VAN SCHAICK FAVORS FREE SCHOOL BOOKS

President of Board Would Include High Schools in Appropriation.

The Board of Education, before which the proposal has been pending, favors free textbooks for high school pupils.

Text books used by the graded schools are being supplied free, and it would be well to extend this policy to include the high schools.

The proposal has been made that free text books be provided for the pupils attending high school, but such a distinction between the students would be undemocratic.

Stephen Elliott Kramer, assistant superintendent of schools, suggested that should it be found impractical to supply free text books, an arrangement might be made through which pupils would be permitted to buy them at wholesale rates.

This practice is followed in supplying the High School Cadet Corps with uniforms.

The shortage of paper has not resulted in an increase in the price of text books, said Mr. Kramer.
