American Women Acquiring Charm
By Mystic Rituals in Paris Gardens

Solemn Ceremonies Appeal to Wealthy Visitors Who Have Been Seeking Something More Attractive Than Merry Beauty—Neglect of Attitude and Movement Characteristic of Nineteenth Century—Mysticism Which Is Passing Over Europe Has Had an Influence Upon the Present Movement in the Direction of Charm.

BY GEORGE R. BEACH

Paris, October 18.

One of the most interesting cultural events of the season for American women who have lived in Paris for any length of time was held at the American Legation this week. Scores of society women gathered there to witness the ceremonies of the American Women's Association, which has been organized in France to promote harmony and understanding between the American and French people.

The ceremony was held in the American Legation and was attended by several hundred people, including many prominent American women as well as French society figures. The ceremonies included the presentation of the association's emblem, a silver leaf with the American and French flags intertwined, and speeches by several of the association's leaders.

The event was described as a symbol of the growing friendship between the two nations, and it was hoped that the association would help to foster this relationship in the future.

Letters About Buried Treasure
Are Received Here by Thousands

U.S. GOVERNMENT CIRCULATES MANY LETTERS FROM PERSONS WISHING TO LEARN HOW TO LOCATE GOLD DEPOSITS WITH ARTIFICIAL MARBLE.

A FAMOUS ARTIFICIAL MARBLE Which is supposed to have a hidden deposit of gold in its interior was given to the government by a wealthy collector for examination, and the government is now circulating many letters about the supposed deposit.

The marble is made of a special type of stone that is said to contain small amounts of gold. The government has been using it as an experiment to test the efficacy of its mineralogical laboratories.

The letters are distributed to those who are interested in the possibility of finding hidden treasures in this type of marble. The government hopes that this information will help to prevent people from being swindled by charlatans who claim to have found buried treasure.

The government is also using the marble as an opportunity to educate the public about the importance of proper mineralogical research. The government believes that this will help to prevent people from being taken in by false claims about hidden treasures.

In conclusion, the government is using the artificial marble as a tool to promote education and prevent swindling. The government hopes that this approach will help to ensure that people are not taken advantage of by false claims about hidden treasures.