FAMOUS FLYERS TO AID IN DRIVE American, French and British Aviators to Cover Country in Loan Campaign. Announcement has been made by the Treasury Department that spectacular exhibitions by military aviators will feature the Victory Loan campaign, which will open April 21. Three "circuses" or squadrons of flyers will tour the country, giving exhibitions of air fighting, trick flying and the like. In these squadrons will be American, French and British war veterans. The flying will be under the direction of the Military Aeronautics Branch of the War Department, with Captain Leon Richardson in charge. Captured German Fokkers and the best American planes, showing the high development reached here under the stimulus of war, will be used in a program intended to show actual war conditions. First, two American planes will rise to "bomb" the city with Victory Loan literature. Four enemy planes—Fokkers—will attack the American scout planes, whereupon four American flyers will pursue the enemy, driving them away. There will follow an exhibition of trick flying, employing all devices taught to flyers. Photographers of the Signal Corps will take air photographs, dropping plates by parachute for reproduction for local use. In each city there will be parades in connection with the flights. Fourteen Fokker planes, all taken by General Pershing's men, already have been landed in this country. Six British aviators, picked men with fine war records, will soon sail from England to take part in the campaign. Eight French flyers are now on their way to the United States. One of them has to his credit 43 victories, while another made 170 bombing trips over the German lines. The country will be divided into three sections, the Eastern, Middle Western and the Western. Beginning April 10, eleven days before the opening of the loan, a squadron in whose membership will be American, French and British flyers, will tour each section. The Eastern tour will begin at Mineola, Long Island; the Middle Western at New Orleans, and the Western at San Diego. Each squadron will be carried in a special train of eleven cars. Nine end-door baggage cars will be required for the seventeen planes which each squadron will have. An officer will precede each train to select landing fields and make other necessary arrangements with the local Liberty Loan committees.

GREAT WELCOME FOR FULKERSON DELAY ACTION UPON ALLEGED WILL FORGERS

Kiwanis Club Honors Editor of Official Paper, Kiwanian Torch. Last night's raging blizzard failed to keep a host of Kiwanians from attending the banquet at the Stratfield and when the first course reached the snow white covered tables, the dining room was well filled with local members. The banquet was given in honor of Rose Fulkerson of Washington, D. C., editor of the Kiwanian Torch, the official publication of the International Kiwanis club. After his introduction by President Fred Atwater of the local club, Mr. Fulkerson said: "The principle of Kiwanis is a 50-50 deal for everybody. Members of our organization must not expect to be pampered and made much of but on the other hand they must develop the friendship of their members."

CRETAN SOLDIERS DRAW BIG CROWDS

Paris, Mar. 28. (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Kings, presidents and premiers have ceased to be a novelty at the Peace Conference, but the bodyguard of Premier Venizelos of Greece, never fails to attract great crowds. At the hotel where the American delegation is housed and at the Foreign office, Venizelos' approach is always heralded by the arrival of one of his Cretan soldiers arrayed more brilliantly than a comic opera bandit. The Cretons who escort the Greek statesman are all more than six feet tall, and are dressed in chosen uniforms from various organizations as a different man appears daily, and the same uniform is never seen twice. The swarthy Cretons all have small waxed mustaches, twisted into upturned points and stand rigidly at attention for hours while awaiting M. Venizelos at the entrance to the hotel or the Foreign office. The lines of small boys and the jokes of various allied soldiers who gather in wonderment never seem to disturb the imperturbable Cretons.

ONLY VOLUNTEERS FOR OVERSEAS

Coblenz, Friday, March 28.—(By The Associated Press)—The announcement by the War Department of its intention to send from the United States volunteers enlisted for use in replacing members of the permanent army of occupation who desire to leave home, has attracted the attention of Third Army headquarters today. The announcement was made by the department to allay unrest among the regular army division which are due for replacements and which contain a large percentage of men who volunteered for the duration of the war, and among National Guardsmen who are eager to return home as soon as possible. A plan is also being worked out for the segregation into the regular army divisions of the army of occupation of regular officers and such other officers as desire to remain in the regular army service. The department, by this means, is hoping to attract as soon as feasible those reservists and National Guard officers who desire to return to the United States for business or other reasons.

HOW THE WAR HELPED PHILIPPINE INDUSTRIES

Homer Cushman in World Outlook for March. Insanity in the invention of food substitutes went to the extreme in Germany during the war. It was not uncommon for instance, for restaurants to advertise such delicacies as "substitute for make-believe rabbit." Despite our grumblings, we fared quite well in comparison with that. One of our most unhappy experiences was when the dollar was toward the dollar a pound mark. It looked as if little Johnny's bread and butter and sugar treat after school would have to be dispensed with, when in stepped the Philippine Islands. One of the important ways in which those distant nephews of Uncle Sam came to his assistance during the war, was in furnishing coconut oil to make butter. Before the war, the Philippines used to export their coconut for the most part in dried, shredded form—copra, technically speaking. The coconut oil industry was still in its infancy. But when the war drew heavily on the world's supply of fats, and butter became scarce and high, manufacturers found that by churning coconut oil with a little skim milk they could make quite an excellent substitute for butter for many purposes—Mantia hemp or abaca, the strongest cordage in the world. Philippine tobacco everywhere, had to pile up on it also began to rise in demand and price. Sugar, needed so badly everywhere, had to pile up on the decks for lack of ships, but even with this handicap the total amount exported last year was only below that of the preceding year. The referee for this game will be George D. H. Miller, D. A. while Hiram Miller will be the State association delegate.

ROLL OF HONOR SENT FROM THE FIGHTING FRONT

Washington, Mar. 28.—Casualty lists furnished by the Commanding General of the American Army and made public today contain 72 names divided as follows: Killed in action, 9; died from wounds, 11; died of disease, 20; wounded slightly, 17; wounded, degree undetermined, 12; missing in action, 4. There are no Bridgeport names reported in today's casualty lists.

JERUSALEM

The German Emperor visited Jerusalem in 1898 and in order that the imperial procession might not suffer from the inconvenience of having to go a few yards out of the way, a part of the city wall was thrown down. In strong contrast to this lack of respect for hallowed things, was that of General Allenby, who delayed his approach to the city and the entry of his troops, because by so doing he might prevent the destruction of the priceless relics within those sacred precincts. The capture of Jaops, Hebron, the Jericho road, and Jerusalem forced upon the memory many historical facts closely associated with these places. Many marks still remain to indicate the location and the character of events which formed a part of the life of a people so important in the development of civilization. Pictures of some of these places and the stories of their historical significance are to be presented at the Y. M. C. A. lobby Sunday afternoon at 4:30. Men only. Mr. D. W. Marshall will lead the singing.

SUFFERED FRACTURED SKULL

Last Wednesday evening Peter H. Coleman of 273 1/2 Main street, was found unconscious at the bottom of a flight of stairs in his home. As a result of his fall down the stairs he is in St. Vincent's hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull. Chances for his recovery are slight.
