INT. V., A. & W. LINE WILL END SERVICE
Busses to Replace Cars Into City by January 15, Owner Announces.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
ALEXANDRIA, Va., December 17.— Ordered by the Government to abandon his tracks and terminal in the District Triangle by January 15 and faced with the necessity of expending approximately $150,000 for installation of an underground trolley and other improvements to his line if it remains in the District, Robert L. May, owner of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co., yesterday announced that its service into Washington would be abandoned by January 15.
The railway will continue operation as far as Arlington Junction, at which point its service will be supplemented by busses into Washington. The present roadbed of the railway is to be surfaced over with a 50-foot concrete road from Arlington Junction to the south end of the Highway Bridge in order to allow busses to connect directly with trains of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway and the Arlington-Fairfax Railway at the junction.

Terminates Controversy.
Announcement of the railway's abandonment of service into Washington terminates a long controversy between May and the Government over disposition of its tracks and terminal. The presence of which has been hindering the Government's building program in the Triangle for some time.
Officials of the line were not in favor of discontinuing its service into Washington, but stated yesterday that they were virtually forced to do so.
"For over a year officials of the company have tried to get a location for a terminal in the north of Alexandria avenue, but in spite of evidence produced by the company and a local committee, the District Public Utilities Commission has refused to grant permission for the line to cross at Fourteenth street because of traffic congestion at that intersection," Gardner I. Boothe, attorney for the line, said yesterday. "No other suitable terminal was offered."

Petition to Be Filed.
A petition for abandonment of the line's service into Washington is to be filed with the State Corporation Commission today.
The railway has been notified by District authorities that should it continue to operate into any part of Washington it will be required to put in an underground trolley, new rails and pave the streets for tracks a distance of 2 feet on each side of them from the north end of Highway Bridge to Water street, early next year, Mr. Boothe stated. This would cost approximately $150,000, he estimated. In addition, the road has no assurance that a suitable terminal would be furnished it.
To supplement his car service Mr.
May has bought 15 new busses, which are expected to arrive this week. Two of these busses are to be used for service from Washington to Mount Vernon. Busses connecting with the line at Arlington Junction will be routed north up Fourteenth street to New York avenue, east to Twelfth street and then south to Constitution avenue and west to Fourteenth street to the Highway Bridge. The routing of May's present bus line, the A. B.
& W. Road Transit, will remain the same. The present 30-minute schedule of the car line will be increased to 20 minutes.

See Tunnel Possibility.
The company is desirous of maintaining as far as possible, its franchise and rights of way, as there is some possibility of the construction of subways on Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue in the future, the company stated. Should this be realized the company would want to operate through these tubes, he said.
Compensation for the line's tracks and terminal in Washington is dependent upon the passage of a bill now before Congress which would enable the company to bring suit to collect such compensation, Mr. Boothe said.

MAY USE SAME BUSES.
Negotiations Begun for Use by A. & F.
Railway Patrons.
By a Staff Correspondent of The Star.
ARLINGTON COUNTY COURT HOUSE, Va., December 17.—Officials of the Arlington-Fairfax Railway Co. yesterday attempted to reach an agreement whereby patrons of the line will use the new busses of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co. from Arlington Junction to Washington, it was stated today by Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, president of the former company.
Dr. Parmelee's statement follows that of Robert L. May, owner of the Alexandria line, to the effect that the Washington tracks belonging to his company will be abandoned and passengers of the line transported from Arlington Junction, about a mile south of the Highway Bridge, to Washington by busses.

Since the cars of the Arlington-Fairfax line have also used these tracks to reach Washington, it will be necessary to make arrangements to care for patrons of that line as well. Dr. Parmelee said that officials of his company had already held preliminary negotiations with May, and that if a suitable agreement could be reached passengers of the Arlington-Fairfax line also would be transferred to the busses.
If such an agreement is not reached, Dr. Parmelee declared, his line will provide other transportation for its patrons.
