TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.—At a meeting of the friends of the late Rev. Daniel Slattery, held in Marysville, the following was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, it has pleased God to take from our midst in the height of his usefulness the Rev. D. Slattery, his friends and admirers are requested to contribute for the purpose of erecting a suitable monument to his memory.

The following named gentlemen will receive subscriptions in their respective localities, and hand the amount to Very Rev. James Croke and Rev. Thomas Dalton, who are hereby appointed a committee of management.

San Francisco—J. G. Byrne.
Sacramento—John Ryan.
Marysville—J. H. Gillmore, Mich'lo'Conner.
Grass Valley—Michael Cobert.
French Corral—Thomas Fitzsimmons.
Oroville—Thomas Hawkins.
Timbuctoo—Jesse O'Brien, Patrick Keganan.
Camptonville—Mr. McAfferty.
Nicolaus—D. Mahony.

AFFECTING SCENE.—The Marysville Democrat, of Saturday, relates the following affecting incident:

As the coffin was being borne from the Church, yesterday, containing the remains of Father Slattery, preparatory to interment, one of the brothers of the deceased, overcome with the intense feeling which had for hours paled his face and shaken his frame, fell to the floor in a swoon. Proper remedies being used by Dr. Reardon who was in attendance, he was restored to his senses and to something approaching his ordinary state of health. The sight of his tearful but agonizing grief was heart-rending to behold.

ORLINSKI.—Speaking of the capture of a man at Forest City, answering the description of the notorious Orlinski, the Mirror says:

Orlinski, when last heard of, was down in Mexico, and held the position of Lieutenant (so we are told) in the Mexican army, whether Constitutional or Liberal we cannot say. He may have been killed ere this, for ought we know, in some one of the many engagements between contending armies in that distracted country, or he may be the captain of some band of robbers, but that he would be such an egregious ass as to come back to California, we cannot believe. Orlinski is too smart for that.

WRECK OF THE JOHN L. THAYER.—Our readers will recollect that the large clipper ship John L. Thayer, of New York, was burned at Duck Island, (Isle de Patos) in the Gulf of California, somewhat over a year ago. Some of the large and valuable water tanks which she had on board were recovered not long since, and renewed efforts are now being made by means of submarine armor and diving apparatus to recover the anchors, chains and rigging of the vessel not damaged by immersion in salt water.

ON GOOD TERMS.—The two Democratic candidates for the Assembly from this and Colusa county, both reside in the town of Colusa, and both are physicians, and the only ones in the place. They could not both leave home at once; for fear of sickness, so it was arranged that Dr. Durst was to remain and take care of Dr. Spalding's patients while the latter started out on an electioneering tour. As soon as he returns he will take charge of Durst's business, and let that gentleman have a chance to talk with the peeps.—[Red Bluff Beacon.]

GAVE HIMSELF UP.—Mr. Linus, who shot and wounded a man named Jefferson, at Petaluma, some weeks ago, and escaped, has gone back to that place and surrendered himself to the authorities. An examination was had before Justice Hayden, resulting in the holding of the prisoner for trial. Bail was fixed at $1,000. No difficulty was experienced in finding good and reliable persons to become sureties.

MAN SHOT.—The Marysville Democrat learns from the agent of the Pioneer Express that a man named Daily was found dead, on the 10th instant, four miles beyond Jamison City, with a bullet hole through his head and another through his neck. It was supposed that he had $600 with him when shot. His horse and money were taken away by the murderer or murderers.

FROST.—The Placerville Democrat of the 12th says that for several mornings past the house tops and sidewalks have been covered with a beautiful coating of sparkling frost, to the great disgust of bare-footed urchins and damage of late fruits.

THE "DESERT SHIP" A FAILURE.—The camel express which started from Los Angeles for Mohave, after going one hundred miles, gave out, the animal dying under the rider. The impression is that the camel was in too high flesh, and the drive too severe whilst in this condition.

FIRE.—St. Mary's Hall, San Francisco, a young ladies' seminary, kept by Rev. Dr. Ver Mehr and wife, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday evening. Loss, $3,000 to $4,000—mostly covered by insurance.

A VARIED ENTERTAINMENT.—Rowena Granice advertised at Forbestown that she would give Shakesperian readings, to conclude with the song of "Bobbing Around."

BURNED TO DEATH.—We are called upon to record another fatal result of the use of explosive fluids, and one which should serve as a warning against the introduction of such burning material into families. A young and promising son of Mr. Howard, (of the firm of Howard & Bliss,) aged four and a half years, died at noon on yesterday from the effects of an explosion of burning fluid. The little fellow had been in the habit of observing the use of burning fluid by his father in kindling fires; and yesterday morning, while his mother was engaged in household duties, he volunteered to build a fire, and following the example of his father, took a can containing about a gallon of burning fluid, and while pouring some of it upon the fuel which was partially ignited, the fluid took fire and the can exploded. The boy was completely enveloped in flames, when his mother, hearing his screams, rushed to his rescue, and was herself severely burned. Mr. Weller, who was near by at the time of the accident, endeavored to save the little fellow and was badly burned. The boy died about noon yesterday, suffering terribly from the burns he had received. We are informed that Mr. Bliss (a partner of Mr. Howard) lost a sister some two months since from the effects of a similar accident. A warning is thus afforded to all who are accustomed to the use of explosive fluids.—[Stockton Argus, Oct. 13th.]

UNCLE GWIN AS A SOCIAL CUS.—During the brief period of our good uncle's stay in Quincy, he had frequent occasions to ask his friends to join him in a social glass, but so far as we are informed, only one of them reciprocated. On Tuesday morning, bright and early, as the pious old soul was promening the porch of the American, inhaling the fresh breeze of dewy morn, and, perhaps, estimating the chances of skulking into the back door of heaven from the summit of some one of the adjacent hills, to the discomfiture of the devil, he was hailed from the opposite side of the street, when the following colloquy ensued:

Groggy individual—"I say, old fellow, come over here."

The dignified Senator preserved a dignified silence.

Groggy—"I say, old fellow, come over here and take an eye opener."

Senator—"I never drink before breakfast."

Groggy—"D—n it, old fellow, I went to hear you speak last night. Come over and take a cigar."

The novelty of the idea seemed to please the Hon. Senator, and so he crossed the street and took a whiskey cocktail and a cigar, the first instance on record, we believe, of an office-seeker drinking at the expense of his constituents.—[Plumas Argus.]

ANOTHER FILIBUSTER EXPEDITION.—A dispatch from Los Angeles to the Alta, dated October 10th, says: We learn from Mr. W. S. Morrow, who arrived in this city on Monday last from the quartz mines in San Diego county, that a company of filibusters, well armed and numbering about forty men, passed his camp about the 2d inst. Their destination was Lower California, and their mission supposed to be the capture and murder of Gov. Esparso. After leaving Mr. Morrow's camp, they repaired to the ranch of Mr. Bandini, in Lower California, where they arrived having fifty Indian recruits who were also well armed. They made a demand of Mr. Bandini for some horses, which being refused, six shooters were drawn, and three horses taken by force. Those who made their appearance at Mr. M.'s camp were Mexicans and Californians. It is supposed that a majority of them were citizens of Los Angeles county. It is also supposed that the leaders and others of the band were relatives of some desperadoes who were recently executed in Lower California, under the order of Gov. Esparso. They seek this method of avenging their death.

THE PATIENT GARDENER.—There is an important part of agriculture not commonly represented in State Fairs. We refer to the "ranchos" and gardens of the mountains which are a source of immense profit to the cultivators. Small flats and steep hill-sides which formerly produced only brambles and weeds, have been converted to orchards and gardens, which are rapidly enriching their owners. Some of these little farms of a few acres are worth several thousand dollars each, and yield a greater percentage on the investment than any other business of the neighborhood. In 1851 an Italian in one of the mountain counties "took up" a miserable looking lot on the hill-side, whose only redeeming feature was a small spring. A few acres were enclosed with a rude fence, a cabin was built, and the work of cultivation commenced. Nine years after we found the same man there, rich, prosperous, and independent; he had built a fine house, walled up the hill-side in terraces, the small enclosure was filled with fruits, and he said he would not "sell out" for less than ten thousand dollars.—[Mirror.]

HIS DESTINY.—It is stated that when Walker was here, in March and April, 1859, he was merely on a tour of observation to see once more the golden land of California, under the belief that after leaving it that time, he should make a raid upon Central America which would prove fatal to himself. He so expressed himself, and remarked that whatever the result might be, he felt that his destiny was to lead the Anglo-Saxon race toward Spanish America; that his object would be accomplished within a few years, though he probably would not live to witness its consummation. The last part of the premonition has been verified, but the Anglo-Saxonizing of Central America is a thing which few, if any living, will behold. The climate and all nature is against it. A person in this city, who was once associated with Walker, says that as he was but an instrument in the hands of others, the attempts upon Central America will not cease with the death of the leader.—[Alta.]
