FOOTBALL SOME WHO FAVOR SOME WHO OPPOSE

Washington, Dec. 15.—Football as played at the present time is all right, in the opinion of Prof. James B. Angell, for thirty-eight years the head of the University of Michigan, the football team of which has been recognized as supreme in the Western country. Prof. Angell, who is here on personal business, does not believe that there is any necessity for any revision of football rules, although he acknowledges he is no longer connected with the Ann Arbor institution and therefore cannot speak with authority. In football matters the educator gave the impression plainly that he is a "stand-patter."

Pittsburg, Dec. 15.—The Intercollegiate Athletic Association of Western Pennsylvania, which embraces the University of West Virginia as well as five colleges in Western Pennsylvania, yesterday decided to abolish football as played by colleges in the past unless the rule makers can do something which will abolish the roughness of the play. Those represented at a meeting held in the Fort Pitt Hotel in addition to the University of West Virginia were Allegheny College, Westminster, Grove City, Geneva and Washington. It was decided by a vote unanimous that the game as now played is too rough and too dangerous and that steps should be taken at once to prepare for introduction of the old style English Rugby game, which is more open. In case the makers of rules shall be able to show changes which will eliminate the dangerous elements the college game of the past may be returned to. This will be left wholly in the hands of the different college athletic committees.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 15.—The athletic board of the University of Nebraska at Chancellor Avery's solicitation has taken a stand for the elimination of the dangerous features of football. The chancellor attended a special meeting of the board last night and while urging the retention of the gridiron game as a collegiate sport advised such a revision of the rules as would do away with the serious injuries of the players. The board coincided with the chancellor's views and instructed its delegate to the coming intercollegiate convention—Dr. R. S. Clapp—to that effect.

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 15.—Legrande Simson of North Tonawanda, N. Y., fullback on the varsity this fall, was elected captain of the Cornell football team for next year at a meeting of the sixteen men who were awarded the football "C" by the athletic council yesterday. It is understood that Simson was the general choice of the players, although a few complimentary ballots were cast.

NOTED GABLER AND ART PAINTER WHO HAS 'CASHED IN'

Patrick F. Sheedy, the noted gambler and art painter, who in New York, got most of his notoriety through the recovery of the Gainsborough portrait of the Duchess of Devonshire, the picture stolen in London in the seventies and brought to this country by Adam Worth, the notorious fence. In 1901 Sheedy announced that he could deliver the picture for $5,000 providing no questions were to be asked. He found the painting in Chicago. It had been in hiding twenty-five years. Sheedy was fifty-nine years old when he died.

ACTRESS AND LOVER SHOT BY JEALOUS COUNT

JACOB GLATSKI, WHO DID SHOOTING, ACCUSED MAX GOLDBERG OF TRYING TO CUT HIM OUT. Lavished Attention on Woman, Whose Husband Sued Him For Alienation of Affection. (Special from United Press.) New York, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Lizzie Shapiro, an actress employed at the People's Theatre on the Bowery, and Max Goldberg, a scene painter there, are in Gouverneur Hospital probably fatally wounded, while Jacob Glatzki, who, the police declare, is a Russian Count, is under arrest charged with having shot them. The shooting took place early today in the doorway of 101 Forsyth street when Glatzki accused Goldberg, a married man, of trying to "cut his act."

MAYOR REMINDS BUSINESS MEN

(Continued from Page 1.) simply say that the business men of the city are the backbone of the city. back up public opinion and strive in every way to attain what the majority of the public desires for the best interests of the city. "In my first public document, also in my recent address to the Common Council, I made the statement that I would be able to accomplish something of the sort of producing electricity, with the idea of lessening the cost both to the city and to private consumers. I will endeavor to carry out my pledge. I ask that you join individually with me, give your co-operation, and we will be able to accomplish something not only for the city but for the citizens and consumers at large. Mayor Buckingham then made a few "suggestions." "When you have complaints to make," said he, "make them in a business way. First go to the department. Then, go to the mayor. If you fail to get satisfaction, then go to the newspapers and air your grievances. In the morning when your clerks sweep the sidewalks, instruct them to gather their refuse and deposit it in the garbage can. Don't allow them to sweep the dirt into the streets. "Often we hear of the merchants' cellar door extending into the sidewalk, and being elevated from half an inch to three inches above the sidewalk. Tenants would better the conditions of the streets to have owners lower them to the walk level. "The replacing of the antiquated signs on some of our business houses with modern electric signs would be a great benefit to the city. We might easily have three great white ways, Main street, State street and Fairfield avenue. I don't know that the expense would be so great—" began the mayor. "Most of us know about that" interjected Former Alderman Graves. The mayor suggested the establishment by the business men and the board of trade of a bureau of information for the guidance of strangers. "I would like to see such an institution would be to visitors, in providing directions to various parts of the city, to the stores and factories, and in other ways. The same there might be a free checking system for visitors. This would be a source

CHRISTMAS PIANOS

There are many advantages in buying your piano from the Wissner House. Your choice is not limited to either high, low or medium priced instruments, as in some places. You can secure a piano at the Wissner Store for any reasonable amount you care to pay. Those who are not sufficiently informed on the piano subject to decide upon the grade will secure the desired knowledge at Wissner's, where ALL grades can be seen, heard and compared. You deal with a house that operates many retail warerooms in Greater New York and vicinity in order to supply the increasing demand for its product. The Wissner House is the representative home concern.

- $20 to $60 will purchase a good square piano. One that will serve for practise. One that has been tuned and polished. Payments $3 to $4 per month.
$60 to $150 will buy an upright used piano. Most of our used pianos have come to us in exchange for Wissner Player Pianos and were exchanged for the sole reason that no one could play. Therefore they received very little use.
$175 to $190 is all that is necessary to buy a new piano from us. These pianos—bearing a well-known name—are very pleasing in tone, touch and appearance. Made in up-to-date cases, finished in mahogany. They are very attractive and give general satisfaction.

Player Pianos are an important factor in the piano industry today. They have come to stay just the same as other inventions of modern times. You can secure, at the Wissner Store, a good player for any reasonable amount you may care to invest. Easy payments make it possible for people of moderate circumstances to own one.

WISSNER PIANO

People can talk and talk about which Piano is the Best, but any one who wants to know the truth, regardless of tradition, etc., has only to compare the Wissner Piano, part for part with the most famous makes of the country. We are always glad to have any one make these comparisons as the wonderful strides of progress made in the construction of Wissner Pianos are a revelation to all who investigate.
