Borah Speech Strikes Deep at Issue
New Deal as Well as G.O.P. Faces Challenge in Monopoly Charge.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

Theodore Roosevelt, whose campaign in 1912 straddled the beginning of the era of big business and the end of the era of small business, has returned to the Republican fold to render assistance to the candidate who will be nominated to the presidential ticket this year.

Borah cannot, however, break his hold on the Republican strength. In the recent movement in the Democratic party, he has helped to propel the candidate who will be nominated to the presidential ticket this year.

G.O.P. Voices Too Weak to Dictate
Lack of Leadership Scatters Control over States.

The Republican party has no strong central leadership and the only way in which the party can be controlled is by the state leaders.

Blum and Three Scandinavian Allies May Clash With Britain Over Remodeling Plans for League.

BY CONSTANTINE DII.

The fire that has been raging for the past year has been going out of control. The fire is the fire of revolution, and the more revolutionary the revolution, the more it spreads. The fire is spreading in the Scandinavian countries, and it is spreading in the United States. The fire is spreading in the United States, and it is spreading in the United States.
