

Nation's Wealth and Trust Companies

United States Far Outstrips All Other Countries of the World in Material Possessions. Potential Part Played by One Form of Banking. One-fourth of America's Garnered Wealth Held in Trusteeship by Trust Companies.

Wealth is definite, positive and measurable. A practical age like the present measures the prosperity of a nation, a State, a corporation and an individual by the accumulation of which each is the possessor. In recent years this nation has been making tremendous strides toward all that makes for material prosperity. The assertion that the United States is the richest nation in the world is no idle boast; it is a well-attested fact. So wide is the margin between our national wealth and that of the nearest rival, Great Britain, that the realm of King George is not even a close second, and France, Germany and Russia are far out-tripped. The figures as compiled for 1912 and, consequently, the latest, fairly dazzle even those who are accustomed to deal with the larger financial statements. For a nation not yet a century and a half old, the United States has an accumulated wealth that is marvelous. The figures of the wealth of nations as tabulated for 1912 by one of the accepted authorities of this country follow:

United States	$130,000,000,000
Great Britain and Ireland	80,000,000,000
France	65,000,000,000
Germany	60,500,000,000
Austria-Hungary	40,000,000,000
Italy	20,000,000,000
Belgium	10,000,000,000
Spain	5,400,000,000
Holland	5,000,000,000
Portugal	2,500,000,000
Switzerland	2,400,000,000

A Wonderful Influence.

The national debt of the United States, October 1, 1912, was $2,096,730,148. Marvelous as are the figures of our wealth as a nation, however satisfactory to our national pride is the comparison with other great countries, the full extent of our financial progress is not understood without reference to that tangible, collateral wealth which is represented in actual money or the equivalent thereof. It is here that the growth of a part of our wonderful banking system proves its influence in the national life. A glance at the above figures show that America's total wealth is $130,000,000,000. Represented in this vast aggregate, how great a part do the 1500 or more trust companies of the nation play? The answer is profoundly impressive.

An Impressive Comparison.

Trust companies guard a treasure conservatively estimated at $35,000,000,000, of which grand total at least $30,000,000,000 represents wealth which the companies protect as trustees and guardians, and the remainder stands for the value of their own banking resources. Thus the trust companies hold in their keeping at least one-fourth of the nation's garnered wealth. A sum equal to more than one-third of the total wealth of Great Britain and Ireland and more than one-half of the wealth of France and Germany is under the control of the American trust companies, and the amount almost equals Russia's entire treasure, and surpasses that of Australia, Italy and the numerous lesser kingdoms.

Why?

One quite naturally inquires? How is it that the trust companies have forged forward at so swift and so substantial a pace? The answer is found in the increasing readiness with which men of wealth and business capacity are making trust companies the executors and trustees of their estates. Assured that their wishes and purposes will be carried out to the letter, knowing that rigid laws and intelligent supervision, under the guidance of the several States, will be followed, and confident that men, specially selected for the service they are to render because of their integrity, and even experience, the possessors of large and even modest fortunes, are giving to the trust companies the care of their estates at death rather than commit them to the hazard of individual control. It is, therefore, not strange that a nation, the wealth of which is represented in a sum so great as to dazzle the average man, finds its prosperity so eloquently reflected in its financial institutions which not only act as bankers but as guardians, custodians and as general watchmen of the products of thrift and foresight. Add to this statistical attestation the additional fact that not one dollar held in trust by the trust companies of America has been lost through the dishonesty of an official, and the integrity of the companies and their worth stand unquestioned.

FASHIONS AND FADS

Snappy looking sailor hats have white hemp brims and puffed black velvet crowns.

Colored eyelid taffete is combined with chiffon and taffeta in the same costumes.

On some of the new white voile dresses for afternoon printed voile is used oddly like a bolero.

The frilly schu of net continues to be the most charming finish for the simple linen frocks.

Blue and green plaids bid fair to be great favorites. Velour checks are another novelty for fall.

Pleatings of net, tulle and maline to be used on summer hats are three to five inches wide.

Summer nightgowns which don't need ironing are of crinkly crepe, pink or blue striped, or all white.

Most of the slashed skirts worn by American women have the slash buttoned over instead of open.

Some of the new flouncies are being cut on the circle. Also, they are made from pleatings. But no matter how many flouncies, the foundation skirts will be narrow.

Some of the new saashes are double faced. Some are tasseled or fringed, and practically all of them are arranged wide around the hips and are knotted at the knees.

"Box back" is a feature in the newest robe waists. The box part is a straight pattern of printed voile down the back the same printed stuff being repeated in front and in collar and cuffs.

The lingerie waist, in spite of all that is said about its going out, is in no such danger. Nothing takes its place, either for summer or winter. Net blouses are even more fashionable than batiste or linen.

TERRIBLE BURNING AND ITCHING

Pimples on Face and Neck. No Rest Night or Day. Itching All the Time. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

35 Walnut Ave., Lebanon, Pa. — "I was troubled with pimples mostly in the face and neck. I had a terrible burning and itching. I lost a lot of sleep and when I would wash my face it would start to burn just as if I had my face in a fire and it would keep on burning for some time. I had no rest night or day, itching all the time. My face would hurt and itch and I would scratch and some of the pimples would open. It was all sticky and I was ashamed to let anybody see me.

"I used some medicine for several weeks and instead of getting better it was worse. Then I got a jar of Cuticura and used two jars of it that gave me relief. My mother bought a jar of — and for a while it did good then the pimples broke out worse than ever. One day a young lady told me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. So I got the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and washed my face good with hot water and Cuticura Soap and then I dried it and used Cuticura Ointment. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me in less than five months." (Signed) Otto Seibold, May 5, 1913.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient when all else has failed. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

Fashion Hints by May Manton

TWO GOWNS FROM ONE DESIGN.

Who, not accustomed to studying such matters, would suppose for an instant that these two gowns were evolved from the same foundation; yet such is the fact. In one case, the blouse is made with a yoke and short sleeves and is worn over the skirt in middy style; in the other, they are cut to the wrists, the blouse is cut a little shorter and is drawn up at the waist line but, while the changes are really simple, the effects are widely different. The skirt is made in five gores and is one of the best possible models to launder and, consequently, it is especially to be considered for the washable fabrics that are in demand for mid-summer. Linen and galatea are favorite materials for making gowns of either sort but the patterns can be put to a great many uses. The loose blouse is a good one for wear over the odd skirt used just as one would a regular Norfolk or middy. The blouse drawn in at the waist line can be worn with any odd skirt just after the manner of a shirt waist quite as well as with a skirt to match. In July, the general tendency is toward the use of cotton and linen materials but women who are preparing for camping will like this gown in khaki or in cotton poplin or perhaps serge, for the nights and mornings are cool in the mountains or at the seashore.

For the medium size, the blouse will require 4 yards of material 27, 2 5-8 yards 36 or 2 1-8 yards 44 inches wide, with 1-2 yard 27 for the collar and cuffs when made of different material; the skirt 1-4 yards 27, 3-4 yards 36 or 44 inches wide. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is 2 yards.

The May Manton pattern of the blouse 7866 is cut in sizes from 36 to 42 inches waist measure. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents for each.

DESIGN BY MAY MANTON. 7866 Middy Blouse, 36 to 42 bust. 7515 Five Gored Skirt, 22 to 32 waist.
