

HARMONY IN JERSEY ASSURED TO HARDING

Freilinghuysen Gets Runyon Indorsement at Peace Meeting.

EDGE HOST TO LEADERS

President Goes Golfing as Others Attend Senator's Luncheon.

MRS. HARDING SHOPPING

She and Others of Washington Party Have Luncheon at Atlantic City.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ATLANTIC CITY, May 13.—The Runyon and Freilinghuysen forces among New Jersey Republicans will unite in the primary under the leadership of President Harding.

There was a peace meeting and political rally at the Seaview Golf Club at Absecon this afternoon when the party chieftains gathered to greet the President. Senator Edge, who is entertaining Mr. Harding and other guests from Washington, assembled the leaders of Atlantic county and Atlantic City to greet the President.

Prominent Republicans from other sections attended. Among them was William M. Runyon, State Senator, of Plainfield, who has no opposition for the Republican nomination for Governor.

For some time Northern New Jersey leaders have been proclaiming that the Runyon forces would conduct their campaign independent of the workers for Freilinghuysen and would not get out in the primary. Mr. Runyon declared that he would stand with the Senator and that the Runyon forces would work for Freilinghuysen in the primary.

The Jersey leaders were at the club house when the President finished his first round of golf. Senator Edge presented him to the meeting and the President reaffirmed the indorsement he gave to the senior New Jersey Senator last night, before a gathering of the women's Republican clubs.

The President made no speech, but told of the necessity of party organization and support of the party leaders. He returned that he had no better support in Washington than that of the New Jersey Senators and said they should be supported.

Senator Freilinghuysen declared his candidacy and asked the support of Atlantic County, the home county of Senator Edge, where Freilinghuysen was supposed to be weak.

Senator Edge asked his home folk to get out and do everything possible for his colleague, saying: "I am for Senator Freilinghuysen, and I want you men who know and have always so ably supported me to do your best for him."

It was at this point that Mr. Runyon made his declaration of support for Senator Freilinghuysen. He said he thought all efforts should unite for the strongest possible ticket in New Jersey and to elect that ticket.

The leaders had luncheon at the club as the guests of Senator Edge. The President did not stay for this function, because he wished to get in another eighteen holes at golf. The President said enough, however, to indicate clearly that he has dropped the policy of aloofness from State primary campaigns. Whether it means that he will give indorsement to other party men who have supported him in the Senate and in the House was not indicated.

With the exception of the meeting of Atlantic county leaders the President devoted himself wholeheartedly to rest and play. In his afternoon round he received instruction in his favorite game from "Jim" Fraser, five-year-old son of the club professional, who is a child prodigy. Club folk other than his father vouch for the fact that he can make the eighteen holes in 115.

While the men were talking politics Mrs. Harding went shopping. She bought a white sport hat of georgette crepe trimmed with two small wheels of moire ribbon. The women in the party, escorted by Secretary Weeks, Attorney-General Daugherty, Gen. Dawes and Gen. Ayer, had luncheon at an Atlantic City Hotel before the shopping tour.

Senate Gets New Carpet, Light, Smooth, Slippery

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., May 13.—The Senate dropped the tariff measure and extraneous matters to-day to get a new carpet. Matting, light, smooth and slippery, is to replace the heavy red carpeting. Henceforth Senators will have to watch their step and avoid peripatetic oratory. The change is to be made between now and Monday. Electric fans also will be installed. This is the first time matting has been placed on the Senate floor since 1853, when President Cleveland called a special session to enact the Wilson-Gorman bill.

NEW BILL OFFERED FOR PURE ELECTIONS

Pomerene Adapts Regulations of Old Act to Measure Curing Defects.

DEMOCRATS IN CONFLICT Sharp Differences Develop Over Question of States' Rights Being Invaded.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., May 13.—Senator Pomerene (Ohio) introduced a new corrupt practices bill to-day affecting the selection of candidates for Congress in the primary and general elections which he hopes will overcome the defects in the law declared null and void in the Newberry case by the Supreme Court.

Senator Pomerene will demand early action on his bill, which also aims to overcome the ruling by Attorney-General Daugherty that under the Newberry decision Senatorial candidates this autumn need not file any report whatever on the amount of money spent in either primaries or general elections.

Republican leaders blocked a demand by Senator McKellar (Tenn.) for immediate action on his resolution amending the rules of the Senate by incorporating the provisions of the existing corrupt practices act.

After considerable debate the McKellar resolution and a similar one by Senator Pomerene were referred to the Committee on Privileges and Election. The discussion revealed sharp differences of opinion among the Democrats as to the desirability of amending the Senate rules with a view of trying to prevent the use of large sums of money by Senatorial candidates.

Senator Robinson (Ark.) and Williams (Miss.) asserted such action would violate State's rights and prove highly dangerous by affording an unscrupulous majority an opportunity to deny to States their constitutional right of equal representation in the Senate.

Senator King (Utah) also suggested to his colleagues that they should be careful about Congress appropriating power that ought to be exercised by the States.

"If there should be corruption the Senate has the right to expel," he pointed out. "I wonder if the Senator will trust the people of Michigan to be honest and fair in the election of Senators?" Senator McKellar asked.

"I have no doubt of the corruption in the Newberry election," Senator King replied. "but I shall not indict the whole people of that State."

"I am exceedingly anxious," said Senator Pomerene, "that we shall not leave the law in its present uncertain state. I think it is a reflection on Congress which might seek to meet the situation."

After discussing the corrupt practices act of 1911 and the recent letter of the Attorney-General to the effect this act would not be effective with respect to the election of Senators Senator Pomerene said:

"Now the question is, was the corrupt practices act, which applied to the election of Senators by the Legislatures, broad enough so as to embrace a method of election by popular vote, which was adopted subsequently thereto."

"Of course every lawyer realizes that presents a very interesting question. I seek now to avoid that objection by bill I am going to present. In substance it provides the same restrictions or regulations with respect to the election of Senators by popular vote that were contained in the Corrupt Practices Act of August 19, 1911, applying to the election of Senators by the Legislatures." Senator Pomerene explained that the bill also provided "the same limitations and regulations with respect to the nomination of candidates for Senators that were contained in the Corrupt Practices Act."

A concurrent resolution placing in effect the Corrupt Practices Act, notwithstanding decision of the United States Supreme Court, was introduced in the House to-day by Representative Frear (Wis.). It was referred to the Rules Committee for consideration and report.

Representative Frear's resolution holds that notice to candidates for the House and for the Senate of the United States should be given that the constitutional rights under Section 5 are intended to be above any court decision, and that the enactment covering nominations and elections is intended to be binding on representatives of the House and of the Senate, notwithstanding any decision of any court to the contrary.

SENATE HAS BITTER NEWBERRY DEBATE

McKellar Ordered to His Seat for Calling Townsend's Statement False.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., May 13.—Debate on the Newberry case flared up in the Senate to-day, and it became so heated that Senator McKellar (Tenn.) was called out of order several times and was ordered to take his seat by Senator Robinson (Ark.), another Democrat who was in the chair.

After branding a statement on the case by Senator Townsend (Mich.) as "vile, untrue and absolutely false,"

Senator McKellar said he yielded the floor. "The Senator from Tennessee" ruled that Acting President Robinson "cannot yield the floor in view of the course the discussion has taken with the statement that a statement by another Senator is absolutely false. That is in violation of the rules of the Senate and the statement is out of order. The Senator from Tennessee will take his seat."

The debate was precipitated by Senator Townsend, who said: "Mr. President, a few moments ago the junior Senator from Tennessee, Mr. McKellar, interrupted the junior Senator from Utah, Mr. King, with this question: 'In view of the Senator's vote on that subject I was wondering if he trusts the people of Michigan to be honest and fair in the matter of the election of United States Senators?'"

"Mr. President, this insinuation is unbecoming to any Senator of the United States. With a Pharisaical candor like that which inheres in small politicians, he indicts as unfair and dishonest the people of a great sovereign State. Mr. President, I simply rose to resent this inference against the honesty, the fairness and the justness of the people of Michigan."

Michigan corrupt practices act and said that Newberry violated it, "and not a law officer of the State of Michigan ever undertook to prosecute Newberry in the State courts of Michigan."

"When I said the people of Michigan," said Senator McKellar, "I was referring to those who represent in the offices the people of Michigan. I say the representatives of your people have been derelict in their duty to prosecute in this case. A seat was bought in this body. It was bought by your colleague and those of his friends who aided him in doing it. Yet you uphold him."

Senator Spencer tried to call Senator McKellar to order for his statement that "a seat was bought in this body by the junior Senator from Michigan."

"Is it possible," said Senator McKellar, "that any man with any common sense in the republic doubts that seat was bought by Mr. Newberry in this body?"

"I call upon the chair to enforce the second section of Rule 3," said Senator Spencer. "No one knows better than the Senator from Tennessee how absolutely unfounded is his statement."

After a wrangle Senator Robinson, in the chair, ruled that the language of Senator McKellar was unparliamentary and violative of the rules of the Senate.
