where we are not proud. Mr. Altgeld has risen to that eminence. In Illinois, it means Albigdom. In South Dakota it means Pettismism, and in my own State Crokerism, and here it means Gobblism. (Applause.) No think that this means; think of the influence that stand behind Mr. Bryan: think of the pardoner of an anarchist bomb-thrower in Illinois, flourishing in the swamp, corrupting the city, having the city and now a puppet to seize the State, hoping to do it by the aid of Bryan. (Applause.) Think of it here in your State. Here Mr. Bryan comes to the aid of those who have committed crime against a republic of suppressing or altering the votes of free men to every man, Republican, Democrat, Populist, whatever he be, provided he is an honest man. We have a right to appeal to him to drop all else until it is settled once for all that in every State of the Union, mine or yours, my brother, a free man, has the right to cast his vote as he pleases and to have it counted as cast. (Applause.) This is not a party election. It is in this State the impossible should occur, and the man who has been cast their votes for Bryan, though I should feel that they should have inflicted the greatest wrong it was in the power of manhood to inflict upon the commonwealth, I would strain every resource to let a single vote that was cast for Mr. Bryan be counted for any one else. (Applause.) Now that should be the attitude of every man fit to call himself an American citizen, and when that is not done, when a party grasps the power by nullifying the will of the people, every party should cease at once until that wrong was remedied and until the wrongdoers were punished. (Applause.)

Mr. Bryan is immensely concerned for the right of self-government for a Tazal and yet on the other side of the earth, and yet Mr. Bryan comes down into the camp to champion the party of fraud to champion those who have disfranchised the majority of the inhabitants of this State, and who have elected a governor who never elected. (Applause.)

"Oh, men of Kentucky! Oh, men of that State that sent so many of its sons to die for her sons to wear the blue, so many times of thousands to wear the gray in the times that tried men's souls; to you, the people of Kentucky who have never flinched; to you who have made the name of your great and beautiful State a synonym for courage and manly action; to you, the young men in the name of those who wore the blue and gray, in the name of the great deeds done by the generation that in the great civil war, the war that left us a reunited nation, that left our country without a stain, that left our Confederate soldiers, men whose fathers proved their faith, I appeal to you to take the oath of allegiance to this State, on the threshold of a century, declares once for all in the face of the people of mankind that the American flag has been raised in honor it shall not be hauled down in dishonor."

At this point the address Colonel Roosevelt spoke in front of the Auditorium, a building with a seating capacity of 5,000, to a crowd as large as this.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

FIVE DOLLARS A BOX.

The Price Cut No Figure With Him.

I want to say for the benefit of some poor dyspeptic that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will give comfort and a cure every time. Five dollars a box would not stop my purchasing them should I ever find myself as I did for a week before using them.

The one 50-cent box I bought at my druggist's did the work, and my digestion is all right again.

Many of my neighbors have also tried the tablets and found them to be just as represented, and Mr. Elms also wants me to use his name in endorsing Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Signed,

A. ELMS and

CHARLES F. BUZZELL,

Asst. Postmaster, South Boston, Mass.

writes: For eighteen months I suffered from what I supposed was bladder and kidney trouble, and took medicine from three different doctors, without any sign of relief. I felt as if at last I was hardly able to do my work.

I thought I would try a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and see if they would make me feel better, and really they did. I had dyspepsia, but after only three or four tablets had been taken all the acid trouble disappeared and then I discovered I had had acid dyspepsia, while the doctor had been treating me for kidney and bladder trouble, and one of them treated me for rheumatism.

My digestion is fine, my complexion clear and I am able to do my work, and my spirits are unknown to me.

I am so thankful for finding a cure so good and pleasant to take as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, I am surprised at the change they have made in me.

All druggists sell and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they contain only the simple natural digestive and taken after meals prevent acidity and cause prompt digestion and assimilation of food.

Physicians everywhere endorse them because they are safe for the child and for the adult; they are invulnerable to sour stomach, nervous dyspepsia, heartburn, gas on stomach and bowels and every form of stomach derangement.

which had filled the structure and which had lingered throughout the main speech. Including the speech to-night Governor Roosevelt had addressed nine audiences in Kentucky since he landed in Louisville. Tomorrow he will rest quietly, reaching Lexington at 6 a. m. Monday.

BRYAN MAKES MANY SPEECHES

In One of Them He Replies to Roosevelt as to Increased Army.

AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 13.—A memorable day in the Bryan campaign in Ohio closed here to-night with a monster meeting, but large as it was his meeting did not far surpass several others of the day and it all considerably behind the meeting at Mansfield, which was the last important stopping place before reaching this place. There were a dozen or more speeches during the day, the most noteworthy of which were made at Circleville, Lancaster, Zanesville, Cohecton and Mansfield. The crowds appeared to increase gradually in size throughout the day from the initial meeting at Chillicothe, a little after sunrise, until the last day meeting at Mansfield, just before sunset. There were great crowds at all the places mentioned, while Mansfield was said to have contained twice as many people as had ever before been gathered at that place for a political speech. The Democratic management at Mansfield had prevailed upon neighboring towns to forego their claims to a speech from Mr. Bryan so as to allow their people to attend the Mansfield meeting, and as a consequence the surrounding country for a radius of thirty or forty miles was well represented at the event.

All things considered, the Mansfield street demonstration was the best that has been seen in the history of the Bryan campaign, which was participated in by clubs from Akron and surrounding cities. The speaking platform was a raised platform for places from Canton and Massillon alone. The line of march was marked with red fire and the discharge of the cannons from the various clubs to the place of meeting in an open carriage, drawn by four milk-white horses.

Mr. Bryan arrived in Akron at 8:30 and began his speech more than an hour afterward. The intervening time was spent in a parade through the streets of Akron, which was participated in by clubs from Akron and surrounding cities.

Not only the sidewalks but the entire streets were literally packed with people. The streets and the park which had joined the meeting place were all crowded, and the mass of humanity extended far beyond the carrying power of Mr. Bryan's voice.

In his Mansfield speech Mr. Bryan took occasion to make response to one of the most persistent accusations against him, one of Mr. Bryan's speeches, but before entering upon this reply he discussed the trust question.

After a few words applied to the army question in general Mr. Bryan took up Governor Roosevelt's rejoinder and said: "When the candidate for Vice President made a speech at Detroit, he said that he was afraid of this administration."

He had four soldiers stand up before the audience and he told the audience that the soldiers were the standing army of 100,000 bore to the population of this country.

But now there is another defense. As soon as the Republican candidate for Vice President made that defense I saw that the army was after him. But he made another defense. I find it in this morning's paper. He says the army is intelligent observer knew that there would be trouble in the Philippines if the treaty was confirmed. Why is that possible? It is possible that when the President entered upon his official policy he knew that there would be no trouble there if it were not for the people in this country who make speeches against imperialism."

There is the statement of the Republican candidate for Vice President that two months before the war broke out he knew that there would be trouble in the Philippines and I want to show you that in his retreat he has become so scared that he has hidden himself, induced by a Democratic Senator. Let me read you the text:

"The bill for the temporary increase which Mr. Bryan was present to offset was introduced by Senator Cockrell of Missouri. It was a Democratic proposition which was presented to the proposition made by the Republican President. I want you to know that the Vice President asked for the Republican ticket, instead of defending the measure making a permanent increase of the army to 100,000, tries to hide behind a Democratic measure, which made it only a temporary increase. The bill of Senator Cockrell was supported by the Democrats and the Populists and the Silver Republicans in the mountain States. Of these there will not be enough to affect a single electoral vote. He will hold his own west of the Mississippi, and will carry every State in that region that he carried in 1896, with the possible exception of Wyoming. He will gain heavily in the central West and East; he will not only have all the Democrats and Populists who supported him in 1896, but added to these he will receive the votes of a large number of Gold Democrats and former Republicans who have left their party on the issues of imperialism and trust."

"The following States may be classed as certain to cast their electoral vote for Bryan: Alabama 11, Arkansas 5, Colorado 3, Florida 4, Georgia 13, Idaho 3, Louisiana 8, Mississippi 9, Missouri 15, Montana 3, Nebraska 5, Nevada 3, North Carolina 11, South Carolina 9, Tennessee 12, Texas 13, Utah 3, Virginia 12; total 153.

"Added to these are the following States that will probably cast their votes for Bryan: Illinois 24, Indiana 15, Kansas 10, Kentucky 13, Maryland 10, South Dakota 4, Washington 4, West Virginia 6; total 81.

"These added to 153 certain, give 237, or 13 more than a majority in the electoral college. Outside of these certain, probable and probable States are the following doubtful:

"California 9, Connecticut 6, Delaware 3, Michigan 14, Minnesota 3, New Jersey 10, New York 36, North Dakota 3, Ohio 23, Wisconsin 12, Wyoming 3; total 125.

"Of these Minnesota, New York and Ohio can all be classed as very uncertain for the Republican candidate; in fact, they are the States that will probably cast their votes for Bryan. It is a safe prediction that State could be considered almost a certainty for Bryan.

"In the Illinois speech the Republicans a majority of only a little over 4,000, with practically a break-even in Cook County, were defeated. Outside of these certain, probable and probable States are the following doubtful:

"California 9, Connecticut 6, Delaware 3, Michigan 14, Minnesota 3, New Jersey 10, New York 36, North Dakota 3, Ohio 23, Wisconsin 12, Wyoming 3; total 125.

DOUBTIFULS SAYS BRYAN WILL WIN

Secretary Edgerton Has It All Nicely Figured Out.

Adding Together the Sure and Probable States, With an Allowance on Doubtful Ones, He Gets a Majority.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 13.—The following statement over the signature of J. A. Edgerton, the secretary, was given out this evening by the People's Party National Committee:

"Bryan will be elected; he has lost none of the support he had in 1896 except a few Silver Republicans in the mountain States. Of these there will not be enough to affect a single electoral vote. SYSTEMIC CATARRH OF A URETHRA.

with little or no benefit. I found I was gradually growing weaker, and my health was failing. A friend of mine gave me one of your pamphlets, and seeing how Peruna was recommended for catarrh, I sent for some and began taking it for a few days. I began to feel better. I continued using it until I was able to go to work on my farm again, and now I am in very good health and do work on my farm. I do not wish to say that your great medicine, Peruna, saved my life, and I cheerfully recommend it to like sufferers.

Hon. John Elliot, President Royal Templars of Temperance, writes the following in regard to Peruna: "I found it much help in cases of catarrh of the bladder, also in kidney and bladder troubles. I have freely recommended Peruna to all my friends who have taken it, and I have seen some remarkable cures through its faithful use. It is by all odds the most reliable medicine I know of."

Many people still think that catarrh is a disease confined to the head. This is a great mistake. Catarrh is liable to occur wherever there is mucous membrane. Not only does the mucous membrane line the cavities of the head, nose and throat, but it also lines the stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder and other pelvic organs. Every duct, every cavity, every passage of the whole body is subject to chronic catarrh, because they are lined with mucous membrane.

Gentlemen—"At the solicitation of a friend I used your Peruna and can cheerfully recommend it as an excellent remedy for all catarrhal troubles. It is, indeed, a wonderful medicine."
