Newbro's Herpicide Destroys the Dandruff Germ Permanently and Cures Baldness.

Quinine and rum and a whole lot of other things are pleasant to rub on the scalp after washing it free of dandruff, but not one preparation of the general run cures dandruff and falling hair. It is necessary to kill that germ to be permanently cured of dandruff and to stop falling hair. Newbro's Herpicide will positively destroy that germ, so that there can be no more dandruff, and so that the hair will grow luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect."

Special Dispatch to The Call.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 16.—The steamer Miowera, from Australia, brought details of the death of the wife and child of Rev. Ludwig Wolff, a German missionary at Paparatava, New Guinea, at the hands of natives. The missionary was absent, and his wife and child, with Miss Coe, a teacher, and some blacks, were alone at the mission. Natives preparing for a cannibal feast to celebrate the completion of a new house surprised the mission and killed Mrs. Wolff and child and several of the blacks with axes. Miss Coe ran into the house and the cook, a native, armed with a rifie, kept the murderers at bay until, with the arrival of other blacks, they fied, carrying off some of their victims for a feast.

Miss Coe and the blacks escaped through the bush to a mission station at Takubar. Police were sent back, and after burying the missionary's wife and child destroyed the villages near by, killing thirty natives and capturing others. Before leaving New Guinea Governor Lee Hunt of the colony held an investigation into the murder of Revs. James Chalmers and C. F. Tompkins by the natives. He visited all the tribes, but refused to make friends with the people of the two villages implicated. The murderers have been located and will be punished. The natives told the Governor that they killed the missionaries in accordance with their customs and for revenge. It is believed that Chalmers and Tompkins arrived just before the time set for a cannibal feast and that they were killed for that purpose. The skull of Chalmers was recovered, but the natives refused to give up that of Tompkins. In one village 700 skulls.

Miss Agnes Adams Under Arrest for Theft of Diamonds.

Tearfully Admits Guilt When She Is Taken to the City Prison.

Sorrow's crown of sorrow received its final thorn last night when Agnes Adams, whose entire twenty-two years of life have been a thrall to misery, was locked up in the City prison charged with grand larceny. Impelied by an unaccountable impulse, which she attempted neither to condone nor explain, she stole from the apartments of Mrs. Gisen, who lives at the Giadstone, on the corner of Polk and Eddy streets, a diamond ring and a brooch valued at $100.

Eddy streets, a diamond ring and a brooch valued at $100.

She sobbingly admitted the crime as she sat in the prison matron's room with her tear-stained face bowed in her tiny hands. "I don't know what caused me to do it," she said. "It must have been the devil, I suppose. I was not in want—in actual want, that is, and I had no notion of disposing of the jewelry. Mrs. Gilsen has been more than good to me. She was my only friend in the whole city, and to think that I should rob her. My God, to what have I come at last!"

The prisoner has scarcely emerged from the shadows of that terribie day when her father, Rev. Charies G. Adams, shot and killed Dr. John G. Jessup at Berkeley, June 18, 1901. Her suffering at the hands of her drink-crazed father, an Episcopalian clergyman who had been unfrocked after many years of intemperance, moved Dr. Jessup to interfere in her behalf. She pleaded with him not to enter the room where her father lay, but he brushed her frail form aside and went in, only to receive his death wound. It was mainly the daughter's testimony on the witness stand that saved the aged clergyman from a felon's fate and tempered the verdict of the jury so that he was adjudged insane. He is now confined in the Napa Insane Asylum.

"Then you know that?" she sobbed, felon's fate and tempered the verdict of the jury so that he was adjudged insane. He is now confined in the Napa Insane Asylum.

"Then you know that?" she sobbed, when asked if she were not the daughter of Rev. Charles G. Adams. "I had hoped at least that my identity in this connection might remain hidden, if for nothing more than my little brother's sake. All of my friends will now know my disgrace, and I shall never again be able to face them. Into this unhappy life of mine will there never come one ray of sunshine? More than all else I feel for the man whom I have promised to marry. Whether or not this terrible event will cause him to waver in his loyalty to me I cannot say, but oh! I hope not. He knows me best of all, and knowing, he may find in his heart a pardon for this unaccountable action of mine."

Mrs. Gilsen and her husband visited the prison last night and expressed the greatest compassion for the prisoner. She said she had no intention of prosecuting the unfortunate girl and her only object in having her arrested was to secure the return of the jewelry. She has aided Miss Adams in various ways and was endeavoring to secure her a position at the time of the theft. Both roomed in the same hotel and the girl was allowed access to Mrs. Gilsen's apartments.

Miss Adams says she has been living on allowances sent from the East by her father's relatives. She has an uncle, W. J. Adams, a merchant of this city, but she says she has never received any assistance from him. Her little brother, 14 years of age, is dependent upon her, and she seems devotedly attached to him. She was a student at the University of California for several years.

A verdict of suicide was rendered also in the case of Emile Servetti, a bartender, who was found asplyxlated in his room at 1200½ Stockton street yesterday morning. The prisoners held up Demetrius Christian at the corner of Bush street and Bush place March 10 and took $21.50 and a watch and chain from him. Christian notified Policeman Mulcahy of the robbers, and the patrolman overtook the robbers at the crossing of Bush street and Grant avenue. He ordered them to stop, and while he was searching Garner, Cole placed a revolver against Mulcahy's neck and made him throw up his hands. Garner took Mulcahy's revolver from him. The footpads were arrested later by Mulcahy and Policeman C. Peters.

The happy bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McGinnis (nee Hasiehurst), have returned from their wedding trip through Southern California. They are temporarily residing with their sister, Mrs. Louis Thors, until their new home is completed. The host of beautiful and costly wedding presents from friends in the East as well as on the coast will equip the young couple handsomely at the beginning of their new life. It will be remembered that the wedding took place at St. Dominic's Church on the 2d of this month, and the affair was one of the most delightful and elaborate of the season. The music was especially fine, Mrs. F. Rurmann, a relative of the groom, from St. Louis, giving a brilliant rendition of Millard's "Ave Maria" during a part of the ceremony, assisted by Hamilton Howe, organist. The bride is a sister of Dr. A. O. Haslehurst, W. W. Haslehurst and Mrs. Louis Thors of this city. The groom is a member of the firm of Metzger & Franklin, a prominent member of the Olympic Club and past president of Alcatraz Parlor of Native Sons. JUNE NUMBER OF erate. Mrs. Pinkham Asks Tired Women to Write Her for Advice.

In the vast retail establishments of large cities, many women are employed as saleswomen.

Employers Should be More Consid-

SALESWOMEN.

Men formerly held the positions that women now hold, and while women's organism is less strong than men's, they are expected to do the same work. Their duties compel them to be on their feet from morning to night, and many of them, in a short time, contract those distressing complaints called "female diseases."

Then occur irregularities, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, indigestion, leucorrhœa, general debility, and nervous pros-

They are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness.

In such cases there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. The following letters prove this. They also prove the value of Mrs. Pink ham's advice.

"I Can Work Every Day in the Week Now."

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I write this letter for you to publish for the benefit of poor, suffering women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a great deal of good. I have taken three bottles and feel like a new woman. When I began the use of your medicine I was hardly able to be up; could not do half a day's work. I ached from head to foot, was almost crazy, had those bearing-down pains, and stomach was out of order. Now all of these troubles have left me and I can work every day in the week and not feel tired."—Mrs. Jennie Freeman, 402 Pennsylvania Ave., Lima, Ohio.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have read with interest your advice to others so much that I thought I would write to you for I have been suffering for a long time. This I did some time ago. "Now I can hardly find words to thank you for your wonderful Vegetable Compound and advice.

"I was in a terrible state, every part of my body ached, was very nervous, had hysterical spells. I think I would have become insane had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Your medicine has cured me and I cannot express my thanks."—Miss Hattie DeGroat, Succasunna, N.J. (March 8, 1901.)

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other person can give such helping advice to women who are sick as can Mrs. Pinkham, for none have had such a great experience-her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice free-if you are sick write her-you are foolish if you don't.

F. L. Putnam, deputy assessor, secured a warrant from Judge Cabaniss yesterday for the arrest of Charles Mattheas, cigar manufacturer, on a charge of violating section 434 of the Penal Code by refusing to give him the names and residences of his employes when requested to do so. A similar case against James McNab of McNab & Smith, draymen, was dismissed by Judge Cabaniss some days ago. Obstructing the Street.

Warrants were issued yesterday by Judge Cabaniss on complaint of W. H. Griffin, inspector for the Board of Public Works, for the arrest of David Devoto, president, and A. B. Webb, secretary of the Union Wood Works, on a charge of obstructing the foot of Third street with two buildings and cordwood. They were two buildings and cordwood. They were arrested and released on bail. The case is to be made a test one.
