Resolutions Ignore the President. T. R.'s Name Also Left Out to Make Peace

CALIFORNIANS HAVE A ROW

Former Governor Pardee and Judge Short of Fresno in Bitter Clash

ST. PAUL, Sept. 8 .- Gifford Pinchot and J. B. White, chairman of the executive committee, declined to contest for the presidency of the conservation congress. Henry H. Wallace of Des Moines was chosen president, and D. Austin Latchaw of Kansas City treasurer. Thomas Shipp was re-elected secretary.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 8.—The committee on resolutions of the National Conservation congress was in a turmoil, or verging on it, all day today. Eventually the committee agreed to recommend a night session of the congress and a platform demanding parts. gress, and a platform demanding national control of natural resources.

The big fight of the committee meeting, which it was promised would be carried to the floor of the convention at the night session, concerned the mention of the name of Theodore Roosevelt as the originator of the polynomiator of the convention at th icies recommended by the committee and ignoring that of Mr. Taft.

The sessions of the committee were executive, but reports of the warfare leaked out. Violent speeches were made, demanding the policies advocated by the congress not only were those of Mr. Roosevelt, but those of Presiof Mr. Roosevelt, but those of President Taft, and that the manner of the pping. latter should be specifically mentioned.
This occurred during the afternoon when there were but eighteen members of the committee present, under the chairmanship of former Governor Pardee of California. The vote to include the name of President Taft was lost,

A new attempt was then made to eliminate what was said to be an in-justice to the president and after three ballots a motion to eliminate the name of Roosevelt also carried. new attempt was then made to

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

The resolutions as adopted by the committee declare that the natural resources of the country belong to the people, approve the withdrawal of public lands, favor co-operative action on the parts of the states and the federal government, looking to the preservation and better utilization of the soils, and approve the continuance of the control of the national forests by the federal government.

The fight for the insertion of the name of President Taft started originally at a meeting of state conservation commissioners. At this meeting Henry Hardtner of Louisiana declared the conservation principles favored by the congress were no more those of Roosevelt than of Taft. He asserted with much heat that the congress was much less a conservation congress than a straight political meeting, the business of which seemed to be to exalt Roosevelt at the expense of Taft.

The state commissioners thereupon voted to demand that Taft's name be

Mr. Pardee and Mr. Short, represent-ing some California power companies, clashed during the session of the com-mittee. Chairman Pardee surrendered his chair and advancing to Judge Short shook his finger at the latter and said: "You've had your say about state ontrol. Now let me say to you, Judge Short, that if there is to be a discussion of this question from the Califor-nia standpoint there is one more man here from the Golden state who will be heard. I want to tell you that no man, even though he be from Fresno, and six feet tall, can get away with a bluff and I am going to call you. Some people who live in California have cried for state rights dishonestly and I don't mean that for any gentleman in this room. Some have been only fooled, but I want to say to you that wher you give into the power of state gov-ernments the right to dispose of its re-sources as ours have been in California, you give into the hands of preda-tory wealth and great corporations the natural resources of this country. You see the result of that in California."

TALK ABOUT CALIFORNIA Turning to the committee as a whole the former governor raised his hands high in the air and shouted: There is no man in this country who has greater respect for constitutional rights than I. I would not take from Judge Short's companies the powers they have got.

"They're yours," he said, turning to the California attorney, "they're yours because you've got them, but by the help of God you shall have no more than you've got; you shall not saddle on my children and my children's children a debt which they shall pay all their lives. Thus far shalt thou go, and no farther."

"When it comes down to the question the default of the default steels—Miller company."

When it comes down to the question of whther the public service corporations shall use us—when it comes down to the question of whether Judge Short's companies shall use us, by the eternal, you'll find me fighting now Figures compiled by Accountant Eland fighting when the last ditch is liott show that the liabilities of the

EXPOSITION BILLS PASS; VOTERS TO ACT ON MEASURE

Legislature Removes Obstacles to Raising of $10,000,000 for Panama Fair

Minor Amendments to Tax Lexy Plan Made-Session Will Adjourn Today

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 8.—The last obstacle to the taking of a vote in California at the next general election on the proposal to raise $5,000,000 by a special tax and $5,000,000 by mu-nicipal bonds in San Francisco for the purposes of the Panama-Pacific expo-sition in that city in 1915 was removed today when the special session of the legislature passed the requisite bills providing for the submission of two constitutional amendments. The signature of the governor is not necessary.

The final action came late in the day after a love feast in the assembly, during which Governor Gillett was asked to address the house. During this period of speechmaking the committee in charge of the senate bill the before the assembly on the bill then before the assembly on the special tax levy amendment completed its work and reported amendments which were at once agreed to by the senate. At the same time the senate concurred in the assembly bill relative to the alteration of the San Francisco charter to permit the bond issue, and the work of the session was done. The assembly amendments on the tax levy bill provided that all exposition property should be exempted from taxation during the time the ex-PAGE 6 position was in progress and empowered the governor to fill vacancies on PAGE 6 expenditure of the fund resulting from PAGE 8 the tax.

GOVERNOR MAKES SPEECH During his address to the assembly Governor Gillett said: "This is an honor I did not expect, and I cannot honor I did not expect, and I cannot tell you how greatly I appreciate the compliment. It is true, as stated in the resolution, that the state has profited greatly through this last administration, that its institutions have advanced in efficiency, and that those intrusted with the cares of the various departments of the government have done their duty in a manner calculated to encourage respect. I am culated to encourage respect. I am not responsible alone for this result, for while this administration is Republican, I had also the help of Democrats who assisted in every reasonable request. "I complimented you two years ago on the splendid legislation you had passed, and now, as I am about to retire to private life, I cannot refrain from expressing the feeling of gratitude and appreciation that arises out of these pleasant recollections.

"You have acted at all times as men who had the good of California at heart, and this statement applies as well to the secretary of state, superintendent of public instruction and all the other officials associated with the administration. California is a state yet young in development of its resources, and the next legislature will have much to do with this development. The constitutional amendments you are considering will place California more prominently and more fa-vorably before the world.

"I thank you for the great work you have done in the past, and I express my hope that you will continue to equal this record in the future."

At the conclusion of his address Governor Gillett was heartly applauded by the legislators and spectators. tators.

ONE NEGATIVE VOTE Half a dozen assemblymen called on by Speaker Stanton to join the love feast, Grove L. Johnson of Sacramento being the last speaker. He paid humorous tribute to many of his fellow members. At the conclusion of his speech the amended senate bill was returned from printers and promptly passed, 72 to 1. The one negative vote, the only one against either proposition, was cast by Oscar Gibbons, Democrat, of San Luis Obispo, who had been instructed and voted in accordance with his in-The bill was sent to the senate, and concurrence in the amendments came at once, which settled that measure. The charter amendment proposition for San Francisco finally adopted was the assembly bill which was concurred in by the senate late in the day. By this means each house has the honor of fathering one of the measures.

At the conclusion of the work in the lower house adjournment was taken until tomororw morning, while the senate reconvened at 8 o'clock. Adojurnment sine die will be taken tomorrow, probably within a few min-utes of the time the two houses are called to order.

Illinois Man Takes Snub Calmly and Refuses to Make

Any Comment

(Associated Press) CHICAGO, Sept. 8 .- Colonel Theodore Roosevelt today barred William Lorimer, junior United States senator from Illinois, from the Hamilton club banquet at the Congress hotel by refusing to sit at the same table.

The occurrence startled politicians here and over the country. The unprecedented innovation of denying one of its own members the privilege of attending its own banquet came with abruptness from the colonel. The Hamilton club delegation, headed by former Judge John J. Batten, joined Colonel Roosevelt at the fair grounds at Freeport, Ill., shortly after noon, The colonel shook hands heartily with each member of the delegation and at once began questioning them concerning the banquet.
"Is Speaker Cannon to be there?"

he asked.

"Yes," Mr. Batten replied. "He has accepted the invitation."

"How about Senator Lorimer?" he

"Senator Lorimer is a member of the "Senator Lorimer is a member of the club," he was told, "and he has accepted an invitation to the dinner."
"Then I must decline to go," said Colonel Roosevelt, adding that he would feel the same about the presence of Senator Lorimer as he would if sitting down with members of the Illinois legislature who are under indictment in the graft investigation.

The committee members looked their amazement, and finally after some hesitation informed their guest some hesitation informed their guest that they would go back to Chicago and tell Senator Lorimer his views.
