

CAVANAUGH IN COURT

Case Put Over on Account of Mrs French's Condition.

It was announced in the city court today that the condition of Mrs Edith French who was shot three times in the body by John Cavanaugh on the Simonsville road Monday night is far from favorable.

Mrs Cavanaugh never took her eyes off her husband. That she was greatly effected was too evident to the policemen, and when court was over and she was leaving the room she stood near the front entrance and took a long look at her husband sitting alone in the dock, immovable.

Inside the front doors of the City hall they stood wondering what next to do for they wished to see the prisoner. They were strangers in the City hall and all about was a closed mystery to them.

The authorities stated this morning, in answer to a question asked yesterday that it was so that Mrs Cavanaugh complained about a month ago of her husband taking $80 or $100 from the house and spending it.

LOWE'S STATEMENT

In Regard to Rumors of Miss Hurley's Discharge.

Judge Robert A. Lowe having to retire from the probate court on the first Monday in the new year, 1909 it behooves him to clear up things in order to leave a clean slate for his successor, Attorney M. J. Byrne.

His office force is working as much overtime as possible, and necessarily working harder than if there were no change pending in the probate court.

There is not a word of truth in the report further than that Miss Hurley is no longer here. The reason can be better given by herself than by me or anyone else.
