

THE HEMP ENQUIRY BEGUN

Evidence Adduced Yesterday of a Documentary Character.

Charges and Letters Read by Clerk of the Senate Committee—Lieut. Col. Heistand's Statement in Defense of the Accusations of Hawks.

With comparatively few spectators, notwithstanding the importance of the matter under investigation, the Senate committee to which were referred the charges against Lieut. Col. H. O. S. Heistand convened yesterday morning, starting at 11 o'clock at the Capitol. The court will continue in session at the Capitol for an hour and a half, beginning at 10 o'clock.

The members of the Senate investigating committee, before whom the matter is being ventilated, are Senators Hawley, Proctor, Harrows, Cockrell, and Harrie. Senator Hawley was made chairman of the committee. The session was held in the committee room of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs.

Lieut. Col. H. O. S. Heistand, whose conduct is under investigation, is a well known army officer, and Assistant Adjutant General of the United States Army. Major Hawke, a former volunteer officer, and ex-inspector of customs at Manila, P. I., is the author of the charges. Both were present at the sessions.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the various members of the sub-committee, together with clerks and stenographers, began to arrive, and by 11 o'clock all were in readiness for the hearing.

At 11:30 o'clock Chairman Hawley announced the readiness of the committee to take up the first day's work. Before proceeding with business, Major Hawke, the accused of Lieutenant Colonel Heistand, was asked whether or not he desired counsel, and upon replying in the affirmative was given the liberty to secure the assistance of an attorney.

Major Hawke took advantage of the privilege and presented as his counsel Grandin Mackey, for whom he telephoned. Lieutenant Colonel Heistand, who arrived at the Capitol early, was represented by Charles W. Needham.

The inquiry began formally when Major Huxford, the clerk to the committee, read the resolution introduced by Senator Pettigrew authorizing the investigation.

Major Huxford then read the various letters sent the War Department by the committee asking for all data bearing upon the subject; the reply of the Secretary of War, together with the sending of official documents. The clerk then read letters from various high officials throughout the country endorsing Major Hawks' candidacy for the position of major in command of the Tenth Volunteer Immunes, together with all correspondence relating to his orders in the Philippines, and the revocation of his appointment by Secretary Root.

Among the papers read by Major Huxford were the papers read by Major Hawks, in which Major Hawks charged Colonel Heistand with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman by reason of his having engaged in a combination to control the output of hemp in Manila, and representing that Messrs. Mecklejohn, Corbin, Boyd and Allen were engaged with him.

In speaking of his accused in his reply to the charges, Lieutenant Colonel Heistand stated that he first became acquainted with Major Hawks when he was an applicant for a position as major in the volunteer service, the latter being introduced to him by men of honor and integrity.

The accused officer stated that shortly after Major Hawks had been mustered out of the service an effort was made to incorporate a company for engaging in the hemp business in the islands and for the manufacture of hemp ropes with modern machinery at or near the city of Manila. In his statement of Lieutenant Colonel Heistand added that before long the War Department was concerned, owing to the inability to secure funds, and he went abroad. Upon arriving in Europe Lieutenant Colonel Heistand says he received a letter from Major Hawks making a demand upon him for money. He says:

"Through an attorney he presented a bill for $188, but as he was not in the money, I believed he had no right to the money beyond his actual expenses. In fact, I regarded his charge as excessive."

Lieutenant Colonel Heistand said that the major stated he would bring suit should he not secure the money, and as he could not have spared the time nor loss of money at an attending court he authorized his attorneys to make a settlement with Major Hawks. Lieutenant Colonel Heistand's statement of the settlement is as follows:

"He accepted and signed a release in full satisfaction and discharge of all claims and demands whatsoever, and a copy of the same is herewith attached. Since the date of that settlement I have not communicated with him, but some time afterward learned that he had been appointed, entirely without my knowledge, to a position connected with the customs service in the Philippines and was at that time in Manila."

"Upon the day of leaving Paris for the Orient I was surprised to receive from him a letter with copies of his appointment and resignation of the same, which would have been of interest, for me further than to ascertain that he had been able to impose for a short time upon some one else, had it not been for the threatening tone of the letter and the contrary to any manner connect my settlement with his appointment in the Philippines with him, and the unusual manner in which he therein boasts of the falsehood and deception by which he secured the settlement, and I desired the letter and its enclosure to my attorney."

"It is informed also that he has gone personally to my friends and even had the indecency to take advantage of my wife and impose upon my wife at her home and make representations, threats, and demands as above."

At the conclusion of the reading of a letter by Hawks to Lieutenant Colonel Heistand, which was read at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and upon a motion of Senator Harrows the committee adjourned for lunch until 2 o'clock. At 2 o'clock the session was resumed, and Major Hawks was given an opportunity to read to the members of the committee various letters written to him by Lieutenant Colonel Heistand regarding the proposed establishment of a hemp factory in Manila. There was nothing of unusual importance in either during the rest of the session, the entire time being given over to Major Hawks for the reading of personal letters, and demands as above.

Some little discussion was entered into by Mr. Needham, Lieutenant Colonel Heistand's attorney, and Major Hawks regarding a set of pamphlets, which Major Hawks stated had been sent him by Colonel Heistand, relating to the tariff in the Philippines. When asked to produce the letter which he sent Lieutenant Colonel Heistand, Major Hawks refused that he had turned all the original manuscripts over to his army officer's counsel, who then advised him to order Mr. Needham to produce all letters in court, which that gentleman stated he would do.

No little discussion was started shortly afterward by Major Hawks stating that Lieutenant Colonel Heistand had informed him that he, Heistand, had sent a telegram to General Otis, asking information regarding a site for a proposed factory. Major Hawks further stated that he received a letter from Heistand, which that gentleman stated was the army officer's information regarding certain sites.

"The speaker then told of having escorted L. B. Jackson, a Chicago civil engineer, to the War Department, and having introduced him to Heistand in that official's office, where Heistand, he alleged, outlined the business proposed to be carried on. At this time, Major Hawks stated, Mr. Jackson, with whom he was very well acquainted, had a very nice book, and letted down therein the names of people given him by Lieutenant Colonel Heistand, and having then stated that he was interested in the affair. When asked by Senator Harrows regarding the matter, Major Hawks stated that he could not remember, but thought it was some time in May. He stated, however, that he intended having Mr. Jackson summoned as a witness."

At 5 o'clock the day's session was adjourned until 10 o'clock the following morning.

A PROCLAMATION.

Paine's Celery Compound the National Remedy.

Endorsed by Leaders in Every Walk of Life.

Present Wonderful Demand the Result of Merit.

Home of Representatives, Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 2, 1901. Wells & Richardson Co.

Gentlemen—Paine's celery compound is the great national family remedy. I can cheerfully recommend it. Very truly yours, EDWARD MCKENNY.

Since the day when the great surgeon and practitioner, Prof. Edward P. Phelps, M. D., L. S., announced the discovery of the formula of Paine's celery compound and first prescribed it with invariable success in cases of nervous prostration, insomnia, indigestion, rheumatism, and other diseases that have their origin in a disordered nervous system—the demand for this one remedy has gone on steadily increasing, until today throughout every civilized country, more bottles of the remedy are prescribed by physicians and used by those who are sick, than of probably all other prepared remedies combined.

The formula of Paine's celery compound, which Prof. Phelps freely gave to the medical profession—ranks in importance in the medical world with the anti-toxins and anesthetics.

Its discovery marks a new era in the practice of medicine, as the discovery of other marked a new era in the practice of surgery.

The above unqualified testimonial from the Hon. Edward McKenny is one of thousands which might be published.

In calling for Paine's celery compound, be sure that no quack medicine of patented name is palmed off on you in its stead.
