Hoover—The Food Dictator Who Lasted

One of Mr. Hoover's Favorite Drawings

On the Home Lines

In Charge of Belgian Relief

Illustration: Hoover's Hatband

Here are some of the cartoons that helped Hoover win.

---

The cartoon shows a fedora hat, which was a symbol of Hoover's leadership during the war effort. The cartoon suggests that Hoover was a master at manipulating public perception and using the press to his advantage. The hatband also serves as a symbol of the Belgian Red Cross, with the words "Belgian Red Cross." The cartoon humorously conveys the idea that Hoover was able to "win" the war by effectively managing the press and propaganda.