owners and the mine workers. The wage controversy can be settled without resort to a strike. The government stands ready to do everything in its power to facilitate an amicable settlement of the controversy. In the meantime the law must be enforced, and combinations to stop production cannot be tolerated.

Vote in the Circle

Whatever uncertainty there may be in the election of your party candidate today, there is one card date for all parties, and it is called every day.

His family name is "Shirt" and he answers to the given name of "Par-amount."

He has no strict party affiliations—therefore universal in his appeal to men who believe in dressing well economically.

He stands solidly on a platform of inherent merit and one price to everybody.

His campaign cry is, "Down with the H. C. of L."

And one of the pillars of that platform is the Kecall.

Just recall your $1.50 or $2.00 anytime you think you haven't got a square deal.

Plot to Wreck Steel Workers' Train Foiled

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—What police authorities believe was a deliberate attempt to wreck a Gary & Interurban special train, carrying 100 steel workers to the Gary, Ind., mills was frustrated to-night after a conductor on a Michigan Central train that runs parallel to the Interurban reported that he had seen two young men piling railroad ties on the Interurban tracks.

A wrecking crew was rushed to the scene and the ties were removed just as the Interurban came into sight. It would have been difficult to stop the train carrying the workers, for all block signals had been passed.

"Military Control" Posted in Wyoming

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Nov. 2.—At the direction of Brigadier General D. A. Poore, commander at Fort D. A. Russell, proclamations were posted to-day in all Northern Wyoming coal camps establishing "military control" throughout Wyoming.

Infantry and Cavalry Ordered to New Mexico to Do Strike Duty

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 2.—Orders were issued from military headquarters of the El Paso military district at noon today for one squadron of the 12th United States Cavalry, less one troop, and two companies of the 24th Infantry, to proceed at once to Colfax, N. M., for strike duty.

Taylor Warns All Coal Profiteers

U. S. Attorney States Law Under Which Offenders Will Be Prosecuted

A warning that violators of the food and fuel control act, particularly hoarders of coal and speculators of excessive prices, will be vigorously prosecuted, was contained in a statement issued yesterday by George W. Taylor, Assistant United States Attorney.

"The amendment to the food and fuel control act passed by Congress October 22, 1919," he said, "makes it unlawful for any person willfully to obstruct, hinder, or delay the purpose of such act, or the price of such article, commodity, or service, or to prevent or obstruct the distribution of such article, commodity, or service, or to hoard or monopolize any necessary or essential article, commodity, or service, or to engage in any speculative, deceptive or wasteful practice, or to make any unjust or unreasonable rate of charge in handling or dealing in necessities."

It is further made illegal for two or more persons to conspire to limit the facilities for transportation, production, harvesting, manufacturing, supplying, storing or dealing in any necessary or essential article, commodity, or service, to restrict the supply or distribution thereof, to prevent or lessen the manufacture or production in order to enhance the price thereof, or to exact excessive prices for any such article, commodity or service, or to obstruct or delay the distribution of any such article, commodity or service.

On October 31 the President issued a proclamation to enforce the food, fuel, and necessities laws under which the fuel administration operated since January 31, 1919. The regulations fix the price of bituminous coal and the local distributors and margins of dealers have again come into operation.

The prices that now can be lawfully charged are the same as those in effect under the regulations of the fuel administration of January 31, 1919. The penalty for any violation of the act, including the exacting of excessive prices, is a fine of not more than $500.

West Virginia Miners Orderly: Troops Move In

Operators Accused of Trick to Stir Up Bissension in Letter From Leader of the Strike

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 2.—Reports to military headquarters here to-day showed the striking coal miners were conducting themselves in a lawful manner and no attempt was being made to hold meetings, "Mighty" I. Lewis to create dissension among the striking miners of this district by bringing to their attention inflammatory and untruthful statements and announcements, operating through the offices of District No. 12, is not playing fairly with their members.

It is further made illegal for two or more persons to conspire to limit the facilities for transportation, production, harvesting, manufacturing, supplying, storing or dealing in any necessary or essential article, commodity, or service, to restrict the supply or distribution thereof, to prevent or lessen the manufacture or production in order to enhance the price thereof, or to exact excessive prices for any such article, commodity or service, or to obstruct or delay the distribution of any such article, commodity or service.

New York Coal Dealers Opposed to Price Fixing

Reply to Palmer Contends Proposed U. S. Action Would Impede Opposition to Strike

W. A. Marshall, president of the Wholesale Coal Trade Association, in a letter sent yesterday to Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, contending that the proposed U. S. action would impede opposition to the strike.

impede the operators in their fight with the striking miners. In a letter to Mr. Marshall, the Attorney General had declared the coal dealers had attempted, through a circular, to gain consideration and endorsement for a plan to continue the present system of price fixing, based upon supply and demand, throughout the strike. This, the Attorney General charged, would mean an abnormal coal quotation.

In his message to Mr. Palmer, Mr. Marshall said the coal stocks were by no means running low. Most plants have an average supply of sixty days, while the majority of consumers have from two to four months' supplies on hand.

Public Declared Protected. "It is our opinion," Mr. Marshall wrote, "that the stocks of bituminous coals in the hands of the railroads, the abnormally large stocks of steam sized anthracite, accumulated by reason of lack of a market and the production of a normal quantity of non-steam coal, which, if the strike is prolonged, and with full coal supply, which is assured, will be greatly increased by the influx of labor from non-districts will meet the needs of the coal supply of consumers, whose present supply is limited."

"All these conditions considered, it is our confident belief that the prices would not have been unreasonably high, and if they should have become so you are empowered, under the recent amendment to the Lever law, to prosecute the offenders, as pointed out in my first letter."

Long Island City Supplied. Many orders for coal yesterday, which they said might soon absorb the available supply. None of them was pessimistic about the situation. Long Island City was reported to be plentifully stocked for sixty days or more, because of the extensive manufacturing interests of that section. It was believed that a coal shortage would not be felt there.

S. Attorney Lewis W. Ross, of Brooklyn, asked the people of his district to advise him of any signs of hoarding or the part of dealers. He said coal hoarders or profiteers would be promptly prosecuted.

A shipment of anthracite coal in Jersey City was reported yesterday. Dealers said the government was in a most of the coal cars in the transportation of soft coal. The Public Service Corporation, according to P. J. Donohue, its superintendent, has ample coal for present needs.

Operators Quote Lewis Denying Gompers Charge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—What John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, said at Buffalo in September regarding a report that the American Federation of Labor had agreed to maintain prices of coal, is quoted today by operators as "a reply to a recent statement bearing on the coal strike by Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor."

The executive committee of the bituminous coal operators of the central competitive field said Gompers had charged that coal coal operators had conspired to restrict production of coal, which was presented by Gompers to the public.

The statement follows: "The statement of Gompers, published in the Buffalo paper, was untruthful and misleading. It was not intended to mislead the public, but to give the public a false impression of the coal situation. We do not believe the operators have any intention of restricting production of coal."

Operators Raise Question. Philip Ferris, spokesman for the operators at the last conference, said: "I notice that since coming to this conference the coal miners are reported to have told the representatives of the price fixing operation have been primarily cutting down their production for the purpose of maintaining prices."

"I don't wish to enter into the question of the coal strike," concluded Mr. Ross's letter, "but the miners of this district will obey the law. If the state will not enforce the law, it is their duty to do so. We shall continue to operate peacefully and if there is any unfortunate occurrence it will be the result of some act committed by others than the miners of this district."

Governor Cornwall said he had received the letter and would reply. T. L. Lewis, secretary of the New River Coal Association, said tonight the operators in the association were ready to cooperate in any plan the government might adopt to operate the mines. Mr. Lewis declared the sentiment among the union miners of the New River district "is growing in favor of returning to work."

HOW TO VOTE FOR JUDGES DON'T LOSE A VOTE Previous elections have shown that many voters have voted for only one candidate, where there were several candidates on the ballot for Justice of the Supreme Court or Justice of the City Court. This omission has defeated candidates in the past. Voters are requested to be sure to vote for UNTERMYER as well as for LUCE, and for CALLAHAN and REILLEY as well as for WENDEL. Remember that a vote for only one Democratic candidate for Judge and not for the others means an extra vote for their Republican opponents, and the possible defeat of Democratic candidates. The only sure way is to put your X in the square to the right of every star on the ballot.
