OFFICIAL LIST OF THE KILLED AND WOUNDED.—There will be found an official list of killed and wounded in the 1st Delaware, [illegible]

[illegible] by our enterprising [illegible] Correspondent "M. W. B. S."

THE FARM OF THE LATE GEN. MARTLAND.—The Cecil Whig says that one statement that the Cecil boys have made is, that the 1st Delaware, at the battle of Antietam is a "mattleons lie." They also say that Capt. Pabeto's and his company and Capt. Ford and his company, fought gallantly, and that the 5th Pennsylvania was not in the action. We do not wish to handy words with the Cecil Whig—but we again repeat that the 5th Maryland took a panic and ran at the first fire, leaving the 1st Delaware and 4th New York, (not Pennsylvania) to bear the brunt of the action, with the exception of Capt. FORNEY'S COMPANY, and another company which we were informed by Lieut. Piggott, he may have been Captain Ford's. We excepted Capt. Pabeto's company at the time, and stated they fought gallantly. We did not however, state another thing, which we will now do, and that is, that one half of Captain Pabeto's company were New Castle men, enrolled in this city. We also reiterate that the 5th Maryland were not seen by the 1st Delaware until three days after the fight.—We also reiterate that the 14th Connecticuts which was to support the 1st Delaware, when the 1st were ordered to turn their left, fired into and killed several of them, and then rapidly retreated.

Our account is correct, and if the editor of the Cecil Whig will take the trouble to enquire, he can soon be convinced. Dont ask the runaway Capt. Pabeto's company, or him.

We intend no insult to the citizens of a gallant state whose name, and gallantry, and courage are as it were synonimous terms. But simply to relate a fact. Like the best troops in the world will do at times—they run. But like regular game cocks of the old breed, the 1st Delaware rallied, and hasten to their ancestry. The blood even told in the company of Capt. Pabeto.

NEGROES AT THE DEPOT.

MR. VINCENT:

I wish you would call the attention of the Railroad Company to the necessity of having a separate apartment for negro women at the depot, so that they would not be crowded as much room in the apartment used by the ladies. On Saturday morning last there were eleven negro women, children and all, without seats, while there were many white ladies standing. TAX PAYER.

WILMINGTON, SEPT. 25, 1862.

MR. EDITOR:—

An article appeared some time since in the Delaware Republican on the subject of Charity Hospital, in the city of Wilmington. The writer promised to offer additional remarks in a subsequent number. We trust Benevolence will redeem the promise. The subject is an all important one, and worthy the attention of the entire community. The poor have fallen victims to the pestilence has constituted the wealthy, the stewards of his patrimony, and has informed us that "he that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." If we neglect them, and in the selfishness of our hearts pass them by, we offer an indignity to Him, but if we regard them, supply their necessities, and contribute to their comfort, we virtually do it unto Him. Hear what Christ says: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." The plan proposed by Benevolence to a Christian is ignorant of his duty to his fellow-man, and consequently guilty of a breach of trust to high Heaven.

Will not our citizens move in this matter, seize the suggestion of Benevolence, and erect in this community an institution that shall compare favorably with St. John's Hospital of New-York? Let us but have a mind to the work, and put in requisition the means and a noble edifice will be kindled a fire of true benevolence, whose light shall illume the dark places of human want, and cause the heart of the heathen and afflicted to rejoice with great joy. Let every wealthy man become his own executor, and so dispose his legacies as will bring most comfort to the deserving poor, and peace of mind to himself.

Hoping Benevolence will furnish us with another article on Charity Hospitals, I remain

YOURS, very truly, C. WOOD.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

BUSINESS AND PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.—Mr. Joseph Maybin, of Newark, who enlisted in one of the Pennsylvania Regiments, was taken prisoner by the rebels in one of the recent battles. He is yet held by them.

Summerfield McNichols, son of Dr. James McNichols, of Philadelphia, who formerly resided in this city, was killed at the recent battle of Antietam. He was a member of Company I, 85th Pennsylvania Regiment. The poor youth (he was but 18 years old, and of a manly build) was struck by constant shot, and reduced to a skeleton. He was the first man killed in his company. They had been about five minutes on the ground, when his comrades heard him exclaim "Oh!" and he fell dead beside them. He was one of the few of his company that carried his unpack, when old and strong men had thrown theirs away. He was buried on the ground with his coat and blanket around him. But his father went on and brought the body to Philadelphia. He was buried yesterday with military honors.

Mr. Bernard Ganse, (brother of Taylor Ganse Esq., of this city) who was taken prisoner by the rebels some time since, has been exchanged. He arrived in Philadelphia on Tuesday.

Mr. James (formerly a hatter of this city, and brother-in-law of our esteemed fellow citizens, Messrs. Joseph Bancroft and T. D. Webb) is now engaged in the army fighting the Indians in Minnesota. Three westerns have forwarded the sachem of country in which he lived. His wife has returned, or is about returning to this city.

Capt. Bradbury, of Company C, 2d Delaware, in a series of letters to the Cecil Whig shows that he was not absent without leave, and consequently should it go from the tone of them that his dismissal was unjust. In a card published in the Delaware Gazette, he says I can't be sold on my commission as Captain of Company C, 2d Delaware Volunteers, and calculate on holding it until I see fit to do otherwise. He has not got a "leave of absence" direct from the War Department, recommended by a Surgeon of Volunteers.

Lieut. Charles B. Tauner is now on a visit to this city

Messrs. Hamilton & Co are engaged in making and selling fashionable cloaks and machine sewing, as well as selling dry goods. Their cloaks are highly spoken of both as to quality, style and finish.

We are pleased to learn that the gallant Capt. Bird is now rapidly recovering. He has been at death's door. The lamp of life flickered in its socket, and looked at times as if it would go out. But it gradually burned with a bright and stronger flame, and he is now beyond danger. There were several reports that he was dead. His friends will be pleased to see him there again.

AN INSTANCE OF INDIVIDUAL BRAVERY.—At the battle of Antietam Creek the First Delaware Regiment was posted in a cornfield, and Carles W. Haven, a private in Company F, after firing away all his cartridges travelled across an open lot for a fresh supply in the face of a hail storm of fire. He did not get them, but finally took the cartridges from a dead soldier, and recrossed the lot into the cornfield again. He was the only man that came out of the lot alive. All his comrades agree that it was a daring fest, and performed nobly. He came out of the battle without a scratch. Carlos W. Haven, altho' a private ever since the rebellion began is a man of great intelligence, a practical printer, and formerly the editor of a newspaper. He joined the army out of pure love for the Union. His family reside in this city.

Birnie in Second st, on the second square next from Market st, who keeps the Diamond Boot Store, has a fine assortment of Boots, Shoes, and Gaiters as well as Cavalry Boots. There is nothing in the Boot Store and Gaiter line that Birnie has not got, his goods are famous for style, remarkable for durability and for the low prices (cash) that are the wonder of the sons of Crispin and with all these good qualities are to be obtained at [illegible] thing in his line the call at Creech shop, Walnut street, between Front and Second.

Those wishing to purchase drugs should not forget the excellent stock of George B. Thompson, 104 Market street, where the best of everything in that line can be had.—Go and see him.

Honor to the Dead.—The bodies of Capts. Watson and Bancroft who were killed in the battle of Antietam, were brought to the city last Saturday, and placed in the City Hall, where they remained until yesterday afternoon.

The City Council held a special meeting on Friday evening, and adopted the following preamble:

WHEREAS, The City Council of Wilmington have learned with the greatest regret and feeling, assisted Captains WATSON and BANCROFT of the 1st Delaware Regiment, are about to be transported to this City, to receive at the hands of their sorrowing friends and fellow-citizens, the last sad rites of respect; and whereas the Council, in view of meeting the citizens at large, deem it but just to the memory of the deceased, who have thus early fixed their claims to the love and esteem of all their country.—Wherefore,

Resolved, That the City Council do appoint a committee of five from each ward, to adopt such measures as shall be appropriate in the circumstances.

Committee—William H. Pierce, E. J. Horner, Joseph W. Day, Gregg Cantillon, Dr. Bedford, Samuel Poulterer, Esq., and the committee be instructed to request the co-operation of the Military—the Fire Companies—the Odd Fellows—the Sons of Temperance, and any other Associations—and the citizens generally, to attend the Funeral Obsequies; and that the Committee be requested to close their places of business at the time of the passage of the funeral cortege.

Wednesday, September 17th, 1862.

The undersigned having been selected by the Committee of the City Council to superintend the obsequies of the late Captains Watson and Bancroft who fell while bravely defending the soil of a neighboring State, directs the following arrangements:

I. The escort will be detailed from the 4th Delaware Volunteers, to receive at the hearst of the train and form in front and rear of the procession.

II. While the remains are lying in the principal room of the City Hall, a guard of honor will be in constant attendance commanded by a commissioned officer.

III. On the day appointed (Monday the 29th inst.) for the Funeral, the troops in the vicinity of Wilmington, are ordered to be present to close arms only, and will take position at two o'clock P. M., on the following order along the west side of market-street between 4th and 9th facing towards the East:

1. The 1st Delaware Cavalry;
2. The 1st Delaware Artillery;
3. The 4th Delaware Volunteers;
4. The 5d Regiment Pennsylvania Reserve Brigade;
5. The Wilmington Local Volunteers.
6. City Guards;
7. Civic Society in the order of their seniority of organization.—Sec. 2 Art.

IV. The escort will be drawn up in line facing the entrance to the City Hall, and reflectually for from the passage of the funeral cortege.

After the usual services within the Hall, the remains of the deceased will be borne to the hearst resting places in the cemetery with the appropriate Funeral honors—the escort with arms reversed and drums muffled, will form the advance—followed immediately by the funeral carriages and those containing Clergymen and members of the family of the deceased:—the line will then be faced to the left, and follow in fast order:—friends of fast and 4 carriages not allotted to any organized Society, taking their places in the rear.

V. The entire procession will be under the command of Col. Arthur H. Grimshaw, 4th Delaware Volunteers.

VI. At the close of the ceremonies the Military commands and Civic Societies will be excused to their respective homes and places of meeting by their appropriate officers.

VII. All citizens of citizens are earnestly requested to refrain from pressing upon or getting in front of the procession while in line or on the march.

VIII The Bars at the Camps in the vicinity of the city, will be lifted at half mast, between the hours of 12 and 2 P. M. on the 29th inst.

HENRY B. JUDD, Major U. S. Army.

There was some time occurred in forming the line, which caused the movement of the funeral cortege until about 4 o'clock. The line extended about a mile in length. The Mayor and City Council, clergy, and a large number of citizens, composed a portion of the line in carriages. The civic societies made a very respectable display.—The military display was the largest ever witnessed at an interment in our city.

CHEAP JOHN has entirely rebuilt the interior of his store in order to give a large display of the goods for the ladies. He has now one most delightful spring stock on hand—and the cheapest in town.

NEW Large arrival of unbleached Muslins at CHEAP JOHN'S as near the old rates as possible.
