POKING A HORNETS' NEST

It is possible that a bit of real diplomacy may be required to prevent the seizure of the alleged rum-running vessel Henry L. Marshall by the American Coast Guard cutter Seneca from becoming an international incident.

In spite of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act, international law still holds outside this limit and short as the distance may seem, once it is passed, a boat is on the high seas and subject only to the well recognized laws common to all nations.

Very likely the English Government for the moment is more curious and amused over the procedure than "het up"; eventually, however, if she considers that international law and her rights have been violated, it will be necessary to make formal representations to our State Department for the sake of precedent and keeping the record correct.

It sometimes happens that thoughtless boys punch a hornets' nest once or twice with impunity but it is a risky business which if persisted in is certain to have lively results.

A NEGLECTED SOURCE OF SWEETNESS

Considering that honey is so desirable an article of diet it is rather surprising that there is such a comparatively small number of bees raised in the United States as about all that has to be furnished them is a little care and a place in which to store their honey.

The facts do not substantiate such a theory a late census bulletin furnishing the information that there are altogether in the United States less than three million and a half hives of bees and only eight states which can show a record of more than one hundred and fifty thousand hives.

It is difficult to understand just why bee keeping should not be more general and popular as nearly every one is fond of honey. One reason may be that so many people think of bees as uncomfortable and dangerous neighbors and so few understand their ways.

FEW TELEGRAMS FROM RUSSIA

Riga, Latvia, Aug. 6.—Although Russia has been in open telegraphic communication with the outside world for some months since the Russian English and various other trade agreements were signed, telegrams sent out of Russia in response to the thousands that are sent in, say officials of the telegraph administration in Riga and Rostov, are few.

Only certain persons are allowed to telegraph in Russia, it is understood here, and to gain the privilege of replying takes much time, during which the person is subjected to a complete investigation as to the reason he could possibly want to telegraph.

EX-PREMIER NITTI PERIODICAL SMOKER

Rome, Aug. 6.—Francesco Saverio Nitti, former Premier, Minister of the Interior, Minister of Agriculture and now a member of the Chamber of Deputies from Potenza, is a "periodical smoker." He smokes a small tin of cigarettes for a year and then upon a precise date jumps aboard the anti-smoking band wagon where, for a twelve-month, he abstains from using the weed.

McGuinness Buried Today

The funeral of Private Patrick Joseph McGuinness who was killed in action in France during the recent war while he was serving with Co. A, 14th machine gun battalion was held this morning at 8:30 from the mortuary parlors of August Baker, 1297 Stratford avenue and a half hour later from Blessed Sacrament church by Rev. J. J. Duggan assisted by Rev. F. Blake of Fairfield as deacon and Rev. Father Landry as sub-deacon.

Will Send List of Americans To Russia.

In making inquiry at Washington regarding the sending of food to Russia, France is said to have declared she would be glad to join the United States in any plans under consideration. A reply was received from the American State Department yesterday, in which thanks were expressed for the French offer of cooperation and it was stated that the United States would be glad to see this country second the efforts of Herbert Hoover to relieve distress among the Russians.

MAY SUCCEED CARUSO AS GREAT SINGER.

Beniamino Gigli, whom music critics regard as the most promising operatic tenors to succeed Enrico Caruso, was born in Italy, the son of a shoemaker. He won fame in both Europe and in South America and is now termed as "the coming man."

(Continued from Page 1.) buildings for his farm help, green-houses, barns, etc. He renamed the locality, Sunset Hill, by which name it is known to this day. Mr. Peck maintained a town house in New York city, where when not traveling, he passed his winters. Shortly after acquiring a residence in Redding he became actively identified with the Democratic organization, and was elected a representative to the General Assembly in 1908, representing a normally heavy Republican majority. He distinguished himself in the House, being a man of fluent speech and fine address, by his advocacy of progressive measures, and was one of the earliest advocates among the Democratic representatives of woman suffrage. Four years later he was elected to the Senate from what was then the fourth senatorial district, now the tenth, and was one of the staunchest supporters of that session. He took a leading part in the debates of the Senate and was looked upon as one of the ablest members of that body. A few years later he was the Democratic nominee for Congress in the fourth congressional district, and made a notable run, though defeated by the late Ebenezer Hill.

Of 25 years he has lived a rather retired life, failing health compelling him to relinquish his interest in political activities. He was 57 years of age.

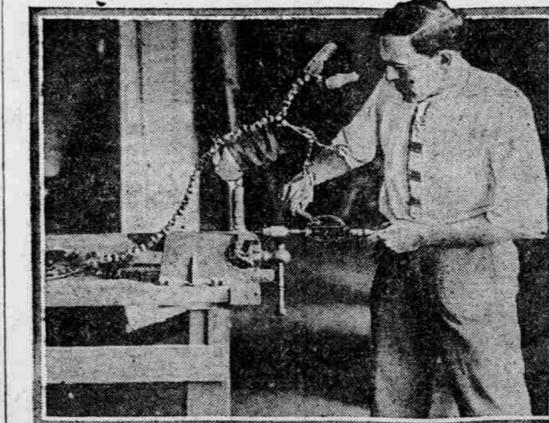

DEPOPULATION OF FRANCE TO SHOW IN CENSUS REPORT Paris, Aug. 6.—In anticipation that the final returns of the March census will show a notable decrease in the population of France, Deputy August Bonnefous proposed to ask Parliament to reduce the number of deputies at the next general election, due to be held in 1924, by ninety-five seats.

Including representatives from Alsace and Lorraine and French colonies, the last last election of November, 1919, resulted in 619 deputies to Parliament. M. Bonnefous also suggests that no bye-elections be held between now and the general elections of 1924 unless a constituency loses all its representatives, either through death or resignation or any other cause which would keep them away from the Chamber of Deputies.

GETS FIVE DAYS IN JAIL. Harry Bergel of 996 Wordin avenue was sentenced to five days in jail this morning by Judge Arthur M. Comley in the city court. Bergel was arrested on complaint of his wife, who charged he had assaulted her and was raising a disturbance in their home. She also charged that he had sold a horse and wagon, and used the proceeds for the purchase of liquor.

STOLE QUART OF MILK. Charged with the theft of a quart of milk belonging to the Mitchell Dairy Co., Norman Davis, colored, of 1133 Howard avenue, was sentenced to ten days in jail this morning by Deputy Judge Arthur M. Comley. Judgment was later suspended.

Bridgeporters Take Part In Rescue.

(Continued from Page One) Dr. O'Hara and Mr. Shaughnessy were guests during their stay on the island of Frank Crowell, whose son, Harold Crowell, is chief assistant to Captain Tuttle, the commander of the life saving crew there. Captain Tuttle's crew gained undying fame some time ago by retting the first line aboard the steamer Greater Northern when it was in danger of sinking with several hundred returning soldiers, largely wounded, aboard.

During intervals when the life saving crew was at leisure Captain Tuttle took Dr. O'Hara and Mr. Shaughnessy out into the bay as his guests on a small motorboat which was his personal property. Last Sunday the party took refuge in a small inlet when Captain Tuttle discovered a storm approaching. The storm, which wreaked such havoc all along the coast, and which resulted in the stranding of a party of 30 Bridgeporters, mostly singer employes, grew to such fury that the party was contemplating raising the anchor and going out into the bay when Captain Tuttle, who has unusually keen eyesight developed by his years of seafaring, discerned a yacht in the distance lurching at a dangerous angle, and being buffeted so strongly by wind and wave that it appeared about to capsize.

Without a moment's delay the anchor was raised and the motorboat put out into the teeth of the storm into the open sea. The boat is only 30 feet long, and the enterprise was replete with danger, but no one thought of delaying the rescue by attempting to get out of the boat before it set out on its perilous mission.

Hardly had the little motor boat left the harbor when the yacht capsized, but a glimpse of the doomed yacht could only be obtained when the little boat was within a few feet of it. With all the speed that the battling elements would permit, the tiny craft sped to the yacht, which had already struck the sandbar when the rescuers reached it. The mast broke at the level of the deck, but the sail kept the yacht afloat on one side, from completely capsizing.

Undaunted by the howling wind, the blinding rain and the huge breakers, the rescuers pulled the occupants of the yacht, a man of mature years, and his four children, ranging in age from 14 to 29, two girls and two boys, aboard the motor boat.

One of the thrilling incidents of the rescue was when Captain Tuttle jumped in and loosened the anchor of the yacht with an axe, so as to save the craft from complete destruction.

En route to shore the rescuers and rescued met the life saving crew, whose lookout had observed the distressing sight, said Dr. O'Hara, when the crew of the eight-oared life saving boat raised their oars in unison in salute to Captain Tuttle. When the life saving crew met the motor boat, a transfer was made and the wife and children were taken to the motor boat to assist in saving the yacht.

Through the combined efforts of Captain Tuttle, Mr. Crowell, Mr. Shaughnessy and Dr. O'Hara, assisted in the later stages by some members of the life saving crew who they summoned by signal, the yacht itself was salvaged and towed into Babylon, Long Island.

The People's Say What Congress Did

Editor of The Times:

Some of our largest realty holders were asked to express their opinions regarding the lowering of rents during the present industrial depression. In order to give a working man of small means a show and to help him. One of our local real estate men stated that the real facts were not given. The fact is that there are so many rents due to the people leaving Bridgeport. In the Hungarian section of the West End over 200 families have either moved to Europe or have purchased a farm or have moved to work one.

Seven Cafe Men Before Court Today. (Continued from Page One) fession saved him from an additional jail sentence. A fine of $200 was paid by Andrew Amruskevich of 2 West avenue, who was taken to custody yesterday morning for violating the liquor laws. Two bottles partly filled with Rock and other articles were found in his possession and he was fined $50 and costs for keeping it with intent to sell. One other article was taken from two demijohns in Cocco's saloon was submitted as evidence, and Judge Comley took occasion to tell the officer who made the arrests that he should always bring in all the evidence. Cocco claimed that the wine was for his personal use.

SPAIN'S STAND CAUSES ANXIETY Copenhagen, Aug. 6.—Spain's anti-prohibitory attitude is causing economic anxiety in more than one "dry" or partly dry country. Threats of tariff pressure, trade boycotts and other steps in behalf of the manufacture and sale of Spanish wines are having their effect, notably in Iceland and Finland. Norway alone seems impervious to foreign "wet" attacks.

THE CASES OF SAMUEL NUSENFELD, of 96 Barnum avenue and Simons Frankel, of 543 Washington avenue were continued until August 10. Nusenfeld is the owner of a cafe at 59 Water street, where Frankel is employed as bar-tender.

TO PREVENT the possibility of international "incidents" the government of France has ordered the transportation of French troops to the Spanish border closed. French military experts are watching the Moroccan development with the keenest interest, as are indeed, Generals and international politicians throughout Europe, for the Moroccan crisis that started with the Kaiser's visit to Tangier and nearly resulted in a European war, is still fresh in all minds.

GERMANY has been eliminated as a rival but European interest in Morocco has been acute ever since the Algeciras crisis.

What Congress Did

Senate.

Mr. Borah offered a joint resolution reducing the army to 100,000 enlisted men, and discussed disarmament, withdrawal of troops from Germany and the necessity for lessening expenditures. All efforts to fix a date for voting on the Beer and Wine Bill proved futile and formal discussion of measure began. Resolution by Mr. Wadsworth adopted calling for data regarding the importation of moving picture films. The Ford-Newberry investigation was pronounced closed and case will be arranged for presentation to Senate. Mr. McKellar introduced a bill to make Sgt. Alvin C. York a captain in the army and place him on the retired list. House. Not in session. The Ways and Means Committee continued its work in executive session, with administrative provision of the Tax Bill. Gov. Harding of the Federal Reserve Board continued his testimony on credits.

Nurse Killed Her Common Law Husband. (Continued from Page One) of Cincinnati would "hound" him if she knew he was married, and proposed to marry him in West End. Miss Stone alleges that they lived at several Atlantic City hotels as man and wife, and later returned to Cincinnati, where she met her father, Kinkaid married Miss Gormley and moved to Brooklyn.

There is then a two year gap in the nurse's tragic history. In the spring of this year, two years after Kinkaid's marriage, she bought a revolver and came to New York in search of her father. She says she killed him. Unable to discover Kinkaid, she returned to Cincinnati, where she was found not guilty on a charge of keeping a place where liquor was reputed to be for sale and selling, but was fined $50 and costs for keeping it with intent to sell. One other article was taken from two demijohns in Cocco's saloon was submitted as evidence, and Judge Comley took occasion to tell the officer who made the arrests that he should always bring in all the evidence. Cocco claimed that the wine was for his personal use.

KING REALIZES GRAVITY OF MOROCCO SITUATION. (Continued from Page One) There are well-grounded reports that Spain is encountering trouble among her own troops, who are showing increasing unwillingness to fight the Moroccans. Several mutinies are reported to have occurred among troops being sent to fight Raisuli's. One ship carrying Moroccan expeditionary troops, was forced to call at the Spanish border closed. French military experts are watching the Moroccan development with the keenest interest, as are indeed, Generals and international politicians throughout Europe, for the Moroccan crisis that started with the Kaiser's visit to Tangier and nearly resulted in a European war, is still fresh in all minds.

GERMANY has been eliminated as a rival but European interest in Morocco has been acute ever since the Algeciras crisis.
