

HOWLAND'S

Entrances in Main Street, Fairfield Avenue, and Cannon Street

Store open till 5;
Saturdays open till 6 o'clock

Weather—Partly cloudy and warm today and Wednesday.

Are your dollars worth saving?

If they are, the Mill End Sale is the place to spend them.

That doesn't look, or sound, sensible at first!

But it's the soundest kind of good sound common sense.

A dollar spent in the Mill End Sale is a saving dollar. It saves spending other dollars.

That dollar buys extra value. It's a mighty dollar. It's a dollar at work!

All your needs may be met in the Mill End Sale. Home is to be brightened and made more comfortable by the Mill End Sale. Your favorite sport is to be made more zestful by the Mill End Sale.

That one big fine thing about the the Mill End Sale, it isn't narrow. It's so broad it covers every home and every idea and everything it covers it offers at a saving.

"47 days" are special days in this 47th Mill End Sale. They bring big special things, each with a 47 price!

Surprises shine on every side as you shop through the store.

It's the finest of fine Mill End Sales. And its center now is 47!

Get full share of the savings.

THE HOWLAND DRY GOODS CO.

Fairfield

Frederick Sturges, Jr., has returned from his vacation after spending two weeks at the White Mountains in Vermont.

Mrs. A. Stephens entertained company from New York over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brotherton of Bridgeport are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brotherton of Saco Hill.

Tom Kearn, Louis Rock, John Neary, John Schuman and Fred Granville have pitched a camp at Fairfield Beach where they expect to remain until the end of the summer.

Conrad Olsen sailed recently for Denmark upon an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mahoney of Springfield, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Mahoney's mother, Mrs. Neary of the Post Road for one week.

Rose Hemming trained nurse residing in Fairfield sailed for Scotland last Saturday where she is expected to remain until Christmas.

News has been received from Leonard Curran of Fairfield that he has left San Francisco where he had been stopping for a short while for Baltimore via Panama Canal. Curran has been touring the country since he left the army last fall but is expected to return to Fairfield August 20th.

Adrian Bennett is now located in Pierre, North Dakota, as manager of a hotel and is reported to be getting along fine.

Ed Kinsella of Fairfield is visiting friends in Nebraska.

Dr. Thomas Kelley and daughter Mary of Newark, N. J., are stopping at the home of his father Edward J. Kelly on the Post Road.

Henry Shannon, Hugh McGrath, John Anderson, Thomas Arnold and Jack McGrath all of Fairfield beach are spending a short time in New York.

The following letter was received by Joe Harrison, secretary of the Twilight club. At its last meeting, presided over by Vice President Claffey, in the absence of President Tole the letter was read. The members returned their well wishes to the absent president:

Quebec, Can., July 25, 1921.

Just a few lines to you and the Twilights. Arrived safe at the old "Home." It sure was good to land at the old bedside and again shake hands with the "Only Ones in the world." Tell the boys to ride along in the same old way until my return. I see by press reports that Fairfield is mentioned as one of the rendezvous for the much talked about "rum runners." I think it would be well for a committee of the Twilights to look into this matter. As a suggestion I would advise a committee of two investigate this matter.

Say, Joe, I kind-a miss the old crowd. Fairfield is the best place to live in; get away from it for a short time and you will soon want to get back. I got a copy of Bridgeport Times every day, and you bet I enjoy its reading. Jus, think, Joe, I've been a constant subscriber for the Times-Parmer for 25 years. In all that time I've never missed a daily copy.

Well, good bye to yourself and the bunch.

HUGH TOLE,
Pres. Twilight Club.

Fairfield beach was the scene of a beach party and outing Saturday afternoon by the girls of the S. O. S. club of the West End Congregational church. The picnic was sort of a milestone to mark the ending of a successful year in the club's history. The members have done a good deal of charity and missionary work during the recent year. Bathing and games featured the afternoon followed by a box lunch.

Fairfield and vicinity will have a treat Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the American Legion headquarters in Fairfield when Capt. R. Bartlett will lecture on "Admiral Peary's Expedition to the North Pole on the E. C. Roosevelt." Such a large crowd is expected that it will be necessary to exclude children.

Captain Bartlett was born in Newfoundland and has lived there all his life. He was a commander of the ships on both the trips that Admiral Peary made to the pole. During the recent war Capt. Bartlett was in the United States Navy and is still in the service. Shortly he expects to leave for the Philippines.

The Jimmy busset running on the Bridgeport-Fairfield Beach line for an hour yesterday afternoon but as traffic was light not many were inconvenienced by the cessation of the Jimmy running.

Judge Jonathan Groul, Deputy Justice Clarence Hall, Prosecutor Bacon Wakeman, and Assistant Prosecutor Howard Wakeman of the Fairfield town court are still serving without pay. When the time for the payment of these officials will be available is not known but it is said that there are several appropriations where the money may be obtained.

Plans are going ahead for the church picnic to be held by the members of the Congregational church on the grounds of the Sherman parsonage, Saturday afternoon. There will also be athletic events and it is planned to give 200 children or more the annual automobile ride.

Captain Pearson of the seaplane Aero, stationed at Steeplechase Island, was forced to make a perilous landing in the Sound Sunday evening off Penfield beach. Only with skillful maneuvering did Captain Pearson succeed in getting his plane away from the rocks at Sunken Island, which threatened to disable it at any moment.

A rather choppy sea had been running all day and about 9 o'clock Captain Pearson was seen to be approaching from Steeplechase Island in his seaplane with two passengers. Pearson circled around Southport and was returning when his motor went dead. He was then above the rocks of Sunken Island and in immediate danger of crashing to earth but succeeding in making a perfect landing on the water.

It was observed from land that Pearson had climbed down a small ladder to the pontoons and from there started to fix his motor. With the waves breaking around him striving to loosen his foothold he worked steadily and in less than half an hour he had crawled back to his seat.

plane was then run on the beach where the many hundreds who had been watching Pearson thronged to congratulate him on his efficient work.

Mr. and Mrs. James Donovan entertained the following guests at a frankfort roast last night: Mary Beaudrey, Loretta Beaudrey, Mary Hayes, Sarah Hayes, Ann Wilson, Janet Edwardson, George Carpenter, Vera Shaw, Mrs. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Mallen, Anna Heisler, Wilbur and Robert Raab, A. Hanson, Gertrude Kibel, Bertha Richmond, Chester Richmond, Robert Pride and R. McLevy.

Mrs. A. J. Edwardson was the hostess of a surprise party at Fairfield beach last night. The guests were from Boston, Springfield, Long Island and Bridgeport.

The firemen's fair, held last week, was reported to be a success.

Miss Emille Richmond is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Richmond, at their summer home, "Topowick," Fairfield beach.

Fairfield is holding a second sale for the benefit of crippled, blind, or otherwise injured ex-service men in the Academy tea room today and tomorrow. The articles on sale were made by the soldiers in the "Dug Out" in New York city, an institution where the men can learn to make things and sell them right in the building. Hand woven rag rugs, molded beads, curious fans, painted tin trays, flower pots, lamps and children's beach toys are among the articles on sale. The sale closes tomorrow evening and the proceeds will go to the soldiers in the New York "Dug Out."

The street lines and building lines ended. A hearing will be held before of Pine Creek road are to be straightened the town plan commission at the town house, Fairfield, Wednesday, July 27th, at 8 p. m., on the proposed layout of the street lines and building line on Pine Creek road from Mill plain to Oldfield road. Cranston street, Orange street, and Pear street. A map of the proposed layout is on exhibition at the town hall and all persons affected are requested to study the map and to be on hand at the meeting.

The American Legion will play ball with the Duponts, Thursday, July 28. Clifford Well, rural carrier, in Fairfield, will take his vacation the first two weeks in August.

The following books have been added to the Fairfield Memorial Library: Packard "Fawcett," Kate Jordan "Next Corner," Cora Harris "My Son," Corings by Dawson "Kingdom Around the Corner," Cora Harris "Circuit Riders Widow."

A fair which will last for three evenings starts tonight at St. Thomas church. The proceeds will go toward furthering the erection of the new school. Many booths in which ice cream, candy, fancy cake, and household articles will be sold are to be stationed on the grounds. Dancing will be one of the features of the evening.

Fairfield is to have a Chautauqua from August 27th to Sept. 1st. It will be located at the First Congregational church picnic grounds. Tickets are now on sale at various stores in the center.

ALLIGATORS LIKE GOLF

New York, July 26.—Diners at an exclusive hostelry on the Hudson above Yonkers for years have enjoyed the beautiful lake view across the private golf course that lies below the hotel terrace. They particularly admired the effect of the sunset on the waters of the lake.

But with the advent of an excessively hot summer, servants from nearby estates discovered the lake made an excellent swimming hole and repaired there each evening in time to spoil the quiet shimmer of the sunset on the water by splashing and shouting.

A few days ago the management solved the sunset shimmer problem by importing two seven foot alligators from Florida. But the alligators grew restless and took to the golf course, where they raised new objections from hotel guests by following them about, devouring golf balls and watching them with cold eyes as they teed off.

Now the hotel manager can find no one to catch and crate the alligators and his only remaining hope is to fence in the lake to shut out the water-mad bathers and shut in the golf mad alligators.

PRESIDENTIAL MATERIAL

Elyria, Ohio, July 26.—Although a bolt of lightning, hitting Frank Clark, tore his cap, shirt and pants to pieces, Clark was not seriously hurt.

Advertise in The Times