Taft and Sherman Renominated on First Ballot; Roosevelt's Followers Sulk and Form New Party

RENOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT OF U. S.

William H. Taft.

Delegates Rush Through Business on Final Day; Convention Comes to End

Chicago, June 22.—William Howard Taft was renominated for President of the United States by the Republican National Convention at 9:25 o'clock to-night. Less than an hour later James Schoolcraft Sherman was renominated for the Vice Presidency. The nominations were made on the first ballot. Senator La Follette's name was the only name presented to the convention for the Presidential nomination besides that of Taft. Sherman's was the only name presented for the Vice Presidency. A motion made to make his nomination unanimous was objected to and a roll call ordered.

The vote for the Presidential nomination was: Taft, 561; Roosevelt, 107; La Follette, 41; Cummins, 17; Hughes, 2. Present and not voting, 348; absent, 2. The vote on the Vice Presidential nomination was: Sherman, 597; Borah, 21; Merriam, 20; Hadley, 14; Beveridge, 2; Gillette, 1. Absent, 71; not voting, 352.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS AT 10:29 P. M.

The convention adjourned at 10:29 p. m. There were two exciting features of the long session, which began at 10 in the morning and continued till nearly midnight. Two hours before the nomination of Taft, the personal boom of Theodore Roosevelt gave its last expiring gasp in a twenty-five minutes' demonstration. Roosevelt hung to his delegates, who had already planned to gather with him in the new mass meeting in Orchestra Hall. Idaho alone, of the Roosevelt men, fell away from him, seven of Senator Borah's constituents voting for Cummins. The expected Hadley boom never raised a whisper. Cummins was not nominated, and the passing tribute of a cheer from Barnes was the only greeting that came to the two votes for Hughes from Pennsylvania. When it was all over and Sherman had been nominated in a gallop, Penrose looked at Crane and Crane looked at Root and they all three looked at each other. They had driven Roosevelt out of the party. As for the Taft delegates, tired, disheveled, utterly disgusted, without even a word for their candidate, they began streaming to their hotels and then to their trains, the sickest lot of Republicans that ever gathered together in convention.

RENOMINATED FOR VICE-PRESIDENT OF U. S.

James S. Sherman.

NEAR RIOT TAKES PLACE

The second incident was a near-riot in the Massachusetts delegation precipitated by Root when, during the roll call he began to get nervous about the count. When the delegates from the Codfish State, their minds made up to have no hand in the matter, refused to vote when their names were called, Root ordered that the names of the alternates be called. He knew that he would pick up a few Taft delegates in that way and just then he fancied he might need them. As soon as this order was issued Delegate Fosdyke, a gray bearded man who looks like James G. Blaine, arose and shouted: "Massachusetts is a law abiding State, and you had better not attempt that kind of robbery."

RULES VOTES MUST BE CAST.

After the yells and cheers that greeted this defiance had subsided, Root strode to the edge of the platform, a couple of husky secretaries beside him to prevent trouble, and said: "If a delegate to this convention refuses to do his duty by casting his vote his alternate must do it for him. The names of the alternates will be called." When he walked back he said to the secretary: "Send the police to that aisle." The police went there, thirty of them. The Massachusetts men were in the exact center of the building, standing on their chairs, shaking their fists, hissing and hurling execrations at the chairman, who had retired to his desk. Presently they quieted down and voted. They lost four votes, but they gained one point of more importance. Root never again during the roll call insisted on the call of alternates. Once or twice they were called, but they never voted against their principals' desires.

Roosevelt Is Nominated By Progressive Party

By HUGH S. MILLER.

Chicago, June 22.—The third party is here. An hour after William Howard Taft had been renominated by the Republican National Convention to-night, Theodore Roosevelt was the nominee of the National Progressives, assembled in Orchestra Hall.

A little later he had accepted the nomination and had asked those who assisted in launching the new movement to convene again in six weeks and ratify their endorsement of his candidacy. The fight was on. It was Roosevelt's answer to the bosses. Assembled in Orchestra Hall were the delegates who had been instructed to come to the Republican National Convention and nominate Roosevelt. With them were the contestants whose cases had been thrown out by the National Committee.

They were determined, enthusiastic, and they were flanked by a great gathering of Roosevelt supporters—a shouting, cheering, singing, screaming, defiant crowd that could say but one thing, "We want Teddy." Hadley and Others Missing. It was a simple ceremony, but most significant when viewed in its relation to the country's affairs. A resolution was passed nominating Roosevelt. He spoke in reply accepting it.

- Favors revision of banking system to prevent panics and need of better currency facilities for movement of crops in West and South.
- Urges agricultural credit societies to loan money to farmers.
- Wants an extension of the civil service law.
- Wants law to prevent contributions to nomination and election of President, Vice President, Senators, and Representatives in Congress.
- Favors treaty with Russia and other countries to prevent discrimination against American citizens.
- Favors the parcel post.
- Promises conservation of natural resources.
- Believes in maintenance of adequate navy and a revival of the merchant marine.
- Believes that Federal government should assume part control of Mississippi River and help prevent flood disasters.
- Favors reclamation of arid lands and the improvement of rivers and harbors.
- Pledges new laws for relief of evils of undesirable immigration.
- Favors ample equipment for life saving on ships.
- Calls on public to condemn and punish lynchings and to strengthen respect for law.

New Party Declaration.

"We, delegates and alternates to the Republican National Convention, representing a clear majority of the voters of the Republican party in the nation, and representing a clear majority of the delegates and alternates legally elected to the convention, in meeting assembled, make the following declaration: "We, the delegates to a majority of the Republican voters of our respective districts and States to nominate Theodore Roosevelt in the Republican National Convention as the candidate of our party for President, and thereby carry out the will of the voters as expressed at the primaries. We have earnestly and conscientiously striven to execute the commission intrusted to us by the party voters.

Tried to Head Off Conspiracy.

"We have exhausted every known means to head off this conspiracy, and to prevent this fraud upon the popular will, but without success. "We were sent to this convention bearing the most specific instructions to place Theodore Roosevelt in nomination as the candidate of our party for President. Summer Tours, via B. & O. R. R. D. and Jersey Shore, N. J. Black Mountains and all New York, New England, and Canadian Provinces—Nova Scotia and Quebec—also to Western Points. If contemplating a rail or water trip for pleasure or on business, the committee agents at 15th St. & N. Y. Ave., or 615 Pennsylvania Ave. They will help you.

Only One Condition.

In accepting the nomination Col. Roosevelt said: "Gentlemen—I thank you for your nomination, and in you I recognize the lawfully elected delegates to the Republican convention who represent the overwhelming majority of the voters who took part in the Republican primaries prior to the convention, and who represent the wish of the majority of lawfully elected members of the convention. I accept the nomination subject to but one condition.

"This has now become a contest which cannot be settled merely along the old party lines. The principles that are at stake are as broad and as deep as the foundations of our democracy itself. They are in no sense sectional. They should appeal to all honest citizens, East and West, North and South; they should appeal to all right-thinking men, whether Republicans or Democrats, without regard to their previous party affiliations. I feel that the time has come when not only all men who believe in progressive principles, but all men who believe in those elementary maxims of public and private morality which must underlie every form of successful free government, should join one movement. Therefore, I ask you to go to your several homes to find out the sentiment of the people at home and then again to come together, I suggest by mass convention, to nominate for the Presidency a progressive candidate on a platform that will enable us to appeal to Northern and Southern."
