

EUROPEAN

"WOLF MAN" is actually a tank commander. Arctic muffer has mouth zipper

FRED SPARKS

NAVY demolition men don "frog suits" for icy swims

NEW LOOK FOR FIGHTERS

THEY aren't men from Mars, but they might as well be — they're U.S. officers and men dressed for the weird and terrifying forms of combat modern warfare means. UN Day is perhaps a peculiarly appropriate time to look at them and to remember that if they should go into action in deadly earnest, the invasion H. G. Wells imagined might prove tame by comparison.

The grotesque figure on the right is a super-high-altitude flyer. The "devil man" at left is one of Admiral Byrd's crew, testing the Navy's "frog suit." Above and below are men dressed for Arctic battle. The "Wolf" on Lieut. R. H. Thomas's helmet is the name of his tank.

U. S. AIR FORCE

BIZARRE pressure suit enables airmen to survive 12 miles up

EUROPEAN

WINTERIZED infantrymen wear parkas, padded masks, snow goggles