

PRISON FOR ALL

Fourteen Men Who Were Responsible For the Death of a Man and His Daughter.

Great Falls, Mont., Nov. 19.—Fourteen men charged with murder in Valley county yesterday pleaded guilty to manslaughter and were sentenced to various terms in prison.

The crime to which these fourteen men pleaded guilty was an attack upon the cabin of John Hayes and his family, which resulted in the death of Hayes and his daughter. Hayes had jumped a claim which Walter Long had taken up, and the settlers decided to rid the country of "claim jumpers." They joined Long in warning Hayes to leave the country, and when he did not go they went to the cabin at midnight, shot through it and attempted to set fire to it.

In all sixteen persons were arrested for the crime. The first trial was that of Walter Long. It was long and expensive but resulted in his conviction and sentence to thirty-five years imprisonment. Then followed the trial of his brother, Milo, who was sentenced to serve thirteen years. Two of the men turned state's evidence and they got off with a jail sentence.

It was arranged that all the remaining defendants should plead guilty to manslaughter. Gamble and George H. Isbell were sentenced to prison for one year and nine months each. John Kennedy, Theodore Isbell, Tucker Moore, Thomas McDavitt and John McDavitt to one year each. Edward Kennedy, Thomas Kennedy, George Isbell, Jr., Chris Paulson and Paul Wagner pleaded guilty to riot and were sent to jail for six months.

JOHN D. SMILES

As He Tells the Story of Standard Oil and the Way He Runs It

ARCHBOLD MAY GO ON

New York, Nov. 19.—John D. Rockefeller went on the witness stand when the Standard Oil hearing was resumed this forenoon. His counsel said that Mr. Rockefeller will probably be on the stand all day.

It was announced that after Mr. Rockefeller's cross examination by government counsel John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard Oil Co., will take the witness stand.

The hearing was transferred today to a larger room in order to accommodate numerous counsel and reporters. Policemen were stationed in the corridors and only those having friends connected with the proceedings were permitted to enter Mr. Rockefeller was smiling as he took the witness stand and resumed his testimony.

Mr. Rockefeller's counsel again called his attention to the uncertainty of the oil business in the early 70's and asked him bearing the supply of raw material had thereon. It had an important bearing and must always have such importance as we never know when the supply may give our rendering the properties for the refining of oil comparatively valueless," replied Mr. Rockefeller. He added that in the early oil business the supply of crude oil was limited to a small area coming principally from Venago county Pennsylvania.

Mr. Rockefeller said that the oil business was made hazardous because of the apprehension that the supply of crude oil would be exhausted. Some of the oil wells were very short lived. Mr. Rockefeller's counsel then asked him if he recalled that a producers' union was formed at the time of the agitation regarding the South Improvement Co. "Yes," replied Mr. Rockefeller. "It was formed a little later and was composed of a large proportion of the oil producers. That led to an association of oil refiners who were desirous of producing a supply of crude oil which was not controlled by interests antagonistic to them and the refiners also wanted to be assured of a market for their raw material.

"We desired pleasant relations with the producers," said Mr. Rockefeller.

In December, 1872, Mr. Rockefeller said, the producers' union and the refiners' association entered into an agreement, the purpose of which was "to secure as high a price for the crude oil as possible and to introduce an element of regularity into the business which had been fluctuating greatly. Mr. Rockefeller was unable to give the number of producers in the union but it included a large percentage of all of them and the refiners' association included a large proportion of his counsel, Mr. Rockefeller noted that the agreement fixed the price of all crude oil at $5 per barrel at common points. The operation of that agreement he said stimulated an over production of oil beyond what the refiners could use at that price. The temptation was very great with the producers to develop more oil than they had promised to the refiners. The refiners could only take as much oil as the public would consume. As a result the producers violated the agreement and sold their oil under the price which had been fixed. The agreement did not last long said Mr. Rockefeller.

Escaped from Jail.

New Haven, Nov. 19.—Choosing a time when practically everyone else connected with the institution was at supper, four colored prisoners escaped from the county jail on Whalley avenue last evening, getting out over the little ell at the rear, and probably crossing to Hudson or Goffe streets. Two men and two women escaped: Henry Adley, William Hannibal, Florence Epps and Bertha Robinson. All the prisoners were trustees. The escape was discovered about fifteen minutes after the prisoners had gone. The four went through the cellar, up and over the back of the boilers and out onto a roof which is about six feet from the ground. This was easy to drop from and soon they were safely across the yard to either Goffe or Hudson street. An alarm with descriptions of the prisoners has been sent to all the neighboring towns and cities, as well as to the local police. It is believed that some former friends of the escaped prisoners, up Dixwell avenue or Goffe street, are hiding them until the affair blows over.

For Third Conference.

The Hague, Nov. 19.—The government of the Netherlands has proposed to advocate the convocation of an international committee to arrange for a third peace conference. During a debate in parliament on the foreign office budget Foreign Minister Van Swinderen made a general statement on international politics. In the course of which he said he had declined to ask the powers for a declaration of neutrality in the case of the Netherlands, explaining that such a course would have been incompatible with the independence of Holland.

CONDUCTOR KILLED

EATON COMES HOME.

Says His Trip to Washington Was for Legitimate Business.

New Haven, Nov. 19.—United States Internal Revenue Collector Robert O. Eaton returned from Washington last night, where he was so hastily summoned on Monday that rumor had it he had been "called down" by the "Big Stick" for pernicious activity in the recent campaign.

Mr. Eaton when interviewed by a reporter of the Palladium said that his visit to the center of the universe had nothing to do with the fact that he is a member of the republican state central committee, that he is the political treasurer of his party in his home section, and that he has been active in politics.

He said that he was called in by the head of the revenue service to explain some matters which had come up under his predecessor, and which could be readily explained. After saying this Mr. Eaton went on his way to a "joy party" which Sam R. Chidsey, representative-elect from East Haven was giving at the Union league.

There's an intimation, however, among the how-to-line machine politicians that Mr. Eaton was called to Washington to interest himself in the canvass for senator which the Hon. E. J. Hill is advancing. Mr. Eaton has hitherto been supposed to have been allied with the Brandegee supporters—the so-called machine crowd. He is still supposed to be a strong Brandegee man, but he declined to discuss the senatorial situation. He would not admit that he was standing by Congressman Sperry's alleged backing up of Postmaster Allen of Middletown.

In fact it is said that Mr. Eaton has absolutely no part in the fight over the filling of the postmastership in Middletown which it seems to be claimed the administration is trying to use to help Hill along. The claim is made that Hill is more acceptable as a senator to the administration than Brandegee because the latter voted against the administration scheme regarding the Philippines.

Said a New Haven republican leader last night: "The organization is still cock sure that Brandegee will win out over Hill."

THE TARIFF ISSUE

Change in Duty May Be Made on Several Kinds of Fruit.

Washington, Nov. 19.—In the preparation of a new tariff bill to be presented at a special session of congress next March numerous changes in the schedule covering agricultural products and provisions will have to be considered by the ways and means committee of the house. This was brought out at yesterday's hearing on the schedule. The principal article about which there is a contention for a change in the duty appears to be citrus fruits, oranges, lemons and grapefruit.

After hearing arguments from the Florida and California citrus fruit growers all urging a high protective duty on those fruits, Champ Clark, the most active questioner on the democratic or "duty for revenue" side of the committee asked one of the witnesses "when are you fellows going to stand on your feet and have your trade self-supporting without the perpetual protection of tariff."

"When the democratic party gets in power and labor is reduced to 25 cents per day," was the sharp rejoinder.

The Florida fruit growers claimed that their principal competition is from Cuba. J. G. Chase from Jacksonville claimed that the ad valorem rate of duty of 25 per cent on oranges is made up by the lower freight rates from Cuba to New York than from Florida to New York. Tapoca starch will be affected by the changes in the specific requirements of the tariff that have been suggested. Senator Hale of Maine, made the claim that "when the Dingley bill was made, by intention tapoca starch was not specifically provided for and it was left on the free list."

Mr. Payne, chairman of the committee told Senator Hale that a change in the wording of the law has been suggested so that upon all preparations used for starching, sizing, or filling will be levied the same duty that is imposed on starch. He also said that the paragraph making this provision was cut out of the Dingley bill by the senate committee after the bill had passed the house which assertion caused general laughter as Senator Hale is now a member of the senate committee which will consider the tariff.

Buckwheat flour, biscuits, bread, wafers, truffles and similar articles will be provided for in the new bill.

When the hearing before the house ways and means committee on the tariff schedule for agricultural products and provisions was resumed today it appeared that it would be necessary to extend the day's session into to-night. Tulo Larinaga, vice commissioner from Porto Rico, represents the interests of that island before the committee. He spoke principally with regard to coffee, but

GOMPERS UPHELD

His Address Was First Business Before Federation of Labor To-day.

Denver, Col., Nov. 19.—By previous arrangements the report of the committee to which was referred the annual address of President Gompers was the first thing up for consideration when the American Federation of Labor began its sessions today. Rumor that the report would uphold every recommendation contained in the address of President Gompers and would suggest that Daniel J. Keefe, president of the Longshoremen's union and vice-president of the Federation, should have resigned from the executive council when he found he could not support the political programme of that body announced in partial decision on the part of at least one member of the Federation to oppose him for re-election to the office he now holds. W. D. Mahon, international president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railway Employees of America, will doubtless enter the lists against Keefe. John Alpine, president of the Plumbers' international union, may also run against him. It is also reported that Thomas L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has concluded not to oppose John Mitchell for re-election to the executive council.

WAS A FAILURE

Meeting Between the Emperor and Von Buelow—Dresden People Accept It

GIVEN ROUGH REFUSAL

Munich, Nov. 19.—The meeting last Tuesday between Chancellor Von Buelow and Emperor William is regarded as a partial failure because nothing definite has followed it. The chancellor may be convinced it is argued here that the emperor will be careful in the future but the public men of Bavaria and the Bavarian press are awaiting the months to come in order to see for themselves to what extent the imperial practice will be changed. The Neuste Nachrichten says: "We can only hope that the imperial promises will be kept. An urgent obligation rests upon the Reichstag."

Dresden, Nov. 19.—The newspapers and public of Dresden greet emperor Williams explanation as in the main satisfactory. The Anzeiger affirms that his majesty has said enough to facilitate Prince von Buelow's task as a responsible statesman and build a bridge between himself and the nation. The Nachrichten says: "It may be that the imperial words have not fulfilled the demand for formal guarantees in the matter of the extension of constitutional responsibility yet it is clear that the emperor has renounced his personal policy."

Augsburg, Nov. 19.—The Abend Zeitung today says that Emperor Williams has shown his deeds to be better than his words, and that his acts must have meant a great degree of self denial.

THE ATWOOD CASE

Man Injured in Hack By Being Hit By Trolley Car Wants $2,000 Damages.

The suit of Walter S. Atwood, Jr., a foreman for the Plume & Atwood Manufacturing Co., against the Connecticut Co., occupied the jury and Judge Bennett in the superior court today. One Wednesday evening in July, 1907, Mr. Atwood while driving home in a hack was run down by a trolley car on East Main street between Phoenix avenue and Exchange place. The motorman was arrested for overspeeding his car within the city limits, was found guilty and fined in the city court. That case was appealed and what became of it no one seems to know, for evidently that was the last heard of it. The hack driver was thrown off and injured and Mr. Atwood was considerably knocked about in the hack. He claims to have suffered a great nervous shock and that he was injured internally also. He claimed damages of $2,000, alleging that he was laid up for some time and expended $200 in medicine and doctor's bills.

The defendant company was represented by three lawyers, City Attorney Kellogg and two from New Haven, while the plaintiff's case is in the hands of but one, Cassidy. It was shown during the cross-examination of Mr. Atwood that about the time of the accident and for a period prior thereto he had been a severe sufferer from nervous disorders and that in consequence he was using powerful drugs, morphine being one of them. He is now in normal health, however, and is no longer using drugs or medicines of any nature.

James E. Harrington, who ran a lunch room on East Main street at the time of the accident, and since moved to Schenectady, N. Y., was Mr. Atwood's strongest witness.
