LITERARY NOTICE.

THE SECTIONAL CONTROVERSY; Or, Passages in the Political History of the United States, including the Causes of the War between the Sections. By WM. CHAUNCEY FOWLER, LL. D. New York: Charles Scribner, 124 Grand street. 1862. 8vo., pp. 350. For sale by Philip & Solomon.

This book will be much read for three reasons: In the first place, it contains matter which it is important that every citizen should be familiar with. Secondly, it is a compend of certain views upon the sectional controversies that have taken place in the country, and as such, forms a convenient manual for statesmen and others who have occasion to refer to the history of the questions to which it relates. And thirdly, it will be welcomed by many persons, North and South, as a careful compilation of the arguments which are used to justify the secession of States in this Republic.

It is [illegible] ...that it will owe its largest sale. The pursuit of knowledge by the many, or convenience to scholarly men, are not such increments to the circulation of printed matter, as are the passions of partisanship. He who writes for truth alone must be content, like Bacon, to leave his "work to after-times." He who would have his book sell in his own day and generation, must write for party. We utter here but a general truth—as applicable now as if we were writing of the times of Dryden or Swift. We desire to distinctly disavow the belief that the author of this volume commenced upon his subject, or has pursued the same, with any partizan aims. The tone of his book is such that we readily acquit him of that charge. To industry and ability he adds candor. But, nevertheless, his work is the fullest and completest argument in justification of secession that has fallen under our notice.

If the Constitution of the United States is a compact between the several States, to which the States "acceded," them from "secession" may be well argued the converse, "secession." This seems to be the aim of Dr. Fowler's book. But, in judging of the Constitution, it is certainly worth while to look at least once to the Constitution itself.

That instrument opens with these words:

"We, THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES, in order to form a more perfect union, &c., do ORDAIN and ESTABLISH this constitution for the United States of America."

It closes with these words:

"The ratification of the convention of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the States so ratifying the same."

It seems to us that it must be plain to him who intelligently examines the Constitution—we mean the text of that instrument, and not the glosses or constructions put upon it at the time of its adoption or since—that its framers meant under, by, and through it, to establish a nation of the people who inhabited the thirteen colonies, which had just achieved independence of the British crown.

Yet there were in all of those colonies men, not without ability and of a certain influence, who, it was well understood in the convention that formed the Constitution, would cavil at its provisions and its phrases, and discourage its ratification. No argument better served the purposes of such than that the Constitution tended too strongly to centralised power, to "strong government," and, accordingly, to what was much feared in those days, monarchy.

The word "national" was in the original draft of the Constitution as finally reported to the convention. [illegible] ...stricken out without debate. It would have been a word to be seized upon by the State-sovereignty orators, the gauntlet of whom the Constitution was to run in the great struggle for ratification. The word was nothing if the substance of nationality were left in the Constitution.

The Constitution was "ordained and established" by the "people of the United States." The instrument itself provided that the people should manifest their ordination and establishment of it through conventions in the several States—a convenient form—delegate conventions instead of a direct vote by the people.

The argument of State sovereignty, derived from the assertion of the existence of the States before the Constitution, is found, when examined in the light of history, to be vague and delusive.

Thirteen colonies, which had never possessed any sovereignty, but were dependencies of the British crown, resist the assumptions of that crown, combine in arms, form a confederation, win their independence. When the war is over, a war fought for popular and not for corporate or State rights, they formed themselves into a power which they denominated the "United States of America," not the United States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, &c. Now, where did "States" get their "State rights" and "State sovereignty?" Clearly not as a heritage of their colonial condition. Clearly not from the war, for that was conducted by the people of all the States, and no particular State won any rights, or asserted any special claim at its commencement or during its prosecution.

The Constitution wisely leaves all powers, except such as are necessary to the existence of the nation, all of which are asserted in that instrument, with the people, the fountain of all power.

"The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."—Amendments, Art. IX.

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."—Amendments, Art. X.

"State sovereignty" is an ex post facto invention, devised for no good to the Republic, and has in it the seeds of death to the Constitution and to national existence. The author of the volume before us has faithfully and painfully collected the most pointed expressions of the leading men who have favored this fatal doctrine. And he sustains the doctrine triumphantly—if we may reject the evidence of the Constitution itself and believe what has been said of it by those not always friendly to it.

COMMANDER PREBLE'S CASE.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser writes of the decision of the naval commission of inquiry in Commander Preble's case:

The commission, which was composed of Admiral Foote, Commodore Davis, and Lieutenant Commander Phelps, after a careful examination into the running of the blockade by the Ovieto, as narrated by Commander Preble, have reported that that officer failed to perform his duty. They accompany their report by a careful review of the case, showing the manner in which a blockading vessel should bring to a strange vessel. Commander Preble did not act in accordance with naval usage, in waiting to "hail" the supposed English man of war, and in firing three shots across his bows, instead of firing at him when the first shot was unnoticed as a signal to heave to. While Commander Preble's own reports show that he failed to perform his duty, he also states that had he known the true character of the vessel he could have "run her down," admitting that he was to blame for not having ascertained whether it was a friend or foe until it was too late, and the vessel slipped past him. This opinion of a commission of experienced officers but confirms the judgment of the Secretary of the Navy, who makes no parade of his discipline, yet keeps the nautical defenders of our flag at their posts, and sees that they do their duty.

A GENERAL, at the point of death, opening his eyes and seeing a consultation of three physicians who were standing close by his bedside, hastily exclaimed, "Gentlemen, if you fire by platoons it is all over with me!" and instantly expired.

A LIBERTY TREE GONE.—The Newport R. I. correspondent of the Providence Journal writes:

We have lost one of our old landmarks—the Liberty tree, so called, at the upper part of the town, at the junction of Farewell and Thames streets. This tree, with the land on which it stood, was given by William Reed, in 1776, to four trustees, "to be set apart for the use of the Sons of Liberty, and that the same stand as a monument of the spirited and noble opposition made to the Stamp Act in the year 1765 by the Sons of Liberty in Newport, Rhode Island, and throughout the continent of North America, and to be considered as emblematical of public liberty," &c., &c.; and also for a very singular use, viz:—as set forth in the deed, from a copy of which I take these extracts—"And further, more, the said Tree of Liberty is destined and set apart for promoting so public ignominy and reproach all offenders against the liberties of their country, and abettors and approvers of such as would enslave her." To this end the tree [illegible] ...and [illegible] ...wickedness would, if not cut out in another manner, have been [illegible] ...place, but were prevented by those who considered it sacrilegious to remove it. But a few days since the remains were taken down by the order of the city authorities, and just now, when most we need it, we have no place on which to "expose to public ignominy the offenders against the liberties of our country."

THE LIVINGSTONE EXPEDITION.—At the meeting of the Royal Geographical Society, on Monday, a letter from Dr. Livingstone was read. It stated that at Mount Zomba there were two tribes, which were exceedingly warlike and destructive. There was a party of those people, who, elated with continued success, finding they were before a small number of about twenty, commenced shooting their poisoned arrows, when a resort to fire-arms was necessary. None, however, were struck by the fire-arms. Fortunately, none were hit by the arrows, as they were handled by native Portuguese slaves. On approaching Lake Nyassa, they found elephants and hippopotami, which were very tame; and in that locality they fell in with a number of natives, who wished the English to sit in the sun while they remained in the shade. This was not acceded to, when they rattled their shields, and being frightened at the production of a note-book, which they thought a pistol, they sped away. Reference was made to a thick atmospheric-like smoke, which was composed of insects, which the natives collected and made into a kind of cake, tasting like roasted locusts, but fishy. Alluding to the cotton districts, which were most prolific, together with the lakes and cataracts, the letter concluded with a notice of the most extensive slave traffic, which was carried on to the westward.

THE LARGEST OIL WELL IN THE WORLD.—The largest oil well yet struck is that of Phillips, Frew & Co., on the Tarr farm, on Oil creek. It flowed at the extraordinary rate of 4,000 barrels per day, but was afterwards diminished very materially by the opening of a flowing well on the lot immediately adjoining. It has been gradually diminishing, until it now runs but 300 barrels per day. This, however, at the present high price of crude oil, makes the well almost as valuable as when it first commenced flowing. An engraving of this famous well can be seen in one of the New York illustrated papers. It is admitted to have been the most productive well in the Venango region, and hence the largest in the world.—Pittsburg Gazette.

THE Russian emancipation is already beginning to show good fruits. The government of Tomsk, which formerly had 10 village schools, (with 256 pupils, now (eighteen months later) numbers 1,193 schools, with 16,897 pupils. In the government of Simbirsk, the number of schools rose, during the same period, from 20 to 271; of pupils, from 375 to 4,192; in Podolia, from 306 to 1,288 schools, and 14,596 to 30,000 pupils.

INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY.—The Grand Jury of Ohio county, Va., in session at Wheeling, have reported indictments against a dozen or more of the coal diggers engaged in the late strike, charging them with a violation of the law against combinations and conspiracies. Some of the strikers behaved very badly, and undertook to prevent others from going to work.

HUMPHREY MARSHALL'S LIBRARY, consisting of fifteen large boxes of law and miscellaneous books, have been condemned by the United States Court, at Columbus, Ohio, and ordered to be sold at auction.

DR. HOLMES playfully limits the necessities of life in these war times to "bread and the newspaper."

GRAND ADVANCE OF THE ARMY, and clothiers are crying up the great advance of clothing, but we are selling at a small advance on old prices. We have a large stock on hand, and are selling them off to make more room, for we have a very large stock of Clothing at our manufactory, and are now running off our stock at less than wholesale prices to make room. We have always been fighting against high prices, and shall continue to do so. Mr. SMITH is in the market all the time, and is enabled to furnish our store with a superior stock, and we cannot be undersold by any one. We have the means to sell cheap, and are determined to do it at

WHO SAYS SO? We say that our store in the First ward may not have caused a commotion, but do say that we are running off an immense stock of Clothing at the Leading First Ward Store, corner of Twentieth street and Pennsylvania avenue, but who ever saw a store where a Smith was that did not do business? and the reason is, they always sell their goods too cheap. That is why they are always poor. (Who ever heard of a Smith getting rich? I never did.)

We are determined to furnish all the First Ward with Good Clothing.

Everybody had better come soon and buy, as our neighbors, in a similar business, say that we cannot stand it more than ninety days longer selling goods so cheap, but we have a very large lot of Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, and Shoes left, and we are determined to run them off at great bargains, at Headquarters for Clothing in the First Ward, corner of Twentieth street and Pennsylvania avenue and No. 460 Seventh street.

PROPOSALS FOR HORSES.

DEPOT QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE,
Corner Eighteenth and G streets,
Washington, D. C., Dec. 16, 1862.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this office until Saturday, the 27th day of December, at 12 o'clock m., for furnishing the Government with (2,000) twenty-five hundred Horses, of the following descriptions, viz:

CAVALRY.

For Cavalry, (1,500) one thousand five hundred Horses, from (15) fifteen to (16) sixteen hands high between five and eight years of age; of dark colors; well broken to the saddle; compactly built; and free from all defects.

ARTILLERY.

For Artillery, (1,000) one thousand Horses, from (15½) fifteen and one-half to (16) sixteen hands high, between five and eight years of age; of dark colors; free from all defects; well broken to harness; compactly built, and to weigh not less than 1,100 pounds.

PROPOSALS.

The full name and post office address of the bidder must appear in the proposal.

If a bid is made in the name of a firm, the names of all the parties must appear, or the bid will be considered as the individual proposal of the party signing it.

Proposals from disloyal parties will not be considered, and an oath of allegiance must accompany each proposition.

Proposals must specify clearly whether the bid is for Cavalry or Artillery Horses, and in no case must both be bid for on the same paper.

If any bidder wishes to propose for both classes, he must forward two distinct proposals—one for each class, complete in itself—and having no reference to any other proposal by the same party.

Proposals must be addressed to Col. D. H. Rucker, Quartermaster U. S. army, Washington, D. C., and should be plainly marked "Proposals for Horses."

GUARANTEE.

The ability of the bidder to fill the contract, should it be awarded to him, must be guarantied by two responsible persons, whose signatures must be appended to the guarantee.

The responsibility of the guarantors must be shown by the official certificate of the Clerk of the nearest District Court or of the United States District Attorney.

Bidders must be present in person when the bids are opened, or their proposals will not be considered.

Bonds equal in amount to one-half the sum to be received on the contract, signed by the contractor and both of his guarantors, will be required of the successful bidder upon signing the contract.

As the bond must accompany the contract, it will be necessary for bidders to have their bondsmen with them, or to have bonds signed in anticipation and ready to be produced when the contract is signed.

Blanks for bonds can be procured upon application being made at this office, either personally, by letter, or by telegraph.

Form of Guarantee.

We, ——, of the county of ——, and State of ——, and ——, of the county of ——, and State of ——, do hereby guaranty that —— —— is able to fulfil a contract, in accordance with the terms of his proposition, and that should his proposition be accepted, he will at once enter into a contract in accordance therewith.

Should the contract be awarded him we are prepared to become his securities.

(To this guarantee must be appended the official certificate above mentioned.)

INSPECTION, DELIVERY, &c.

All Horses contracted for under this advertisement will be subjected to a rigid inspection, and those not conforming to the specifications will be rejected.

No Mares will be received.

The Horses must be delivered in this city, within twenty days from the date of the contract, and no extension of time will be granted on any pretext.

Payment to be made upon the completion of the contract, or so soon thereafter as the Depot Quartermaster shall be in funds.

Any informality in the bid, or non-conformance with the terms of this advertisement, will insure the rejection of the proposal.

The Horses will be awarded in lots of (200) two hundred each, unless the Depot Quartermaster should deem it for the interest of the Government to vary the number.

The Depot Quartermaster reserves to himself the right to reject any or all bids that he may deem too high.

D. H. RUCKER,
Colonel and Depot Quartermaster.

Edward Everett's Reply to an English Lord.

BY POETICAL PUMP.

What have we in America?
We've wonder great and grand;
We have the essence of the earth,
The cream of every land.

Our mountains are magnificent,
Our rivers are immense.
And each man has a kingly style,
If not a king's expense.

Our ships are known to all the world;
The farms cannot be beat;
Our cities, full of luxury,
Are famous for the neat.

We've orators and authors, too,
With intellects of force;
We've railroads scattered everywhere;
And one Professor Morse.

Our girls have beauty, wit, and grace,
They're charming, sweet, and fair;
But, then, the grandest thing we have
Is known as great OAK HALL,

Where the fall and winter stock of first-class clothing is now ready in extra abundance and greatest variety. All the new-style Overcoats, Sacks, Business Coats, Peg-top Pants, &c., selling at prices so low that everybody will buy and be satisfied.

PROPOSALS FOR BEEF CATTLE.

SEALED PROPOSALS are invited until the 22d day of December, 1862, for supplying the United States Subsistence Department with 6,000 head of Beef Cattle on the hoof.

The Cattle to be delivered at Washington, D. C., and each animal to average 1,300 pounds gross. No cattle admitted that weighs less than 1,000 pounds gross. Heifers, Stags and Bulls not wanted.

The first delivery to be made on or about the 10th day of January, 1863, or as soon thereafter as the Government may direct. 600 head of Cattle per week will be required to be delivered under this contract.

A bond with good and sufficient security will be required. Twenty per cent. of the purchase money will be retained until the completion of the contract.

Proposals from contractors who have previously failed to comply with their bids, from disloyal persons, or where the bidder is not present to respond to his bid, will not be considered.

The names of firms should be stated in full, with the precise address of each member of the firm.

Payment to be made in certificates of indebtedness, or such other funds as Government may have for disbursement.

All bids to be accompanied by two guarantees and directed to Col. A. BECKWITH, A. D. C., and C. S. U. S. A., Washington, D. C., and endorsed "Proposals for Beef Cattle."

Form of Guarantee.

We, ——, of the county of ——, and State of ——, do hereby guarantee that —— —— is able to fulfil the contract in accordance with the terms of his proposition, and that, should his proposition be accepted, he will at once enter into a contract in accordance therewith.

Should the contract be awarded him, we are prepared to become his securities.

(This guarantee must be appended to each bid.)

The responsibility of the guarantors must be shown by the official certificate of the clerk of the nearest District Court, or of the United States District Attorney.

Bids which do not comply with the above will be rejected.

PROPOSALS.

BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS,
Navy Department,
24th November, 1862.

SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for building house at Naval Hospital, New York," will be received at this office, until noon on the 23d day of December, 1862, for furnishing all the materials and workmanship required in constructing a house for a Surgeon, on the Naval Hospital grounds at Brooklyn, New York, according to plans and specifications which are lodged with the Civil Engineer, and may be seen on application to him at the Brooklyn Navy Yard—which plans and specifications will be attached to and form a part of the contract.

Form of Offer.

(Here date the offer.)

I, (here insert the name or names composing the firm,) of (name the town,) in the State of (name the State,) hereby offer to furnish under your advertisement dated (date of advertisement,) and subject to all the requirements of the same, and of the plans and specifications to which it refers, all the materials and workmanship necessary for the construction and completion of the house for a Surgeon at the Naval Hospital at New York, according to the plans and specifications, for the sum of (here write the amount in words,) and should my offer be accepted, I request the contract may be prepared and sent to the Navy Agent, at (name the agency) for signature and certificate. (Here the bidder and each member of the firm are to sign.)

Form of Guarantee.

The undersigned, (name of guarantor,) of (name the town,) and State of (name the State,) and (name of second guarantor, &c.,) hereby undertake that the above named (name the bidder or bidders,) will, if his (or their) offer as above be accepted, enter into contract with the United States, within fifteen days after the date of notice, through the post office, of the acceptance of his (or their) offer before mentioned.

Witness: (Signatures of guarantors.)

I certify that the above named (here name the guarantors) are known to me to be good and responsible guarantors in this case.

(Signature.)

To be signed by the district judge, district attorney, collector, navy agent, or some person known to the bureau to be responsible.

To guard against offers being opened before the time appointed, bidders are requested to endorse on the envelope, above the address, and draw a line under the endorsement, thus:

"Proposals for Surgeon's House for the Navy Yard at New York."

WATER NOTICE.

In consequence of the lowness of the water in the General Reservoir it will be necessary, unless great economy of water is practiced, for the Government soon to shut off the supply to citizens entirely.

All persons are, therefore forbidden to use the hydrants on Pennsylvania avenue, or on any streets or avenues under the care and supervision of the Commissioner of Public Buildings, for watering the streets or pavements, or for any private purpose whatever.

And all persons using the water are urgently solicited to be as economical in its use as possible.

B. B. FRENCH,
sep 30 Commissioner of Public Buildings.

NEW INVENTION
OF
ARTIFICIAL CLEOPLASTIC BONE TEETH, without metal plate or clasps, by
DR. S. B. SIGESMOND,
910 Broadway, New York; and 460 Penn. avenue, between Twelfth and Thirteenth sts.,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,

Calls the attention of the public to the following advantages of his improved system:

1st. The teeth of his manufacture will never corrode nor change color by any acids, and are three-fourths lighter than any other.

2d. No teeth nor roots need be extracted, as the artificial ones can be inserted over them.

3d. The roots will be made inoffensive and never to ache.

4th. No temporary teeth are needed, as permanent ones can be made immediately, thereby preserving the natural expression of the face, which, under the old system, is frequently disfigured.

5th. This work has been fully tested, for over five years, by many of the first chemists and physicians of this and the old country.

Dr. S. has also invented a white indestructible metal filling, with which the most sensitive teeth can be filled without pain, and can build up a perfect sound tooth on any side roots, which will last through a lifetime.

He refers to the following gentlemen: Dr. V. Mott; Dr. Doremus, Professor of Chemistry; Hon. A. Mann, jun.; Capt. Crabtree, Vice President of the Emigration Company of New York; Hon. Judge Wayne, of the Supreme Court, of Washington, D. C.; and thousands of others.

Call and examine for yourselves. nov 8—6m

PROSPECTUS
WEEKLY NATIONAL REPUBLICAN.

The undersigned commenced, in the month of December, 1860, the publication, in this city, of a weekly newspaper, called the National Republican.

It is printed on a large sheet, twenty-seven by forty-two inches, and is furnished at the low prices stated below.

It contains all the original matter of the Daily National Republican, with the exception of local news not interesting to country subscribers.

It will give full reports of the proceedings of Congress, and of the other Departments of the National Government.

It contains all the news of the day, foreign and domestic, markets, &c., &c., as well as an original correspondence from all parts of the country. The miscellaneous department will receive special attention, and, in all respects, the effort will be made to establish the character of the National Republican as a Family Newspaper.

Washington being now the central point of the current military operations, great attention will be paid to furnishing the readers of the National Republican with full, and especially with accurate, accounts of the progress of the war for the Union.

In politics, the paper is Republican, sustaining the Administration of Mr. Lincoln.

There is no other Republican paper in the District of Columbia, or in the vicinity of it, and it is believed that recent events have opened to such a paper an important sphere of useful effort. The time has come, when the actual administration of the Government upon Republican principles will explode the misrepresentations which have made those principles a distasteful to the South.

But it is not only here, and in this vicinity, that the projectors of the National Republican hope to make it useful. To the whole country they offer a journal which will discuss national politics from a national stand-point, and which will never be swerved from patriotic duty by any overpowering pressure of local interest.
