

NEW DIPLOMACY WILL HELP CHINA

Recognition of Country by U. S. May Be Followed by Other Nations.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY Country Needs Money Badly and Should Now Negotiate Loans.

That the recognition of the new Chinese republic, forecast in these columns a week ago yesterday, is the natural sequel to the expected refusal on the part of the administration to guarantee American bankers for participation in the six-power Chinese loan, is generally admitted now. It is believed that this recognition will come soon after the return of Secretary of State Bryan, if not before.

Those who stand against the unconditional recognition by the President of "dollar diplomacy," both as regards the Latin-American and the far East, are strongly convinced that the administration's attitude will hamper rather than aid China in attaining a stable and financial condition. They declare that China needs money badly and that there is no question as to the fact that the six-power loan is necessary for existing indebtedness and the exploitation of the physical and commercial resources of that vast country.

Those who long have sought recognition of the new republic declare that such action probably will be followed by like action on the part of other powers, and that the new government, since generally recognized, will have little difficulty in borrowing money at more advantageous terms and without the offering of re-entrenching concessions which in the language of President Wilson, are "some of them antiquated and burdensome." It is advanced that official recognition by this government of the new republic will carry strong assurance of the permanency of the government now prevailing in China.

SANTO DOMINGO TO BE NEXT WILSON SUBJECT

President Expected to Issue Statement in Near Future Setting Forth New Administration's Policy.

The question of United States sovereignty over the island of Santo Domingo may be the subject of the next statement issued by President Wilson. Having disposed of the general Latin-American situation and dollar diplomacy in two direct statements, the President is now considering what is to be done in Santo Domingo, where the United States already has planted dollar diplomacy so deeply that it could with difficulty be uprooted. The Chief Executive will continue within a few days with Brig. Gen. Frank McIntyre, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department, and W. T. S. Doyle, chief of the Latin-American Division of the State Department, who visited Santo Domingo last fall to straighten out internal politics. McIntyre and Doyle were the men who placed Archbishop Nouel in power on the island, and the President considers that they know more about Dominican affairs than anyone else.

After this conference the Chief Executive probably will issue a statement defining the administration's attitude in Santo Domingo, just as clearly as its attitude in Latin America and China was defined in the previous statements.

T. R. INDORSES PLAN OF HOUSE MOOSERS

Representative Murdock of Kansas to Be Put Forward by New Wing as Candidate for Speaker.

Theodore Roosevelt has given his indorsement to the movement that has been started by members of the Progressive party to set up an organization of their own in the new House of Representatives; to put forward Representative Murdock of Kansas as their candidate for Speaker, and to organize with a view to acting in the House without regard to the regular Republicans. Mr. Murdock is an accession to the "Bull Moose" wing of the Progressive party to the House last November as a Republican.

Forty-four Bull Moose and Progressive were invited in a circular letter to attend a conference that is to be held April 2. At this conference the Progressives will appoint a committee to draw up a Progressive legislative program. The letters were sent to members from various States as follows:

Minnesota, 4; South Dakota, 1; North Dakota, 2; Washington, 2; New York, 1; California, 1; Pennsylvania, 1; Wisconsin, 1; Oregon, 2; Massachusetts, 1; Wisconsin, 1; Iowa, 4; Idaho, 1.

The most optimistic of the Bull Moose do not expect more than fifteen Progressives to join with them at the initial conference.

"Progressive Republicans" Alarmed.

The Progressives who still cling to the name "Republican" are alarmed over the determination of Representative Murdock, Hinshaw, and Falconer to form a third "wing" in the House. They have been proclaiming themselves Progressives for a long time, but in the absence of a new party organization they have been content to set up the plea that they are Republicans. They ran on that ticket in the last elections.

The Bull Moose herd, with which Mr. Murdock is now foregathered, has been advised that the "Progressive Republicans" intend to vote for a candidate for Speaker of their own choosing. They intend to support either Cooper or Lenroot of Wisconsin, Woods of Iowa, or some other member who is generally recognized as a Progressive. Murdock, Hinshaw, and Falconer are convinced that most of the Progressive Republicans will hold aloof from the new organization at first, but they express the belief that in a comparatively short time all Progressives will find themselves in the same camp.

Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader, already has given assurance that the Roosevelt Progressives if they organize, will have representation on all important committees. There appears to be no disagreement among Democratic leaders on this point.

PROGRESSIVES WANT JOBS

Former Gov. Campbell of Texas Calls for White House.

The demands of the Progressive Democrats of Texas for recognition in the distribution of patronage over the heads of their Representatives in Congress, who, they believe, are ignoring their recommendations, were brought to the attention of President Wilson by former Gov. Campbell of Texas for the second time yesterday.

Gov. Campbell presented a memorial to Mr. Wilson last week, in which it was declared that the evident intention of twelve of the sixteen Texas Representatives was to punish those who supported Wilson as against Clark in the previous election, by increasing their patronage in making up states for Federal patronage in the State. After his interview with the President yesterday, Gov. Campbell declared that the "White House" at the outlook for the recognition of progressive friends.

WILSON TO STAY ON JOB.

President Refuses Invitations to Attend Two Conventions.

President Wilson yesterday declined two invitations to attend the annual convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce to visit Baltimore on June 12, and the meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, and Prof. J. Lawrence Laughlin, of the University of Chicago, asked the President to be present at a meeting of the Chicago Economic Society in May.

The President declined both invitations, because he does not intend to leave Washington until the close of the present session in Congress.

WOOLEY TO BE NAMED.

Virginia Man Will Be First Assistant to McAdoo.

Robert M. Wooley, of Virginia, will probably receive the only recess appointment made by President Wilson to an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, it was learned yesterday, desires to obtain an assistant who will take charge of a large amount of work which has accumulated in the department in the last few weeks, and Wooley's appointment probably will be made tomorrow, and the new Assistant Secretary sworn in a few moments later.

sacrifice in remaining with the department. The President could not be expected to feel constrained to consult with a Republican holdover on the advisability of taking such a step.

Mr. Bryan was not in ignorance of this proposed step, and it is known that other members of the Cabinet were apprised in advance of the President's intention. He discussed the statement before it was issued.

Mr. Wilson's final withdrawal from the State Department takes out of the diplomatic service of the United States one who has been in the service of the United States for more than twenty years, and most of which was in connection with matters pertaining to the Far East. Mr. Wilson drew up, as an official at the State Department, the "gentleman's agreement" with the representatives of the vexatious and dangerous issue with Japan over immigration, and he has for years been the chief authority at the department on foreign relations in the Far East. He served first the representative in Tokyo, being appointed in 1892, when he was but twenty-three years old. He remained in the Orient until 1898, when he was made Third Assistant Secretary of State, then his service at the department was initiated and took a large part in the execution of the reorganization of the State Department, the reform of the consular service, and the installation of the division of foreign relations, which were long service abroad had been placed in immediate charge of the business of the State Department with the nations of the different continents of the world.

Mr. Wilson's Letter.

Mr. Wilson's letter to the President was as follows: "My dear Mr. President: In view of all the circumstances, I feel that the resignation which I had the honor to submit to you March 17, 1913, is still effective today. I have accordingly handed over the charge of the Department of State to Mr. Ades, the able and experienced Second Assistant Secretary of State. If I had felt that the representative in office or not would affect in any way the interests of the country which I have had the honor to serve, I should not have today resigned my office. I beg leave now to communicate to you; but it seems now demonstrated that my remaining can serve no useful purpose.

"It today beyond the department work for the success of the Democratic party places him in the front rank of possible aspirants, and the announcement of his appointment would bring joy to thousands of his faithful Democratic co-workers, who would look upon his elevation as a recognition of the rank and file who faithfully labored to elevate Woodrow Wilson to the highest office within the gift of the people.

The resolutions coincide with a petition to the President for the appointment of Mr. Clayton. Mr. Clayton already has received a number of indorsements from leading labor and citizens' associations in the District.

McCOMBS EXPECTED TO GO TO FRANCE

Democratic National Chairman Arrives in Capital for Conference with President Wilson.

William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, arrived in Washington last night. He will see President Wilson today and the general belief is that he has made up his mind to accept the Ambassadorship to France.

Mr. McCombs acknowledged last night that he had decided the question, but refused to say anything for publication until after he had talked with the President.

Mr. McCombs' friends have insisted that his accepting the foreign post was the fear that his friends who had worked with him during the campaign might not be cared for by the administration. However, there has been an understanding between the President and Mr. McCombs on this subject, and it is believed that he will take the foreign appointment.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE UNDERWOOD PLAN

Caucus April 4 to Protest Against Committee Reorganization Being Held Up Until Tariff Bill is Passed.

Opposition from House Democrats, who do not look with favor on Representative Underwood's plan to reorganize the organization of committees until the tariff bill is passed, loomed up yesterday with the announcement that about fifty Democratic members from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, California, and other Western States would hold a caucus April 4 to consider this plan.

It is known that most of these Democrats are opposed to Underwood's plan, claiming it is an attempt to club Democratic members into line for tariff duties which they believe too low. The scheme combine of Democrats for the caucus is to adopt a rule whereby members of the twelve important committees of the House should have no other committee assignments.

Strike Analyzes Poteries.

East Liverpool, Ohio, March 20.—Seven hundred striking girls in this and nearby towns have paralyzed the pottery industry of Ohio and West Virginia, and today a majority of the thirty factories in this vicinity are closed. Four thousand men and women are out of work. The few factories still operating will be obliged to suspend the normal production of other thousand employees will then be idle.

Schoolgirl Shot While at Play.

Scranton, Pa., March 20.—While playing "ring around the roses" today in the grounds of the Burdick School, ten-year-old Margaret Rounds fell dead with a bullet through her temple from a revolver accidentally discharged by fifteen-year-old John W. Roy. The boy had been cleaning the pistol at his home, across the street, without having removed the cartridges.

M'ADOO HAS TROUBLE FINDING RIGHT MEN

Herds of Job Hunters—Those Chosen Take Time in Going to Work.

GOV. BURKE IS LOCATED

Although hunted day and night by an army of office-seekers to such an extent that he was compelled to close his doors to them, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is not only having difficulty in finding the right man for each of the higher jobs at his disposal, but also finds that the men who have accepted are in no great hurry to rush up for their share of the Federal pay. So far he has made but two appointments—John Skelton Williams, of Richmond, Va., to be Assistant Secretary, and former Gov. Burke of North Dakota to be United States Treasurer. Mr. Williams' nomination was confirmed last Saturday, and that of Gov. Burke on Monday. Mr. Williams was expected to assume the duties of his office Tuesday or Wednesday of this week, but now it develops he will be unable to close up his personal affairs in time to be sworn in before next week. Anticipating four years of hard work guarding the nation's gold, Gov. Burke is taking a week's rest before coming into office. While a score of persons were scrambling for this office, Secretary McAdoo spent two days last week sending telegrams to various points in the Northwest in an effort to locate Gov. Burke to offer him the job. He was finally located in the city of Minneapolis on Saturday, and he decided to take the offer from Secretary McAdoo instead of one to go into the diplomatic service. The ex-Governor was expected to come to Washington at once, but since he had not shown up yesterday another search was made, and the Governor was located in Chicago, where he was "resting up."

CLAYTON INDORSED FOR COMMISSIONER

Citizens' Association Says Rudolph and Oyster Are Out of Touch with New Administration.

RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Cuno H. Rudolph and Capt. James F. Oyster, nominated for District Commissioners by former President William Howard Taft, were declared as being in touch with the new administration, and therefore unacceptable candidates, by a unanimous vote of the East Washington Suburban Citizens' Association, at its meeting last night, and in the vicinity of Woodrow Wilson Clayton was given the warmest possible indorsement.

The indorsement of Mr. Clayton for Commissioner reads in part: "In our judgment, William Clayton has every qualification to be considered in an ideal Commissioner. He is a zealous worker, a man of high ideals, ever mindful of the interests of the great mass of the people. If elected, he would represent the entire District of Columbia, and not one portion thereof, as has frequently been the case in the past.

"His long, persistent, continuous, and aggressive activity in campaign work for the success of the Democratic party places him in the front rank of possible aspirants, and the announcement of his appointment would bring joy to thousands of his faithful Democratic co-workers, who would look upon his elevation as a recognition of the rank and file who faithfully labored to elevate Woodrow Wilson to the highest office within the gift of the people.

The resolutions coincide with a petition to the President for the appointment of Mr. Clayton. Mr. Clayton already has received a number of indorsements from leading labor and citizens' associations in the District.

Young, husband of the Lillian Russell, and William Cooper, formerly president of the Seigel-Cooper Company, Alvin Young and C. J. Van Slyke, charging conspiracy to defraud. The indictments, which were returned by the grand jury, are based on the charge that the four men, through their "mischievous activity," had been engaged in a real estate scheme, involving a large tract of land near Ashbury Park, made sale to small investors on representation that the property was unincumbered, but that the $250,000, held by George Warner, of the Windsor Trust Company, of New York City.

LILLIAN RUSSELL TELLS HOW TO LIVE 100 YEARS

"Unique Entertainment" Shows Stage Favorite in Various Poses, Costumes and Places.

That never-fading beauty, Miss Lillian Russell, who seems to have discovered the secret of that fabled fountain for which Ponce de Leon searched in vain, appeared before an interested audience at the New National Theater yesterday afternoon in what she very properly describes as a "unique entertainment," and during the progress of which she took her audience into her confidence to the extent of giving them a few pointers on "How to Live 100 Years."

Miss Russell cited herself as the best example of the effect of her theories and practices, and with the aid of numerous reels of Kinemacolor pictures proceeded to explain the why and how of her present "exceedingly satisfactory" state of health and comeliness.

After an unusual Kinemacolor film showing numerous flowers in all the beauty of their natural colors and in every stage of development from bud to blossom, Miss Russell made her appearance clad in a wonderful sartorial creation that proved of much interest to the feminine portion of the audience. She stationed herself by the side of the screen and as a Kinemacolor portion of her bedroom was revealed told of her health exercises, enlightened her audience as to the value of hair brushing as an exercise, and finding herself in a gymnasium pounding a punching bag and throwing a medicine ball, told of the benefit she had derived from these and other exercises.
