

WHAT IT MEANS TO HAVE ONLY ONE DELIVERY

Vast Saving Can Be Effectuated In Delivery of Goods

Hartford, Feb. 1.—What one delivery a day means and does mean is told in a statement given out today for the Commercial Economy division of the committee on industrial survey, Connecticut State Council of Defense. This division was named by the council on nomination of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce and is headed by Alton T. Miner of New London. Under its direction, a conference to devise a commercial economy program for Connecticut has been called to meet at the old Senate Chamber, State Capitol, Hartford, on Wednesday, February 6, at 11 a. m. All chambers of commerce and similar organizations in the state and others have been urged to be represented. The statement, "What 'one delivery a day' means and does not mean," issued today, says:

One delivery a day does not mean the following:

- That all delivery vehicles will leave the store at one time.
- That each wagon or truck will make only one trip each day and be idle after that trip until the next day.
- That delivery men will have to work longer hours than when there are several deliveries a day. The hours of labor may be regulated quite as easily under the new system as under the old. The one-delivery-a-day plan may cut out late deliveries, thus in some cases shortening the delivery men's day.

That delivery work in the store will be more complicated. Rather the reverse will be true.

One delivery a day does mean the following:

- That no wagon or truck will go to the same house nor over the same route more than once a day.
- That each vehicle may leave the store as many times a day as needed, but each trip will be over a different route.
- That there will be shorter average distance between stops, because all the goods that were delivered to a route on two or more trips will now be delivered at one.
- That the territory may therefore be re-divided into shorter routes.
- That even if the number of routes is increased and even if the vehicles make more trips, fewer vehicles and men will generally be required to handle the same volume of deliveries, because all duplication of work will be eliminated and density of stops will be greater.
- That the total mileage will be less.
- That gasoline, now in such great demand for war use, will thus be conserved.
- That total depreciation on equipment will be less than with more deliveries a day.
- That, for example, where Wagon A went three times a day over Route A, Wagon B three times a day over Route B, and Wagon C three times a day over Route C, making nine trips in all, each route may be shortened, say a third, so that one of the wagons can make all the deliveries on it in one trip a day, the trip taking up only half a day. Route A, B and C may thus be re-divided into approximately four new routes. Wagon A may make one trip over Route A and another trip over Route B. Wagon B may make one trip over Route C and one trip over Route D. Wagon C would be displaced entirely and its driver not needed.

STRATFORD

(Special to The Times)

Stratford, Feb. 1.—Charged with non-support, Lester Wilson of Stratford was arraigned before Deputy Judge Frank E. Blakeman in the Stratford town court last evening and sentenced to serve sixty days in the Bridgeport county jail. Wilson has a wife and seven children and according to First Selectman James Lally has failed to give them any money for their support. Selectman Lally testified that Mrs. Wilson has sought help from the town several times also telling him that her husband never worked and refused to assist the family in any way. Patrolman Benjamin Smith took Wilson to jail today.

Arrangements are being made by the town authorities to have the five youngest children committed to a county home. A hearing to that effect will be held Saturday morning before Judge Charles H. Wells in the Stratford probate court.

She has arranged to have more than fourteen automobiles convey the children to the theatre. Several trucks have also been procured from business men of the town for that morning. Mrs. Howell will also aid in transporting some children.

Besides Mrs. Howell, chairman of the affair, the following chaperons will assist as well as donate their cars: Mrs. Walter Goddard, Mrs. E. Thompson, Mrs. James Wales, Mrs. Harold C. Lovell, Mrs. A. For Elderly People Excellent Laxative

As we pass the prime of life the various organs of the body have a tendency to weaken, especially the bowels. Regularity in this important function is so essential to good health that old folks should be very careful to avoid constipation. A congestion of stomach waste in the bowels occasions dizziness, headache, drowsiness after eating, biliousness, belching, bloating, piles, etc., and should be corrected immediately; it is the direct cause of much serious disease.

The most effective remedy for constipation is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It costs only fifty cents a bottle, is mild in its action, does not gripe or strain, and brings relief quickly in an easy natural manner. Get a bottle of it from your druggist and keep it in the house; it is the ideal family remedy. A trial bottle can be obtained free of charge by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.
