C. E. Lesson for April 3, 1910: Christ Our Teacher. Consecration Meeting. John XII: 44-50.

This is the place where Thou didst bid me stand
And work and wait;
I thought it was a plot of fertile land
To tend and cultivate.
Flower and fruit, I said, are surely there
In rich earth stored,
And I will make of it a garden fair
For Thee, O God!

Lo! It is set where only bleak skies frown,
With rank weeds sown;
And over it the fragrant thistle-down
Like dust is blown.
Long have I labored, but the barren soil
No crop will yield;
This have I won for all my countless toil—
A bare ploughed field.

Nay, even here, where thou didst strive
And weep
Some sunny morn

Every one of us wants to get as much out of this life as possible, and Christ is ready to help us each one in our individual struggle. No matter how well versed you are in affairs, no matter how well educated you are, it is always possible to add to your store of knowledge. It has been said that a wise man is always willing to learn, and that only a fool cannot be taught. In selecting a school or teacher for yourself or someone else you usually select the one that will train you best for the future you have chosen for yourself. You choose the school which specializes in the branch which will be of the most assistance to you. This world is a great school with different teachers. We are placed here by God and given the free choice of our teacher. We can take up worldly subjects, those things which hurt us physically, morally and spiritually, we can take up moral ethics and leave Christ out of it, or we can go to school under Him and learn from Him. If we wish to spend eternity with Christ the best way to prepare for it is to go to school under Him on earth. If we are willing to take the consequences, whatever they may be for our course, we can follow other teachers at variance with Him.

The entrance examination to Christ's school is belief. There is but one text book—the Bible, but the treats of all subjects necessary for promotion into heaven. There is but one term—our life time. Our associates are all kindred spirits in that they have the same purposes in this life, and the same aims for life to come. Every submission to discipline increases our love for our Teacher; every obedience makes us wiser. Indeed, every grade or department of His school is designed for our special benefit. And the compensation of the Teacher, what is it? Why, these faithful lives of ours which might, and ought to be a thousand times better.

Christ can teach us in a great many different ways. We have a large number of His sayings recorded, and no philosopher ever reached greater heights than He, no lawyer ever produced better arguments. He can teach us how to live our earthly life so that we get the most out of it, and He teaches us our relation to God. He teaches us how to make earthly friends and how to pray to the Father who is a friend of all. He teaches us how to live and how to die.

One of the greatest lessons Christ teaches us is Devotion. Christ came to earth with one idea, and although it took thirty years before the time was ripe to have that idea fulfilled, yet He faithfully and patiently devoted Himself to the waiting. At the age of twelve although He was able to talk with the Doctors in the Temple, He knew that the time was not ready for Him to begin His ministry, and so He very patiently drew Himself back to His own village and awaited the time when God was ready to bless His beloved Son. But after He did enter into His ministry we see a life wholly devoted to the work He is doing. He allows no outside influences to carry Him aside from His purposes and allows no discouragements to deter Him from doing His Father's business. Even unto the prayer in Gethsemane when He says "Thy will not mine be done?" He shows His entire devotion to the Father and the cause for which He lived and died. From such a life as this we can take a very profitable lesson. As Christ set His standards high, we can strive to attain that high perfection, and although we will fail far short sometimes the effort will have helped us. We can be as devoted, as faithful in our everyday tasks as in the big things. It is just such faithful and devoted men that make any cause successful, and Christianity needs more and more of them. Each of us have a certain work which is intended for us to do, and no one else can take his place. Our mission may not seem as high to us as some one else's, but it is not what we do, but how we do it that counts with Christ.

The lesson of kindness shines forth all through Christ's life. We never read of His speaking one harsh word throughout His life. He always had a helping word or deed for those that came to Him. He always healed those who had faith to believe that He could. He never condemned, always forgave. When they brought the woman, found in sin, to Him, although by the Jewish law she should have been stoned to death, yet Christ taught them a higher law, the law of forgiveness and told them that he who is without sin should cast the first stone. If Christ is as willing to forgive us how ought we to treat our fellows. Ought we not to forgive them even as Christ has forgiven us? If Christ said He was not come to condemn but to save, by what authority can we, so much lower than Christ, take the responsibility of calling a soul lost. Christ never gives a man up, and we ought not to either. Even unto His dying hour, when He promised the thief salvation from the cross did Christ's kindness show itself. Always thinking of others even though He were in His dying pain.

A final examination will come to all who are in this school of Christ. Alone we must enter the judgment hall, there to give an account of the result of our study. There will be no chance of "cribbing." No excuses will be accepted, neither will there be any opportunity to blame another for our poor scholarship. At this time nothing will seem so important as some of the lessons we shirked entirely or got out of the easiest and quickest way. The all-seeing God demands sincerity. This final examination will be conducted upon the principles given in Christ's "Commencement Sermon" in the Gospel of Matthew. And

"Though thy name be spread abroad,
Like winged seed from shore to shore,
What thou art before thy God,
That thou art, and nothing more."

Help us, O Thou most merciful Father, to learn the lessons thy Son has taught. Help us to train ourselves here for the nobler things Thou hast in store for us above. Give us sufficient strength to learn our lessons, and to shun those things which will injure us in Thy sight. Bless those that Thou hast set aside to teach us Thy will. This we ask in Jesus Name. Amen.

JUST IN TIME

Some Wilmington People May Wait Till It's Too Late.
Don't wait until too late.
Be sure to be in time.
Just in time with kidney pills
Means curing the back
Before curkache becomes chronic;
Before serious urinary troubles set in.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this. Here is Wilmington testimony to prove it.

Mrs. Mary T. Lamplugh, 1002 W. Second St., Wilmington, Del., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been so satisfactory that I am glad to recommend them for the benefit of other kidney sufferers. I was afflicted with a severe pain across the small of my back, at times extending into my hips. I felt tired and lame and my limbs were very weak. Despite my advanced age, the contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Danforth's Drug Store, gave me prompt relief. I have had no return of backache and my kidneys have been in a normal condition. I could not be induced to publicly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills if I were not convinced of their great merit."

ELKTON, Md., March 29.—A jury in the Cecil County Court awarded Joseph Mackin, of Havre de Grace, the sum of $9000 against Eyre-Shoemaker Construction Company, of Philadelphia, for injuries received on November 7, 1907, while working for the company in building the new Baltimore and Ohio Railroad bridge at Perryville.

SHAPE PLANS FOR BIG LABOR PARTY

Gompers, Addressing Farmers Union in May, Will Propose a Political Alliance

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Believing that the life of organized labor is in jeopardy, that there are being formulated by the possessors of great wealth plans for the extinction of all labor organizations, bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are about to take steps for the organization of a party composed of laboring men and farmers.

The Executive Council of the Federation has been in executive session here, discussing recent events in which labor has figured. So serious have the leaders of the movement considered the matter that both day and night sessions have been held.

While the leaders of organized labor have been trying to bring themselves to the point of forming a party of their own, similar to the Labor party in England, the Farmers' Union, whose membership is beyond 4,000,000, has been active along the same lines. In the last campaign members of the Federation and the union lined up for Mr. Bryan. The result of that election has convinced both organizations that laws they deem necessary to their welfare cannot be obtained from existing parties.

In the last eighteen months labor unions all over the United States have adopted resolutions praying the Federation to organize a national party. All along President Gompers has endeavored to keep labor out of all direct connection with any particular party, but now he says that the drastic measures asked for by the various unions of the Federation will have to be adopted, that the time has come when organized labor will have to take such a step to preserve it and its interests.

It can be stated with authority that on May 8, this year, President Gompers at the time he addresses the Farmers' Union, in St. Louis, will announce the plans of the Federation, and suggest a plan for the consolidation of the two organizations for political purposes.

AIM BLOW AT SHORT MEASURE BERRY BOXES

WASHINGTON, March 29.—A bill introduced in the Senate by Mr. Lodge prohibits the manufacture or use of short measure boxes for berries and small fruits.

The bill provides that every fruit container must be a quart or some multiple thereof. There is no prohibition against using deceptive boxes when fruit is being shipped beyond the confines of the United States.

Any person convicted of using short measure fruit containers will be fined $100 for the first offense and $500 for each succeeding violation of the proposed law.

The bill will afford the Committee on Standards, Weights and Measures an opportunity to have its first meeting in many years. Senator Page is its chairman.
