

Jellicoe Goes To National Capital To-day

University Club Dinner Ends Strenuous Round of Entertainments for Admiral in New York

Sees Wife Start for Home

British First Sea Lord to Abandon Havana Trip for Visit to California

Strenuous as is the life of a First Sea Lord in war times, it is doubtful if Viscount Jellicoe of Scapa ever put in a busier day in his office at the Admiralty than he tucked away yesterday in Manhattan. The hero of Jutland was around and about in Charles M. Schwab's Riverside Drive home with the dawn, and it was after midnight before he and Mr. Schwab left the University Club, where the admiral was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the club.

This was his final New York function. To-day he leaves for Washington, whence, after several semi-official and private appearances, he will leave, it is understood, for California.

Lady Jellicoe Starts Home

Lady Jellicoe, who was detained in Ottawa by a slight illness, arrived in New York yesterday morning on the Montreal Express. It was to meet this train, which gets into Grand Central at 7:30, that Viscount Jellicoe was aroused early. From the station the party returned to the Schwab home for breakfast.

At noon, accompanied by a group of New York friends, they drove to the White Star pier, where Lady Jellicoe boarded the Adriatic for her return to England. The party stayed on board until it was nearly time for the liner to leave. After the farewells had been said, Viscount Jellicoe returned to shore and went to the New York Yacht Club, where he inspected the clubhouse and warmly praised its facilities. From the yacht club he went to keep a tea engagement at the home of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. From the Vanderbilt function the party returned to the Schwab home and went from there to the University Club for dinner.

Would See California

Viscount Jellicoe leaves this morning at 9 o'clock for Washington. While in the capital he will be entertained by the British Embassy and will be the guest at a dinner given to-morrow evening by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. He will also attend the charity ball at the Willard for the benefit of the Episcopal Home for Children. It was originally announced that the admiral would go from Washington to Havana, where he would be met by H. M. S. New Zealand, to continue his trip to Australia. Last night, however, the statement was made that Viscount Jellicoe intended to go from Washington to the Pacific Coast, he having a strong desire to visit California. The New Zealand, it is understood, will meet Viscount Jellicoe at San Francisco.

Electric Men to Discuss N. Y. Traction Problems

700 Representatives of City and Suburban Lines to Meet in Cleveland

The traction situation in Manhattan and Brooklyn will be one of the chief topics of discussion at the ninth annual midyear meeting of the American Electric Association, to be held in Cleveland this week. In view of the critical condition of the industry, more than seven hundred representatives of the leading street and interurban railroads of the country will attend the convention on Thursday.

Harding, of Ohio, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, will be one of the chief speakers. He will be followed by the foremost traction experts of the country, who will set forth their views on the causes of the difficulties which beset the industry.

"These causes," said H. Hobart Porter, vice-president and general manager of the Brooklyn City Railroad, "are common to this and other cities. They must be found in the dislocation of industry due to the war, abnormal increase in wages and the advancing costs of all materials, including coal; the heavy burden of direct taxation, as well as indirect taxation costs, such as paving assessments, etc.; the necessity of giving longer rides and more transfers without additional compensation, the operation of non-paying extensions, the providing of improved facilities, coupled in many instances with decreased riding, due both to jitneys and private competition."

The Brooklyn City Railroad Company will be represented at the Cleveland meeting by Clinton E. Morgan, assistant general manager, and James T. Grady, director of publicity.

Swann to See Enright Today on Police Scandal

Commissioner Is Silent on Escape of Wealthy Man Accused by Girl

Some time to-day District Attorney Swann again will confer with Police Commissioner Enright concerning the scandal growing out of the disappearance of a wealthy merchant against whom the mother of a young girl made a formal complaint.

The District Attorney is endeavoring to learn whether two former police officials "tipped off" the man against whom the complaint was made, permitting him to escape while two policemen awaited his appearance in an outer office of his business.

The Police Commissioner continued to refuse all information on the subject yesterday. So did every other member of the department, most of whom were said to have been told by the Commissioner to keep still on the subject.

John C. Hackett, secretary to Commissioner Enright, who resigned early this week, was said to have been out of the city yesterday. He has not been available to inquirers at his home, the Hotel Wellington, since his resignation. Meanwhile, there was another switch of police secretaries during the day which may be given added significance during the inquiry being made by the District Attorney. Charles W. Hunt, vice-president of the State Civil Service Forum, quit as secretary to Second Deputy Commissioner Lahey to become secretary to Third Commissioner Augustus Drum Porter. George McNulty, who was secretary to Deputy Commissioner Porter, vacated that position to assume the one formerly occupied by Hunt.

THEODORE L. DE VINNE

To one who has any feeling of reverence and affection for the great minds which have gone before, or any appreciation of a true "association book" this library must make a special and compelling appeal. Here are the very books which were used by the most notable American printer since Franklin; the reference books he consulted, the incunabula from which he selected examples of the work of his great predecessors. Here are the presentation volumes, in many languages, from many lands, which show that he was not merely the best-known American printer but, in his day, the Master Printer of the world.
