WEDDINGS OF YESTERDAY.

Mr. Morgan and Miss McChesney Married at Noon.

Captain Iaeger and Miss Reagan Wedded Later in the Day—The Edwards-Donnelly Nuptials Impressively Solemnized in Evening.

One of the prettiest of yesterday's weddings was that of Miss Mary M. Reagan and Capt. George A. Iaeger, late of the Twelfth Infantry, U. S. A., which was solemnized at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the bride's home, Rev. J. G. Butler, D. D., of Luther Memorial Church, officiating. The ceremony was performed in the first parlor, the windows of which were screened with graceful palms. The mantels were banked with maiden hair and stag ferns, and the chandeliers wreathed with woodland vines. Against the background of greenery throughout the parlor floor were quantities of snowy blossoms. The bride, stylishly attired for traveling in a tailor gown of light tan, relieved with blue panne velvet, and carrying a bouquet of white roses, descended the stairway with her sister, Mrs. W. P. Montague, whose toilet was composed of black and white. Little Mary Louise Montague, a fairy-like blonde, preceded her aunt as flower maid, wearing a frock of light blue and white silk and carrying bridal blossoms. Mr. Harry Schuler acted as best man. The bride's grandmother, a venerable lady of eighty-nine, and about forty additional guests witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a collation. Captain and Mrs. Iaeger will be absent on their wedding trip for about two weeks and then return to their home, 1110 Thirteenth Street northwest. The groom's old and valued friend, Mr. George P. Good, of Akron, Ohio, who owns a large coffee plantation in Porto Rico, was among the guests. The wedding marches were played by Miss Payne. The bride, until her marriage, was an examiner in the Pension Office, and among the many beautiful gifts that give testimony to her popularity was a set of colonial table and dessert spoons from her colleagues of the Eastern Division of the Pension Office, and a carving set and a service of small silver from the Certificate Division. Captain and Mrs. Iaeger will give a reception upon their return, after November 15.

The marriage of Miss Mamie Donnelly, daughter of Mrs. Anne C. Donnelly, to Mr. W. Walton Edwards took place at the residence of the bride's mother, 1103 East Capitol Street, at 8 o'clock last evening, in the presence of a large company of relatives and personal friends. A reception from 9 until 10 o'clock followed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. M. O'Brien, pastor of St. Peter's Church. The drawing room, in which the ceremony took place, was elaborately adorned with white roses, asparagus vines and palms, the couple standing in a bower arranged in the bay window. The same effect was carried out in the library; also the dining room, where a buffet supper was served. The only attendant was the bride's young niece, Mary Edith Donnelly, gowned in blue crepe de chine over taffeta silk. The bridal gown, of white Burmah silk, sent from the Philippines for the occasion by the bride's brother, Capt. Richard J. Donnelly, was trimmed with chiffon and orange blossoms. Her tulle veil was fastened with the same flowers, and she carried a bride rose bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left for a northern trip, the latter attired in a traveling gown of brown broadcloth. They will be at home Thursdays after November 20 at 1105 East Capitol Street.

In the parsonage of St. Patrick's Church at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Charles L. Shank, of the city Postoffice, and Miss Blanche M. Connor, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Connor, were married by the Rev. Dr. Stafford, in the presence of the immediate family only. The bride was tastefully gowned in a traveling suit of blue broadcloth, with hat to match. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for New York City and Niagara Falls, and will be at home to their friends after November 12 at 802 Second Street northwest.

The marriage of Miss Bessie Adelia McChesney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dey McChesney, to Mr. Johnson Riker Morgan, of Cumberland, Md., took place yesterday at noon at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. Under the direction of Prof. John Porter Lawrence, the choir quartette, composed of Mrs. Wilson-Shircliff, Miss Pauline Whittaker, Mr. Nolan, and Mr. Pierce, sang the nuptial music that announced the entrance of the bride. Escorted by her father, she passed up the aisle, preceded by her sister, Miss Agnes McChesney, and by the ushers, Mr. Randolph Millholland, Mr. Marshall Gillette, and Mr. Morris Clarke, all of Cumberland; Mr. Walter Marshall, of New York; Mr. Douglass Simms, of this city, and Mr. A. G. McChesney, who came on from his post at Fort Slocum to assist at the marriage of his sister.

The wedding gown was of soft white satin elaborately tucked from the waist to the rippling flare flounce that formed a graceful train. Pearl passementerie and a bertha of point lace formed the bodice trimmings and a long, misty tulle veil worn over the face was fastened with valley lily sprays. The same blossoms composed the bridal bouquet.

The maid of honor was strikingly handsome in pink crepe de meteor, tucked diagonally, with the train flounce formed of alternate Vandyke folds of the crepe and white point d'esprit. The high bodice and elbow sleeves were finished with ivory-tinted Flemish lace, with which were worn long black gloves of suede. The picture hat of black velvet was trimmed with a single plume, and the flowers carried were pink chrysanthemums.

The groom and his brother, Mr. Harry Morgan, awaited the arrival of the bridal party in the chancel, and the ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, D. D.

Mrs. McChesney's gown was of pastel grey silk, finished with rich lace. Only the family and out-of-town relatives joined the bridal train at the breakfast served after the ceremony, at the McChesney residence, 2301 Thirteenth Street, on Mount Pleasant Heights. Among the guests from other cities were Mr. Richard D. Johnson and Miss Johnson, of Cumberland, and Mrs. Robert Johnson and Miss McChesney, of Norfolk, Va.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Morgan left for a northern trip before going to Cumberland, where a pretty home awaits them. The latter's traveling gown was of blue cloth, with hat and wrap to correspond. The guests at the church were composed chiefly of the old resident set to which the bride's family belongs. Her late grandfather was Edward H. Fuller, one of the pioneer citizens of the District, while the groom, who formerly resided here, is the grandson of the late Commissioner Morgan, who was prominently identified with the interests of the city for many years.

Rev. John A. Aspinwall will officiate at the marriage of Miss Helen Birney to Mr. Charles R. Gantz, and not Bishop Satterlee, as announced. The bride-to-be is a member of St. Thomas parish, and the ceremony will be performed by its rector.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt have accepted an invitation to attend the wedding of Miss Patten and Adjutant General Corbin, which will take place next Wednesday.

Miss Elizabeth Ferguson has returned to town, and is at her home, 734 Fifteenth Street, with her father, Major Ferguson, U. S. A., retired.

Mr. Alfred H. Thiessen, of the Weather Bureau, and Miss Ruby H. Eastman, of Portland, Ore., were married Tuesday at the residence of Prof. Cleveland Abbe, of the Weather Bureau, by Rev. R. T. Taylor, D. D., of Baltimore.

Mr. Harry Ernest Hay and Miss Ida Lee Parry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Parry, were married last night at 8 o'clock at Gunton Temple Presbyterian Church. Rev. Dr. Fiske performed the ceremony. The ushers were Mr. James B. Hege, Mr. James B. Alexander, Mr. Byron U. Graham and Mr. Henry W. Draper. Little Virginia Straley Huddleson, the groom's niece, who acted as flower maid, wore a frock of pink crepe and carried La France roses. The wedding gown was of white tulle over white taffeta, and bride roses formed the bouquet. Upon their return from a two weeks' trip to the North Mr. and Mrs. Hay will reside at 1735 Vermont Avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. Loren T. B. Johnson, after a three weeks' wedding trip through Canada, are at their home, 923 Farragut Square. Mrs. Johnson will be at home the first and second Tuesdays in December.

The marriage of Miss Madeleine Gary, youngest daughter of the former Postmaster General and Mrs. James A. Gary, of Baltimore, to Dr. Andrew R. Whitridge, of the same city, will take place at Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church, November 14, at noon.

Another Baltimore marriage of general social interest will be that of Miss May Patterson Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hall Harris, and great-niece of the beautiful Betsy Patterson, wife of Jerome Bonaparte, to Mr. Samuel Hardy, of Boston, on Tuesday, November 26, at noon, at the First Presbyterian Church.

KYRLE BELLEW'S NEW PLAY.

"A Gentleman of France" Successfully Produced at Ottawa.

Kyrle Bellew, who has been engaged by Liebler & Co. for a tour of the United States, commenced his season in a dramatic version of Stanley Weyman's novel, "A Gentleman of France," at Ottawa, Canada, last night, and, from the following despatch, scored a success:

"Kyrle Bellew tonight gave the first presentation of Harriet Ford's dramatization of Stanley Weyman's romance, 'A Gentleman of France.' The occasion which served to reintroduce Mr. Bellew as a star was made a gala event, and the theatre boxes were all occupied by Lord Minto, Governor General of Canada, and his suite. The magnificent production of 'A Gentleman of France,' which was made under the management of Liebler & Co., the American managers, was the most stupendous spectacle that has ever been exhibited on the stage of Ottawa.

"There were curtain calls almost without number. It was necessary to lift the curtain eight times at the end of the second act and fourteen times at the termination of the third act. At the conclusion of the play the audience refused to leave the theatre until Mr. Bellew and the entire company passed in front of the curtain.

"There can be no question as to the pronounced success of the inaugural of Mr. Bellew's starring tour under the Liebler management. The work of the chief player was forceful, graceful, studious at times, dashing always, and the magnetic personality that has invariably characterized Mr. Bellew's performances was in evidence more perhaps tonight than ever before. His was a great personal success. Eleanor Robson, the leading lady, came in for a liberal share of the praise, and her daintiness, charm of manner, and intelligent reading of her lines caused her to achieve a success only overshadowed by Mr. Bellew's. The company, which is of uniform excellence, includes John Blair, John Flood, Frank E. Aiken, Charles Barron, Clarence Handyside, Howell Hansell, Edgar Selwyn, Ada Dwyer, Charlotte Walker, Rose Lemoyne, and a score of others.

"The different scenes represent the courts of Henry III of France and Henry of Navarre. Mrs. Ford's dramatic version of the story is intensely interesting, and in the hands of Kyrle Bellew and his companion players is easily the best piece that has yet been made over from a novel."

VISITED BY ARCHBISHOPS.

Two Prelates See Secretary Hitchcock Regarding Indian Schools.

Secretary Hitchcock was visited in his office at the Interior Department yesterday afternoon by Archbishops Ireland, of St. Paul, and Riordan, of San Francisco, both of whom called for the purpose of asking the head of the Interior Department to revoke the order of Mr. Browning, ex-Commissioner of Indian Affairs, which directed that all Indian children be sent to regular Government schools and agencies, and should no more room be available in those institutions, that they be sent to sectarian schools.

Secretary Hitchcock recently suspended that order, and promised to do away with it entirely.

GUNNER MORGAN PARDONED.

Restored to Grade Lost Through Court-Martial Sentence.

President Roosevelt has granted a pardon to Gunner Charles Morgan, who came into prominence through the action of Rear Admiral Sampson, at the time his request to be commissioned an ensign was made, and restored to him the numbers in his grade which he lost as the result of a court-martial, by which he was tried on a charge of being absent from duty without leave. The incident happened some years ago.

With his numbers restored Morgan now reaches the grade of chief gunner. He is now on the Pensacola.

Gunner Morgan applied to Admiral Sampson early this year for a recommendation for the rank of ensign, to which Secretary Long was authorized to raise a limited number of warrant officers. The admiral, although endorsing Gunner Morgan for professional skill and gentlemanly conduct, expressed his doubts as to the policy of raising any warrant officers to the proposed rank, since it might introduce social inequality. He held that as the officers of the navy represent the United States abroad care should be taken to have them men of education and refinement.

The Caledonian Club will give a Hallowe'en concert and dance this evening at Typographical Hall, 425 G Street northwest. An attractive programme, including songs and recitations, dear to the heart of the sons and daughters of Bonnie Scotland, will be given. Refreshments will be served.

Secretary Wilson Leaves for Iowa.

Secretary Wilson left yesterday for his home at Traer, Iowa, to vote. He will return to Washington about November 8.

COMING TO THE THEATRES.

The Columbia—Lula Glaser Opera Company.

F. C. Whitney gives his personal assurance to the opera patrons of Washington that his forthcoming production of "Dolly Varden" by the Lulu Glaser opera company will be one of the most elaborately staged of any ever seen in local theatres.

It would be difficult to imagine how any more lavish expenditure of money could be made on a production of comic opera. The costumes were designed by Mme. Seidel, of the Metropolitan Opera House, and made by Mme. Freisenger, a noted New York modiste. They are of the Louis XV period, which is at present the incoming fashion in ladies' dress. It is well known that the fashion journals are at the present time hailing with delight the return of the elegant modes that prevailed in the fashionable world during the reign of Louis XV, the "Beau King," 175 years ago. Ladies who want to know what the main points are to be in the fashions of the near future in stylish gowns, hats and wraps should not fail to see the Lulu Glaser opera company in "Dolly Varden" when it comes to the Columbia next week, and see the garments worn by people who know how to wear them.

"Dolly Varden" is in two acts. The time is 1730, and two days only are supposed to elapse during the action of the opera.

The National—"The Helmet of Navarre."

Charles Dalton will make his appearance as a star at the National Theatre next Monday night, appearing in a dramatization of "The Helmet of Navarre," by Bertha Runkle (the author of the novel) and Lawrence Marston.

Mr. Dalton has been in this city each season for the last four or five years as the leading man of "The Sign of the Cross" company. He has been playing the part of Marcus Superbus in this country with Mr. Grew's company for the last five years, and little is known of him by local theatregoers aside from his performance of this role.

In London, however, Mr. Dalton has been prominent in many of the big Adelphi Theatre productions. He played the leading part in such popular successes as "For the Crown," "The Lights of Home," and "The Sporting Duchess."

Mr. Dalton will be supported by a company of forty-eight players, many of them well and favorably known in this city. Among them may be mentioned Sheridan Block, George Wessells, Robert V. Ferguson, Rose Eytinge, Grace Elliston and Eleanor Barry. Scenically the production will be, it is said, very elaborate and beautiful.

The Lafayette—"The Wife."

Next week the Bellows stock company will revive Belasco and De Mille's famous society comedy drama, "The Wife," at the Lafayette. The play is one of great dramatic strength, and is especially well adapted to the capabilities of the stock company. It will serve to bring Harry Corson Clarke forward in a favorite role—that of Major Homer O. Putnam—while Miss Lawrence will have an opportunity to appear in a strong emotional role, a character of dramatic work in which she is said to be at her best.

"His Excellency the Governor," although unknown to local theatre-goers until its presentation by the Bellows organization Monday, is drawing exceptionally well. The matinee yesterday was marked by an overflowing audience, but the standing-room-only sign has come to be looked upon as a regular thing at this mid-week performance at the Lafayette.

There will be a matinee performance of "His Excellency the Governor" Saturday.

Chase's—"A Trip to Chinatown."

Musical comedy and vaudeville will be the offering at Chase's Theatre next week by Otis Harlan and Chase's musical comedy stock company, commencing with the matinee Monday. The basis of the entertainment will be Hoyt's comedy, "A Trip to Chinatown," which was the chief success of the stock company's engagement at Chase's last summer.

Mr. Harlan will again be seen as Well-and Strong, Mr. Dunne as Ben Gay, and Miss Marble as Willie Grove, Miss Lane, the new leading woman, will be the dashing Mrs. Guyer.

A good vaudeville bill of fifteen numbers will be provided. Prominent among them will be the Ford sisters, two dancers who have been engaged especially for next week. Mr. Harlan will sing his favorite, "Bobbing Up and Down Like This." With Miss Lane, he will repeat the ever popular "Reuben and Cynthia." "Walk, You Suckers, Walk," Max Hoffman's popular song, will be rendered by Mr. Harlan, Tony Hart, and "Little Chip." Miss Marble will be heard in the popular musical number, "Love Me, Lize." Mr. Dunne, Mr. Andrada, Miss Burnham and Mr. Early will also be specialties. A pleasing ensemble effect will be found in a new composition of Mr. Hoffman, entitled "Fane Chaperons." The production will be made with new costumes and scenery. On election night, full returns of the voting all over the country will be read from the stage.

The Academy—"Home, Sweet Home."

An interesting announcement for next week at the Academy of Music is the presentation of Edgar Smith's latest play, "Home, Sweet Home." Heretofore Mr. Smith has been identified with opera books and burlesques and his departure into the broader field of drama has so far met with unqualified success, for "Home, Sweet Home" is said to tell a story of absorbing interest. It is described as a comedy drama in four acts, and relates a pretty love story which, like many others, does not run on very smooth ground.

The action of the play occurs in a little village in the interior of New York State and its locale furnishes the author with ample opportunity for the introduction of amusing characters. The play is said to wholly coincide with its name in purity, sweetness and gentle tone. It touches the heart in reciting a sweet home story, plentifully interspersed with good, clean comedy, both of which make a pleasing combination of tears and laughter. The dialogue is said to sparkle with wit of a superior variety and the incidents of the play to follow each other so closely that interest in the story never abates. An unusually strong company has been secured to present the play, including Harry Brown, the well-known character actor. Special scenery has been prepared, and next week promises to be an eventful one in the history of the Academy.

Election returns will be read from the stage between the acts next Tuesday evening.

Kernan's—Rice and Barton's Burlesquers.

Rice and Barton's Gayety Extravaganza Company is said to have been elaborately prepared for the present season, and will be the attraction at Kernan's Lyceum Theatre next week, with a wealth of scenery and costumes, a good cast and chorus, which the press agent claims numbers fifty people, many clever specialties, and a new production of living pictures, upon which considerable money has been expended in order to make them eclipse in point of splendor any previous efforts in this line.

The company includes Rice and Barton, Frankie Haines, J. K. Mullen, Annie Dunn, Fred Eckhold, Miles and Raymond, the Esher Sisters, Lloyds and Walton, and Charles Gordon, besides numerous others. It is said that the numerically large chorus comprises more really young ladies than have ever before been engaged in a musical extravaganza. The burlesques are declared to be among the greatest mirth provokers of the season.

Mr. Kernan has arranged to have the full election returns read from the stage next Tuesday evening. The theatre will remain open until every State is heard from, and those interested will be entertained while the news is being received. Daily matinees.

The Bijou—Stock Burlesque Company.

It is seldom that a headline feature of the prestige of Montgomery and Stone is seen with a burlesque organization, but next week's bill at the Bijou, in addition to a laughable absurdity which Dave Lewis, the author, has termed "Oh, Fudge," will present these two eminent vaudeville performers, whose last appearance in Washington was with Charles Frohman's comedians, in support of Edna May in "The Girl from Up There." On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, Montgomery and Stone will present their familiar black face act, and beginning with the Thursday matinee, and continuing during the rest of their engagement, they will present an entirely new act, which they have just prepared for their forthcoming London engagements.

Other vaudeville performers who will contribute to the olio will be Dave Lewis, the clever comedian of the stock burlesque company, who will present a monologue that is said to be not only bright but full of good things which have the advantage of being up to date. Zoe Matthews and her pickaninnies will render some of the latest "coon" songs, and Lynch and Jewell will give a singing and dancing act which is said to be about the best thing in its line. The olio will be concluded by the Three Wilsons, the sensational acrobats.

The first part of the entertainment, which will be given by the stock company, promises to be of unusual excellence. Dave Lewis' burlesque, "Oh, Fudge," will serve to introduce the entire strength of the company in a mixture of mirth and melody.
