

In The Theatres

POLES. Doctors as a rule are pretty serious folks. Especially when you meet them professionally. Nevertheless, a large part of the laughs in "Sick Abed," Wallace Reid's picture at the Poll theater, are furnished by two medicine men. As a matter of fact, they are quack doctors and know little more about doctoring than they do about plumbing.

The feature vaudeville attraction for the three days commencing today is Eleanor Pierce presenting "A Dance Frolic," staged by Ivan Bankhoff. The company includes Gil Squires and Jerry Benson.

As a special attraction for the boys of the American Legion, Manager Saunders has secured for the next three days the services of Benjie Leonard, the dough-boy girl and her partner, Eddie Porray. Miss Leonard was in France during a greater party while there. She will endeavor to show the people of Bridgeport how she entertained the boys in the trenches.

The Dixie Four, who occupy fourth place on the bill are a southern quartette and present "songs and laughs from the sunny south."

Howard Smith and Co. in a comedy sketch entitled "How bout it," and El Cota, master of the xylophone complete the vaudeville bill.

LYRIC. Heading an avalanche of popular demand Manager George Arvine has finally decided to re-open the stock season at the Lyric theater one week earlier than planned. It was originally intended to open this popular playhouse as usual on Labor Day, Sept. 6, but a veritable flood of letters, telephone calls and personal demands has caused a change in plans and the theater will open on August 20, with that wonderful comedy drama, "The Tailor Made Man," which created so much of a furor in New York city for a long period.

Although some of the favorites of former seasons will assist in forming one of the best stock companies Bridgeport has ever seen, Manager Arvine takes great pleasure in announcing the engagement of Miss Ruth Ames, whose reputation as an actress has preceded her.

PIAZA. A bill of unusual excellence is promised by the Plaza theatre, management for the last three days of the week starting today. The great H. H. Van Loan story, "Three Gold Coins," featuring Tom Mix, is the stellar attraction and if the reviews received on the feature may be taken as any criterion, it is a corking good drama and shows Tom Mix at his daredevilish best.

PARK. Lack of confidence in one's self has caused many a person to leave their accustomed environment, change their name, cultivate a new manner of action and speech, remould their thoughts and become an entirely new entity.

WEST END. Tonight, Reelart Pictures presents Wanda Hawley in her starring vehicle "Miss Hobbs" in five acts, from the celebrated stage play of the same name that ran in London, New York and road presentations.

ELITE. The Review Says: "It's the Best Super-Drama Tom Mix Has Ever Made."

With that skill and acumen which always characterizes his various enterprises, Sam Howe has launched another success in his latest offering which will be the next attraction at

MUST PREPARE HOUSING FOR UNDERWOOD HELP

With the announcement made yesterday that the Underwood plant would employ about 2,000 persons after it had got under way in this city and people on the streets and other places within the lot of talk last night the chief concern expressed was whether housing conditions of the city would be adequate to provide homes for workers that come here from out of town.

After a conference with Stanley H. Bullard late yesterday afternoon it was announced by the Underwood officials that partial operation at the plant will begin the first of next month. By that time it is expected that alterations to the building will have been completed and the Bullard office force which is still in the building will have moved to the new Bullard plant in Fairfield.
