WARNER HALL.—A second meeting of those opposed to the new Constitution was held at Warner's Hall last evening, Charles Walker, Esq., in the chair, J. Summerfield acting as Secretary. Although the meeting was impromptu and only preliminary to a mass meeting to be held Saturday night, great enthusiasm prevailed. Stirring speeches were made by Gen. U. F. Linder, Charles Walker, Esq., Peter Page, Esq., and others, and a committee chosen, consisting of Peter Page, Lewis H. Davis, and Dr. David Brainard, to nake arrangements for the coming meetin of which we shall give further intelligence in our next issue. The most cheering news is coming in from all quarters, of opposition to the Egyptian swindle and a determination to crush it out. For once the people are aroused shall not crush this iniquitous fraud dowr their throats. The skies are bright and all

OUR "COMMERCIAL" GETS A PRESENT .-- On Wednesday evening some unknown person placed a basket containing a male child about four weeks of age, upon the doorstep of the residence of J. F. Ballantyne, Commercial Editor of this paper. In the basket containing the little waif, the cruel kindness of its unknown parent, had placed a bottle of milk and a clean change of clothing. To the cruelty of desertion the same parent had added the danger of destroying the little one, by drugging it to keep it quiet. Mr. B. took the little stranger thus rudely thrust upon the world into his charge, and had it sent to the Home for the Friendless, where it will find proper care and attention. The family were absent at the time the basket was left, but the neighbors observed the action, taking little notice of it, however, as they supposed it was a consignment of goods. The party who left it was a tall, heavy, black-whiskered man. Late in the night a woman clad in a white shawl was observed hovering about the premises, but suddenly becoming alarmed, she rapidly dis-

TRIAL TRIP OF THE TUG J. PRINDIVILLE. The new and staunch wrecking tug, J. Prindiville, with a large party of invited guests on four o'clock upon her first trial trip, which proved eminently successful, and demonstra-ted beyond question that Chicago mechanics have turned out the handsomest tug upon the lakes. Every part of the Prindiville except her boilers is the handiwork of our own me chanics. While upon the lake, a basket of Sillery was opened, and appropriate addresses were made by Ex-Mayor Rumsey, B. F. Ayer, nsey, B. F. Ayer, Esq., and others, and a general season of good wishes and good feeling prevailed.

The engines of the Prindiville are twenty-four-inch beam, twenty-two inch stroke, and of five hundred horse power. She cost in the vicinity of $30,000. She was built by Miller Bros. & Clarke, and her engines by Henry Warrington. Joseph Nicholson, Esq., formerly commander of the Planet, is captain, and John Ebart, lately connected with the Galena road, is engineer. Both of these men are well known citizens, and men who must prove popular in any undertaking. The Prindiville will be used mainly upon the St. Claur Flats; and for working purposes she is in every respect the largest, handsomest and nost powerful tng upon the lakes. We congratulate her owners, Messrs. Prindiville, upor the success of their new tug, creditable alike to the builders and the wide-awake energy and business enterprise of her owners. Success to the gallant craft.

OPENING OF SHUFELDT'S ALCOHOL WORKS. -The extensive alcohol manufactory of Mr. H. H. Shufeldt, No. 69 South Water street, was opened for public inspection on Tuesda afternoon, and was made the occasion of a visit by a large number of South Water street merchants, who spent a pleasant hour in in specting the establishment and apparatus and discussing a handsome banquet, set by the enterprising proprietor. This house were the first manufacturers of alcohol and pure spirits in Chicago, commencing in 1855, at which time they turned out some twenty-five barrels per day. Then the market was prin cipally supplied from Cincinnati and other places. Now the capacity of the new apparatus is about eighty barrels per day, and it can be increased very easily to about 100 barrels per day. The building occupied by Mr. Shufeldt is 25 by 140 feet, and six stories high. In the basement are the steam boilers; on the first floor the kettle—which is of copper, and holds forty barrels—surmounted by a dome of burnished copper, with finished brass flanges. The column, also of copper, is in seven sections, thirty-six inches in diam ter, and twenty-four feet in height, extending to the third story. Its cost was $3,000, the whole cost of the apparatus being $10,000. In the second story are the discharging box, the alcohol and spirit receivers, changing and distilling tubs, &c. In the the third story is the cold worm, 230 feet in length, and eight rectifiers; also a packed tub for rectifying the lake water for use in the boilers. Here, too, is an excellent fire apparatus, which may be of incalculable use in time ratus, which may be of incalculable use in time of need. In the fourth story is the condensing worm, which will hold 300 barrels of water, and has a faucet weighing fifty pounds, costing $28. There are also on this floor numerous tubs for mixing spirits to rectify, &c.
In the fifth etery is the water-feeder, with a capacity of 225 barrels.

The magnitude of the establishment is on a par with the enterprise of the proprietor, and will undoubtedly field to him a splendid reo the patronage of business men every-ranks of our Sunday Schools would come our nest valuable men for all the positions of life. The best farmer, mechanic, merchant, miller, lawyer, banker, politician, statesman, or minister of the gospel, would come from among those who had been early educated

He would nail that emblem of the free "just beneath the banner of the cross," and push the two together around the world. He believed that notwithstanding there were yet clouds in the sky, that a brighter day for America was soon to dawn. The morning light is already breaking. After the reading of the minutes, Mr. Harsha moved that the statistics of the Sabbath Schools presented by the delegates, be placed on file.

On motion of Mr. Boring, it was ordered that the discussion of the question, "Is it desirable to encourage picnics and excursions, and if so, to what extent?" be made the special business from 9:30 to 10 o'clock.

Remarks were made upon the subject by Messre, Moody, Hart, Hawley, Smith, Hartman, Guilford and Hayes, all of whom were agreed upon the advisability of having picnics, the difference in opinion being mainly as to whether they should be simple gatherings of the schools or public excursions. At the close of the discussion, the Committee on Resolutions reported the following, which was adopted:

On motion, the discussion of the question, "What is the most successful method of organizing new Sabbath Schools in destitute portions of the country" was made the special business for the next half hour.

Remarks were made by Mr. Wurts of Philadelphia and Mr. Paxton of Jacksonville. At the expiration of the latter gentleman's time, it was unanimously agreed that he be allowed as much time as he wished; upon which the gentleman proceeded to narrate some very interesting experiences in establishing Sabbath Schools in the backwoods districts, and showed what the Mission, through the patience and energy of its agents, was accomplishing. He was followed by Messrs. Holmes of Missouri and Bomberger of Philadelphia. Convention opened at two p. m. withprayer by Rev. Mr. Haggerty.

The Committee then reported the following resolution in reference to the question last under discussion at the morning session:

Recover. That the best method of securing the organization of Sabbath schools in destitute places is familiar personal intercourse with the paces is familiar personal intercourse with the pacepie to be benefited, earnest conversation upon the importance of the religious education of the young; and prayer is God with both parents and children for the success of such enterprises.

On motion of Mr. Boting, the Convention young, and prayer to God with both parents and children for the success of such enterprises.

On motion of Mr. Boring, the Convention then went into discussion of the question, "Is it desirable to maintain a uniformity of lessous among all the classes?" The speakers were Messre. Boring, Scrogs, Kinney and Hubbard, after which the following resolution by the Committee was adopted:

**Recoved**, That it is the judgment of this Couvenvention that the scripture lessons in Sabbath Schools should be uniform, so far as is practicable.

At the suggestion of the President, the following subject was taken up and discussed: "Have the practical results in our Sabbath Schools been commensurate with the efforts put forth." The discussion was participated in by a large number of delegates, and at the close the following resolution from the Committee was adopted:

minutes was adopted:

heart of man to conceive" of the value of the resolts aircady achieved by Sabbath Schol of efforts, or appropriately to estimate their inflanence upon the world of mankind, in elevating it to the condition which God desires it should occupy. "He that turneth many to rightconsness shall shine as the stars for ever and ever."

The following resolution was then unani-nously passed: Mounty passed:

Resolved. That we return our thanks to the Galena and Chicago Union, Chicago and Northwestern, St. Louis and Alton, and the Chicago and Milwankse Railroads, for the sympathy expressed by them in the Sabbath School cause as exhibited by their kindness in reducing the fare of the delegates to this Convention. It was also

EVENING SESSION.

The Convention met at 8 o'clock, the time until 9-10 being devoted mainly to children's school exercises under the direction of Messrs.
Vinent, Wilder, and others.
The President then arose, and with the remark that the next in order on the list of exercises was the President's valedictory, thanked the Convention for the great honor they had done him in calling him to that position. He felt under great obligation to his co-laborers in this work, for the carnestness of their efforts, and the assistance they had rendered him. He thought a gracious influence had been with them. Another year and there would be new graves; we might all not meet again. He had never been more impressed than during this Convention with the nobleness and importance of the Sabbath school work. To give the first impressions to human character and destiny is indeed an important work—making marks upon the character of children which shall live for all ages. One thing was needed, a solemn and entire consecration to Christ—we are not doing our work, but Christ's work, and the consecration should be entire, such as shall exert its influence upon the teachers, not only through the Sabbath, but through the entire week. The work is designed to iurnish to the child a moral and religious education. Nothing should be introduced that will not lead the child to Christ. He called upon all his co-laborers the benediction of Christ, and when their work here was done, might they all be called to an eternal life in heaven.

Resolutions were then passed, tendering thanks "to the citizens of Chicago, who have so kindly opened their homes and hearts to entertain us;" to the trustees and officers of the Church; to the brethren from other States, for their "genial, Christ-like greetings;" to the Tomlinson Bros., "for their kindness in furnishing books and charts for the use of the Convention;" to the President, "for the very able and impartial manner in which he had presided over the deliberations." to the Secret

The latter for a time managed to hold him, and finally succeeded in throwing him down. The mad animal, by his desperate struggles broke loose, and with glaring eyes, and low-ered head started for the band with a roar anything but musical. Mr. Vass, seeing that the animal meant mischief, gave the signal for the music to cease and told the band to look out for themselves. The cessation o the music had no effect upon the bull, who had now approached near enough to get a glimpse of the red caps.

The sanguinary color engendered a dispo-sition of a similar character, and with redoubled fury he dashed into the musician who were fleeing in every direction. Mr. Stricher, the bugler, happened to be nearest and received the attention of the crazy brute. Before he could evade him, the bull's horns vere fastened into his belt, and he was thrown into the air, but fortunately the horns were entangled and he was quickly dashed to th ground. A second time he was lifted and rown down, this time extricating himself. Mr. Vass rushed in and thrusting his instrument into the animal's face, averted his atten-tion for an instant. The action was most opnortune, for the next instant the company lirectly in rear of the band charged at don quick, and the infuriated monster rolled ver dead, pierced by a score of bayonets. Mr. Stricher's injuries, we are glad to learn, are not dangerous. The procession re-formed and moved to the camp without any further danger from mad animals addicted to horns of a most unmusical character, and while we regret that the bugler was flat and thrown out of time, he can post that he has taken a horn without viole LAW INTELLIGENCE.

A New Sensation .- Our readers and the public generally have a pleasant feature in prospect, something to enjoy to-day and this evening, in the matter of a public reception, given by Mr. S. M. Fassett, on the re-opening of his well known photographic gallery. This establishment has been closed for nearly three plumbers, painters, tinters, paper hangers and enlarging, refitting, and adorning, until its old patrons will hardly recognize the place, in its new dress. The spacious and elegant rooms, and the many beautiful specimens of photographic art, of which Chicago may well feel rond, merit a visit.

Mr. Fassett's receptions are no new events in the history of Chicago, having always called out the beauty and clite of the city, and our readers will thank us for reminding them thus will be glad to know, that after unavoidable to promptly, as Mr. Fassett has added to his number of operatives, and brought with him from New York, artists of metropolitan reputation, thus giving him enlarged facilities in taking sittings, and producing highly fin ished pictures. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL MONETARY.

THURSDAY EVENING, June 5, 1862.
Business at the banks continues to improve, giving much more employment to capital; but the demand for money is still much below the supply.
The large samount of paper offering has lessoned very materially the amount of currency on hand, and some of the larger houses have found them-selves rather short. The sources of supply are, however, ample, and the only thing to be feared is that all sorts of "wild-cat" will find its way into the pockets of the people. One firm received a. dispatch to-day of an invoice of $50,000 from one I the old Hartford banks, with as much more to be sent on Friday. That is money that no one can object to, though we prefer that it we must have currency instead of Treasury Notes, our Western New York exchange is easier. Par is all the banks will give for it, and the larger houses sell round lots to customers at 1/4; but 1/2 is still the correct selling rate.

Gold is afflittle firmer. The buying price is 3—and perhaps 1/4 above may have been paid. The selling range is 3/2/64 per cent. premium, about 3/4 being the usual force. The Enspection of Grain.

As the question of abolishing the system of grain inspection to be considered at the meeting to be held on Saturday evening, at the Board o Trade Rooms, is of vital importance to every grain dealer in the city and country, every member of the Board, whether resident here or elsewhere, ought MILWAUKEE.-The Sentinel of this mor South, whether testions here of elsewhere, ought to be present. The subject deserves mature de-liberation—the interests not only of this city, but of the entire Northwest are involved—and we trust every member will be found in his place or Saturday evening to counsel and vote as he deems
