

JUDGE BARHORST DOES HIS DUTY TO RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

If you suffer from Rheumatism and don't read this advice, then the terrible disease must have robbed you of your power to be fair to yourself. Read it:

"I, John Barhorst, Justice of the Peace of McLean Township, Ft. Laramie, Ohio, do certify that after treatment by three doctors without result, I have been cured of a very bad case of Rheumatism by using two bottles of RHEUMA. It is now two years since I used the remedy, and I am still as well as ever. Previous to using RHEUMA I was a cripple, walking with crutches, and I feel it my duty to let other sufferers from Rheumatism know what it will do. The result seems almost miraculous to me. I have advised RHEUMA to at least a dozen persons, and each one speaks as highly of it as I. I will answer any one suffering from the disease if a two-cent stamp is enclosed."—May 31, 1912.

You can secure a bottle of RHEUMA for only 50 cents at N. B. Danforth's and he says if not as advertised, money back. It's just as good for Gout, Arthritis, Lumbago and Sciatica.

EPISCOPALIANS MAY DISCUSS NEW NAME FOR CHURCH

Special to THE EVENING JOURNAL. LEWES, Del., May 12.—At a special meeting of St. Peter's vestrymen and congregation, the following committee was appointed by Bishop Kinsman as rector of the parish: Charles H. Maull, secretary; Robert Chambers, treasurer; Harry V. Lyons, junior warden; William P. Orr, senior warden; as the committee on arrangements, Mrs. William P. Orr, Mrs. Charles H. Maull and Miss Helena Mustard; on securing homes for visiting clergy and laymen, Mrs. Clinton Long, Mrs. Louis Chambers and Mrs. Frank McIntyre; committee on refreshments, Mrs. Thomas Virden, Mrs. Thomas Carpenter and Miss Agnes Rench, auxiliary committee to the rector.

Arrangements have been made for the 127th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Delaware at this place on Wednesday, Thursday evening, upon the arrival of the evening train, there will be a "stand up supper" at the rectory and the convention sermon will be preached by the Rt. Rev. F. J. Kinsman, D. D., bishop of the diocese, and an address on "Religious Education" will be delivered by the Rev. William Cleveland Hicks, rector of Emmanuel Church, Cumberland, Md.

On Wednesday a noonday buffet luncheon will be given at the rectory, when hosts and guests of the diocesan convention will have an opportunity to meet and become better acquainted.

The business of the convention will also be transacted in the morning and afternoon sessions. The question of changing the name of the church will more than likely come up for consideration, as the question is stirring both clergy and laymen alike. It is possible that a general archdeacon will be appointed for the whole of the southern part of the State, and the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Behringer, rector of St. John's Baptist Church, at Milton, will probably be appointed archdeacon at the convention.

VETERAN CLOWN WITH THE HAGENBECK-WALLACE SHOW

A funny fellow with Hagenbeck-Wallace circus here May 22.

The average person attending a circus gives little thought to the various methods the clowns use. They think that the clowns troop in and out unceremoniously. Every movement and action of the clown is thought out and carefully rehearsed and rehearsed.

There are fifty clowns with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, which comes to Wilmington Thursday, May 22 for performances at 2 and 8 p. m. These clowns are from 22 to 71 years of age, and their pay runs from $18 to $125 per week. The oldest clown in the list is Al North, a veteran of the flapper and firecracker, who was once a contemporary of Dan Rice, the most famous of the ancient buffoons. He has appeared as a clown for more than half a century and he has been in the show business seventy-one years, as he was born in the shadow of the big tent. This veteran clown is worth more than a hundred thousand dollars, yet, he is content to spend his last days in making others happy. He has a home in Memphis, Tenn., to which place he journeys back every winter. He has three sons, one of whom has a small circus of his own, another who is a professor in Yale College, and the third, who is a Methodist minister.

WOMAN'S DANGER PERIOD
is said to be from 45 to 50. What should be a most natural change in a woman's life, is, on account of modern methods of living, fraught with most annoying and painful symptoms. Women when passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has proved wonderfully successful in carrying women safely through the change of life.

Many housewives make exchanges of home furnishings through the Wants or realize a fair cash value for discarded goods.—Adv.

May 16. Home-made cakes and candy and fancy articles will be on sale.

Members of the Brotherhood of the church will give a reception on Monday, May 19.

TRY IT! SAYS SAGE TEA DARKENS AND BEAUTIFIES FADED, GRAY HAIR

Mixed With Sulphur Makes Hair Soft and Luxuriant and Removes Dandruff.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is coming in vogue again, says a well-known downtown druggist. It was our grandmother's treatment and hundreds of women and men too, are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is the most popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply dampen a soft brush or sponge with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight, and by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application it is restored to its natural color.

What delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair they say it produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, it prevents dandruff; itching scalp and falling hair. Here, you gray-haired folks, get busy: look years younger.

FORBIDDEN

M. C. Robbins.

Forbidden—yes, so well I know,
The things we love so much.
That word is written o'er them sure,
'Tis death if we but touch.
We look about us in this life,
Temptations round us lie,
And oh! we find it hard sometimes
To pass them safely by.

You know Eve was in the garden
home,
The serpent trailed its path,
And since that time humanity
is subject to God's wrath.
The woman was the tempter,
She said "just reach and try,
Eat of the fruit of that one tree,
Thou shalt not surely die."

But retribution came just then
And driven from their home,
They fled, poor wanderers on the earth,
So henceforth they must roam.
So to posterity they gave
The heritage of pain,
Now prayer and penance is our hope
To paradise regain.

I know 'tis hard sometimes to walk
Right in the path that's straight,
But then our recompense will come
If faithfully we wait.
And look not on forbidden fruit,
We well know it is sweet,
Perhaps some day when it is ripe
'T will fall right at our feet.

Forbidden—yes, that word is traced
On what we want so much,
But when we reach to grasp them
If faithfully we wait.
In Eden, then, the serpent came
And said "reach forth and stp."
But just one touch—sin was revealed,
'T was ashes on their lips.

Our heart strings quiver in great pain,
But then some things are not for us,
And we would suffer much,
If we should grasp them, though so near.
No, we must walk right by,
Must close our eyes and pass straight
on,
And from the temptation fly.

CRAZY MEN CANNOT GET POSTMASTERSHIPS

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12.—Fourth-class postmasters must be able to read, to count accurately the money they receive, to measure the cloth on the floors of their offices, and to write at least a decipherable letter once in a while, to be taken under the wing of the civil service. In effect, they must have a reasonable understanding of "reads," "rites" and "rhythmic," according to regulations issued by the Postoffice Department.

A person, to take the civil service examination, must be a citizen of the United States, over 21 years old, and must reside in the community served by the office he aspires to fill. No one will be eligible who is crazy, a former convict, who has been honorably discharged from the army or navy, or who is disposed, even occasionally, to reduce the visible supply of strong drink.

All examinations will be conducted by the Civil Service Commission and will be not for appointment generally, but for a particular office. The eligibility for appointment after examination will be for one year only, except in special instances. The examinations will not be severe, but will be sufficient to test the business capacity of the applicants.

KENT GRANGERS WILL HAVE NEW HALL AT DOVER

DOVER, Del., May 12.—State Capital Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, of Dover, one of the most active granges in the State, held a decidedly interesting meeting Saturday afternoon, the greater part of which was taken up in the conferring of the third and fourth degrees of the order.

Aside from the degree work, the main topic of interest was the new grange hall soon to be erected beside the Federal building here, and for which the Dover Grange has been assiduously working for over a year. Having the assurance of the government that this hall will be donated to the town of Dover, with the ally now between the Federal building and the lot on which the new hall will be erected, used for the purpose of extending Lockerman street, the grange is hastening plans for the new building, the contract for which will shortly be given out.

The building as now proposed will have a seating capacity of 400, with a balcony suitable for any ordinary entertainment or gathering. With the location in the very centre of the business and residential section, it cannot help but be a paying proposition, which the grange has in mind.

BUILDING BRAINY MEN

Perhaps you can't build brains with food alone—but a food that supplies, in digestible form, every element needed to build a perfect human body must help some—and that's the reason, no doubt, that cereals have taken the place of desserts in the students' dining hall at Harvard University. The food to study on, to work on, to grow on, is contains all the body-building material in the whole wheat grain made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. It forms deliciously nourishing desserts when combined with berries or other fresh fruits.

Shredded Wheat

Two Biscuits, heated in the oven to restore crispness, and then covered with strawberries or other fresh fruits and served with milk or cream will supply all the nutriment needed for a half day's work or play.
