

SECOND PLACE AT CHICAGO

Organized Effort in Behalf of John R. McLean.

DELEGATES ARE PLEDGED

For Some Time a Good Deal of Quiet Labor Has Been Done by Friends of the Ohioan—The Conditions that May Bring About His Nomination. A Pronounced Free Silver Man.

In the event that a free silver candidate is selected at the Chicago convention which now seems as certain as sunrise and sunset, the candidate for Vice President may be John R. McLean.

MATTER OF POLICY.

The selection of Mr. McLean as the Vice-Presidential candidate is said to be not much a matter of expediency as of policy.

Each credit is given to Mr. McLean for having assisted in dividing the representation from his own State in the United States Senate during the past three decades so that John Sherman has never had a Republican colleague.

It is considered to be a practical necessity that the Vice Presidential nomination should come from the same State that furnishes the head of the Republican ticket.

It will be a sort of counter-irritant and naturally reduce the chances of his being selected, usually tends the selection of a favorite son, and which gave Indiana to Harrison, although he had before been snubbed under a gubernatorial candidate.

On the supposition that Mr. Boies of Iowa, will be the nominee in the event of a free silver control at Chicago, the argument advanced is that the selection of Mr. McLean as a running mate would be especially opportune and appropriate.

It would be a direct onslaught upon the two old citizens and strongholds of Republicanism, Iowa and Ohio have always been depended upon in a Presidential year to roll up phenomenal majorities for the Republicans.

His personal organization in Ohio would render considerable assistance and make material headway against the 83,000 plurality which McKinley received at his last election to the governorship.

In fact, Mr. McLean would be regarded as a very suitable offset to the selection of Mr. Hobart, a corporate man and millionaire, by the Republicans.

The dual residence of Mr. McLean would cut no particular figure in the case. Although making this city his home, and possessing here large property interests, he has at the same time maintained a "voluntary residence" in Ohio, and it is said to be a prudent certainty that he will be chosen as one of the delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention.

Mr. McLean is best known here as the president of the Washington Gas Light and Coke Company, the owner of many valuable buildings scattered all over the city and a man of great wealth and influence. The principal managers of his Vice Presidential organization say that the work which has been done so quietly and successfully presented, already indicates sufficiently favorable results to insure his being given the second place on a free silver ticket.

At noon the dedication exercises of the memorial statue to the late President Woolsey took place. They consisted of a prayer by President Dwight and an address by Rev. Joseph B. Twitwell of Hartford.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

WILL HAVE GOOD QUARTERS.

Excellent Arrangement of Democratic National Convention Hall.

Chicago, June 22.—Col. John I. Martin, sergeant-at-arms of the Democratic national convention, received blue-print plans from the architect yesterday showing the seating arrangement in the hall. On the whole it looks to be a most admirable and well-organized scheme.

It takes up the south half—probably a little more—of the Coliseum, with the amphitheater-seats for spectators on three sides of the square set apart for the delegates.

The platform and gallery for national committee and distinguished guests will be at the east side and directly behind the chairman's stage.

On the west end of the left of this stage will be altogether 400 desks and seats for newspaper men.

KILLED WHILE KISSING

Reconciled Lovers Struck by a Bolt of Lightning.

Man Is Dead and His Sweetheart Paralyzed—They Had Just "Made Up" a Quarrel.

New York, June 22.—Charles Fenelly was struck by lightning and instantly killed yesterday afternoon in an orchard in Tibbet's Brook lane, Kingsbridge. His companion, Miss Louisa Costello, was stunned and paralyzed.

The man and woman were in the act of kissing each other when struck. Fenelly and the girl were to have been married, but they quarreled and separated. They were reconciled yesterday, but their joy was short-lived. According to Miss Costello's story she and Fenelly attended mass in the same church yesterday morning, and through common friends they met again.

Their affection for each other had not diminished, and in a short time they made up the quarrel and determined to celebrate the event with an outing. At 11 o'clock in the morning they went to Van Cortlandt park, and, after spending several hours there, they wandered over to Tibbet's Brook lane, near the Y. M. C. A. building. They sat down under a cherry tree, and, having a great deal to say to each other, neither noticed the flight of a dark, black, forked cloud which had gathered in the western sky. There was finally a muttering of distant thunder, and when a few drops of rain fell the lovers started up and walked out of the orchard, intending to go home. Louisa took off her hat and Fenelly threw his coat over her head. When they reached the road the rain began to fall, and the lovers, thinking that the storm would soon blow over, determined to return to the shelter of the cherry tree.

The girl's left side is paralyzed, and while she will recover, it is by no means certain that she will ever regain the use of her arm and leg.

CONDITION OF THE OFFICERS.

Sergt. Daley and Policeman Greer Are Doing Well.

Three charges—have been preferred against Laura Barber, a woman who was arrested and carried with concentrated eyes into the faces of Sergt. Daley and Policeman Greer during a raid on her "speakeasy" last night.

The woman was arraigned in Judge Kimball's court, and it is said to be a prudent certainty that she will be chosen as one of the delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention.

Mr. McLean is best known here as the president of the Washington Gas Light and Coke Company, the owner of many valuable buildings scattered all over the city and a man of great wealth and influence. The principal managers of his Vice Presidential organization say that the work which has been done so quietly and successfully presented, already indicates sufficiently favorable results to insure his being given the second place on a free silver ticket.

At noon the dedication exercises of the memorial statue to the late President Woolsey took place. They consisted of a prayer by President Dwight and an address by Rev. Joseph B. Twitwell of Hartford.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

TIES CLEVELAND'S HANDS

Act of Congress Prevents Action in Favor of Cuba.

ONLY ONE COURSE OPEN

He Could Recognize the Belligerency of the Parties, But Cannot Intervene—Senator Morgan Doubts That Gen. Lee Has Made a Report to the President.

The announcement coming from Havana by way of Key West to the effect that Congress General Lee has made a report to the President, a complete and thorough resume of the Cuban situation, as the result of a careful and close personal investigation, is not received with any degree of credence in this city, either by the government officials or those who have been the most active in advocating the adoption of extreme measures for the relief of the struggling patriots.

The report of Gen. Lee is said to have been transmitted at noon on last Saturday. One portion of this report is supposed for the confidential information of the President, and the other is a clear, concise, but exhaustive, review of the situation on the island as it now exists.

In the ordinary course of events the alleged report of Gen. Lee cannot reach this city before next Friday morning. Meanwhile, no telegraphic advices have been received, giving notification that any documents of exceptionally important character have been forwarded to the capital.

Few reports have as yet come to hand from the new consular general, and these have chiefly been of a routine character. The mere fact that the President has left the city to be absent several days heightens the belief that nothing of special importance is at this time expected from Havana.

SENATOR MORGAN'S DOUBT.

There is probably no man in Washington who has taken a deeper interest in the development of Cuban independence than Senator Morgan. He has from the very last advocated the adoption by Congress of the most extreme measures looking for forcible intervention. When told of the expected communication from Gen. Lee, which would be of such important consequences to Cuba, Spain and the United States, Senator Morgan said:

"While not undertaking to deny that such statements have been forwarded by Gen. Lee, I am much inclined to doubt the information. In the first place, I do not think that Gen. Lee has yet had time to make an accurate estimate of the situation, which he undoubtedly would make before recommending a resolution of action which he is said to have recommended. I doubt the authenticity of the report for a more important reason.

"President Cleveland cannot now interfere in Cuban affairs in any way, except to recognize the belligerency of the parties. For him to intervene, as it is said he is likely to do, would be a violation of the law governing such matters. He can make a demand for the release of all American prisoners, but he has no power, under existing law, to enforce his demand should the Spanish government see fit to refuse it. For him to attempt to enforce his demand would amount to a declaration of war, and the power to declare war rests in Congress alone."

Senator Morgan called particular attention to the fact that he sought in the closing hours of the session to secure some additional protection for those American citizens who are engaged in the business of keeping an underground bar. She was held for a trial by $1,000 bonds. As soon as Sergt. Daley and Policeman Greer were taken to the station, she was required to face Judge Miller in two cases of assaulting policemen while in the discharge of their duties.

Sergt. Daley, who was injured through a lightning bolt striking his horse in the form of a huge black mark upon her skin. The girl's left side is paralyzed, and while she will recover, it is by no means certain that she will ever regain the use of her arm and leg.

CONDITION OF THE OFFICERS.

Sergt. Daley and Policeman Greer Are Doing Well.

Three charges—have been preferred against Laura Barber, a woman who was arrested and carried with concentrated eyes into the faces of Sergt. Daley and Policeman Greer during a raid on her "speakeasy" last night.

The woman was arraigned in Judge Kimball's court, and it is said to be a prudent certainty that she will be chosen as one of the delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention.

Mr. McLean is best known here as the president of the Washington Gas Light and Coke Company, the owner of many valuable buildings scattered all over the city and a man of great wealth and influence. The principal managers of his Vice Presidential organization say that the work which has been done so quietly and successfully presented, already indicates sufficiently favorable results to insure his being given the second place on a free silver ticket.

At noon the dedication exercises of the memorial statue to the late President Woolsey took place. They consisted of a prayer by President Dwight and an address by Rev. Joseph B. Twitwell of Hartford.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 8 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 10 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 12 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 2 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 4 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.

At 6 o'clock, in the amphitheater erected on the campus, between Lyceum and Old Chapel, the regular class day exercises were held. The historians were Ward Cheney, South Manchester; C. S. Day, New York City; H. J. Fisher, Marion, Ohio; George A. McLanahan, Washington, D. C.; and Philip C. Fox, Albany.