

HUGHES BEGINS THIRD CAMPAIGN TRIP MONDAY

Complete Itinerary of Tour Announced by Candidate.

(By the International News Service.) New York, Oct. 5.—Charles E. Hughes will commence his third Western campaign tour in behalf of his candidacy for President on the Republican ticket Monday, with a noonday meeting at Newark, N. J. He will return to New York City to register for the election and at 6 p. m. will leave for Philadelphia, arriving there at 8 o'clock.

Leaving Philadelphia at 10 o'clock the following morning, October 10, the "Special" will go direct to Hagerstown, Md., where he will speak that afternoon at the Interstate Fair. The same evening Mr. Hughes will speak in Baltimore, in the State Armory.

The rest of the schedule follows: October 11, brief speeches in West Virginia towns including Clarkburg, Parkersburg, Huntington, and Charleston.

October 12, a trip through the Kentucky mountain district, including Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Louisville, and Ashland, and ending up at Louisville.

October 13, trip through Southern Missouri, including Springfield and Joplin.

October 14, five speeches in Nebraska, at Fall City, Beatrice, Fairbury, York, and Lincoln.

October 15, all day at Lincoln, Neb.

October 16, more speeches in Nebraska, at Hastings, Grand Island, Columbus, Fremont, and Omaha.

October 17, speeches in South Dakota, at Mitchell, Sioux Falls, and Yankton, and in Sioux City, Iowa.

October 18, train will pass through Chicago. Brief speeches at Niles, Kalamazoo, Michigan, and Grand Rapids.

October 19, speeches at Bay City, Saginaw, and Flint, all in Michigan, and at Youngstown, Ohio.

The party will arrive in New York on October 20. Mrs. Hughes, Lawrence H. Green, secretary to the governor, and Charles W. L. Farnham will accompany the candidate.

LOYALTY OF GERMANS VOICED AT BARBECUE

More Than 10,000 Persons Attend Anniversary Kermess.

Vigorous defense of the loyalty and patriotism of American citizens of German extraction was voiced at the barbecue and kermess, marking 23 years of German achievements in America at the Loeffler estate, Rock Creek Church road and Georgia avenue.

When the ticket offices were closed at the end of the two-day celebration last night, more than 10,000 people had passed the gates. The fund for Austro-German war sufferers will be enriched by over $2,000.

Attorney Simon Wolf was the principal speaker in the open-air forum. He recited the history of the German pioneers who landed on the soil of Pennsylvania under the leadership of Pastorius in 1638.

"The spirit of manhood, sobriety and self-government has spread from that isolated spot in Pennsylvania to every portion of the United States, strengthening the ties of kinship, elevating the standards of ideals, and preaching, not the gospel of hate of caste or of creed, but that of humanity, fatherhood of God, and brotherhood of man," he said.

Referring to the criticism of so-called hyphenism, he added:

"We are not fighting shadows; we deal with facts. And if ever the time should come, even if against the land of our forefathers, we will be found in the ranks ready to sign every drop of our life's blood to uphold the starry flag, and with our dying breath exclaim: 'Long live the Republic!'"

Rev. R. Schmidt spoke wittily in German and received round after round of applause.

The roast ox sizzling on the gridle was entirely devoured before the white coated chefs extinguished the fires. Weinersurst and frankfurters were then given the place of prominence on the bill of fare.

The Kallipolis band and the German singers furnished the musical program, the closing event of which was the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The barbecue was under the direction of Martin Wiegand. It will be repeated next year.

AEROPLANE PACIFIES HOLY LAND NATIVES

Special to The Washington Herald.

Cairo, Oct. 5.—Darfur, a territory extending 100,000 square miles, has been conquered by an aeroplane. The once troublesome natives are now pacified, having seen an "engine of destruction" soaring high above the haze, preparing to swoop down and carry off refractory men.

Only a short time has elapsed since the overthrow of the revolting sultan of Darfur, Ali Dinar, by Anglo-Egyptian troops yet a traveler who was in that country at that time would see in it no resemblance to the Darfur of today.

The whole province has been thoroughly organized and brought under a British administration.

All Dinar seized the occasion of the outbreak of the war between Great Britain and Turkey to renounce his allegiance to the Soudan government and subsequently declared his adherence to the enemy.

Finally, at the instigation of enemy agents, he made preparations for offensive action against the loyal tribesmen. He publicly declared a religious war, and announced his intention of invading Soudan territory after the rains.

The Sultan's force, which was estimated at 3,500 rifles, comprising the sower of his army, had 1,200 casualties and the majority of the leaders were killed or wounded. The British casualties were five killed and twenty-two wounded. All Dinar himself fled to Jebel Marra, accompanied by some 1,500 followers. On the approach of an aeroplane, however, a stampede was caused by the explosion of bombs and the majority of the Sultan's escort scattered and later surrendered.

BLOCKADE BY ALLIES STOPS TEUTON'S TRADE

Official Figures Show Complete Slump in Commerce.

How the allies' blockade has gradually shut off supplies from Germany and Austro-Hungary until these countries receive absolutely nothing from the United States is demonstrated in figures published yesterday by the Department of Commerce.

In August, 1915, despite the war, America sent $38,743 worth of goods to Germany. This August, according to the official figures, we sent nothing. In the first eight months of 1915, we sent $11,683,519 in merchandise to Germany. This year in the same period we sent just $1,008,233. The bulk of these supplies, however, were sent early in the year.

To Austria we sent in August, 1915, $6,898. This August we sent nothing. Our exports to the dual monarchy from January to August, 1916, exceed those of the same time last year. The figures are, respectively, 1916, $68,385; 1915, $43,334.

Our export to the United Kingdom leaped from $92,190,955 in August, 1915, to $159,438,554 in August, 1916. Exports for January-August, 1916, to the United Kingdom were $753,470,395; this year, $1,507,751,933.

Russia, too, took an enormous advance in our goods. In August, 1915, we sent to Russia (European and Asiatic), $12,485,431. In August, 1916, $61,552,560; January-August, 1915, $81,295,833. This year in the same time we sent $300,362,828.

Exports to Italy and Japan doubled from one August to the other, increased one and a half times for France, and quadrupled to Belgium.

PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY HOLDS SOCIAL SESSION

The Pennsylvania Society held its first social of the winter last night in the Perpetual Building. President Samuel R. Stratton delivered the address of welcome. Milo Atkinson, a pianist, played a classical selection and Fred Barber gave recitations.

Edward F. Arnold was appointed chairman of the refreshment committee, and this committee on membership was appointed: O. P. Parthemore, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hurst, Mrs. W. E. Hemler, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lendersen, Middleton Smith, Mrs. C. M. Gury, Mrs. J. F. Bixler, Paul DeHart, William Rosser, T. Lincoln Townsend, Dr. J. B. Ruth, George J. Fosselman, W. Broomall, George P. Wolfe, Mrs. K. C. Rader, M. E. Sakeid, Mrs. Joseph Michaud, Miss Mary Kaufman, Mrs. J. S. Manning, Miss Florence Smith and J. D. Garman.

Serious Operation Failed to Help. Her Case Pronounced Tuberculosis. Was Almost a Living Skeleton. Says She Is Now Strong and Well.

"Several years ago I lost my health and have been sick ever since," said Mrs. Hurst, wife of C. T. Hurst, who for a long time has been a member of the Washington Fire Department. "I had a chronic stomach trouble of the worst kind, and seemed to eat a general decline. Nobody but people who have had this awful trouble know how I have suffered."

"I tried doctors, I tried medicine, and I tried everything, but nothing seemed to help me a particle. I tried dieting and lived on liquid foods, raw eggs, and things like that till I nearly starved, but even that failed to relieve my trouble."

"I lost all the strength I had and was a nervous wreck. I never knew what it was to get a good night's sleep, and was nervous, feverish, and restless most of the time. I also suffered dreadfully from constipation and biliousness and was never free from pain, day or night."

"I was taken to a hospital and operated on, and when I left the hospital I was nothing more than a living skeleton, and only weighed 127 pounds. That is the truth, and every one who knows me will tell you it is a fact. The operation didn't do me any good as far as restoring my health was concerned. If anything I got worse and it looked as if I were going to die."

"Finally I was told my trouble was tuberculosis and I had better stay out in the open air as much as possible, as nothing else could be done for me."

"About that time I began to hear so much talk about the new medicine, Dreo, and read a great deal in the papers about what people had to say about it. Something just seemed to tell me it was what I needed, although the doctor didn't think so, but I told him I was going to try it anyway, as they had already said they couldn't do any more for me."

"The first bottle didn't do much good as far as I could tell, but that didn't dishearten me, for I knew it would take time in my case, so I got the second bottle and began improving right away."

"After this I commenced eating and my appetite improved every day. By the time I had taken three bottles I was able to do whatever I liked, and gained flesh and strength right along. My nerves got settled and I could sleep a whole night through. The other day I actually weighed 149 pounds. Yes, sir, I went from 127 to 149 pounds, that's what Dreo did for me."

"My constipation is a thing of the past, and I never have a headache or feel dizzy any more. I feel so much better and stronger that I am doing all my house work. Honestly this Dreo beats anything I ever saw in my life, and I wouldn't give one bottle of it for all the other medicine in Washington."

"Dreo is now sold and recommended by all the O'Donnell Drug Stores, Bury's Drug Store in Anacostia, Allen's Drug Store in Alexandria.—Adv.

PROBLEM OF RAIMENT VEXES WOMEN ORATORS

Hughes Campaigners Fear Effect of Reports of Their Wealth.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Detroit, Oct. 5.—The regular "war council" in the observation car of the special train of the women campaigners for the election of Charles Evans Hughes had under discussion today a topic far more serious than any political theory. It was the question of how the fair orators should dress when appealing.

The women have found preceding them a report that the special train is filled with costly gowns and hundred dollar hats. Indignant denials have not been effective, and it is probable, that the women will adopt costumes of extreme simplicity.

Of course, the speakers will wear more elaborate gowns and hats at receptions and indoor meetings.

In a speech at Toledo Miss Frances Keeler, standing in a motor car in front of an automobils' factory, declared to a crowd of workmen: "There wasn't a woman on board the special who was worth more than $50.00." She said the women who were paying the expenses of the train were wealthy, but that some of the staff of speakers were working women.

"There is a mild on board the train as a matter of course," she said, "but we don't spend our time being manicured and having our hair dressed. We are too busy for that."

Miss Mary Antin, the novelist, who is one of the speaking staff and who has short and curling hair, speaks without her hat on, and it is probable many of the other women will adopt this mode, because they feel they are "real politicians."

TRAVELING PASSENGER AGENTS DINE AND DANCE

Five hundred members of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents, with their families and friends, were guests at the Ebbitt last night of James Runciman, manager, at a banquet and dance.

The passenger agents spent yesterday sight-seeing in Washington after three days' convention in Philadelphia. They will leave today for Gettysburg, Wilmington, Del.; Atlantic City and Philadelphia, where they will disband Sunday.

The Ebbitt ballroom was attractively decorated with foliage and flowers.

The officers of the association are: President, C. W. Westbury; vice president, H. M. Fletcher, and secretary-treasurer, Elliott T. Monnett. Mr. Westbury, a Washingtonian, is agent of the Southern Railway.

Ordered to Border.

Following its policy, announced Tuesday, of sending to the border all militia organizations that have not been in service along the line, the War Department yesterday afternoon issued orders for immediate transportation of the troops.

DOWNTOWN POSTOFFICE WILL BE OPENED TODAY

New Quarters in Eleventh Street Is Ready for Business.

With "stamped paper stock" to the value of $25,000 to the penny, the new downtown postoffice on Eleventh street, between E and F streets, will open its doors at 8 o'clock—even though it is Friday.

The finishing touches were made yesterday and the last bundle of stock was in place last night. While the men were working yesterday, many came in and deposited letters.

Postmaster Merritt O. Chance, who has been working incessantly for several years to get a downtown office, has announced his intention of being on hand this morning when the door is opened, to purchase the first money order, and one of the clerks last night said he intended, if possible, to get postal savings account No. 1. Business will be started with a clean slate. No boxes have been rented, although many have written in an endeavor to get certain numbers reserved. The 253 boxes are all of the combination type, no keys being necessary. They are the only boxes of this type in the city and there are few in the country.

CIGARS FOR CONVICTS

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 5.—Governor Major of Missouri directed the work of 300 prisoners from the State penitentiary on a ten-mile stretch of road near here. The governor gave every convict three cigars and supplied them with watermelons. For each day the convicts do satisfactory work on the roads they will be allowed twenty days off their sentences.
