephones in the state limits, by far the greatest number the company ever had, although until further increase is expected within a few months.

The present aim of the company is to abolish the old fashioned instrument with a grounded circuit. On August 1 of this year there were only 321 instruments in the state grounded, and it is probable that the last grounded instrument in the list will be removed before the end of the year. The increase of electric roads and lights in cities and towns has made grounded telephone almost useless. When the Southern New England company began its business in 1878, ground wires were practically universal. In 1890 the metallic return wires began to be the rule and since then the grounded instruments have been gradually disappearing.

If you give my man an empty barrel.

This is all old flour and it will make more bread, whiter bread and lighter bread, and the bread will keep moist longer than that made from new, and good bread is mightier than the sword and pen combined, because it is the staff of life when made on the home made plan, such as I make my New England Afternoon and Entire Wheat Bread. I make it from old flour, sweet milk and compressed yeast, which is the only method of making substantial, digestible and sweet bread.
