DRUGGISTS UP IN ARMS

Malt Extract Decision to Be Fought in the Courts.

The Local Association Likely to Take the Matter to the Highest Tribunal. The Police Justice's Decision Claimed to Be Unfair—Grounds on Which an Appeal Will Be Made.

City druggists have determined to fight the Police Court decision, and to continue to sell malt extract and like preparations, notwithstanding the fact that it was held in the court in the case against the firm of Mackall Bros. that the extract is a fermented liquor, and cannot be sold without a license. The Mackall Bros. appealed from the decision, and their personal bonds were taken. The case is now before the Court of Appeals, but will not be argued for some weeks to come. Every druggist in Washington is deeply interested in the outcome of this case, for it is held that if they cannot sell malt extracts or like preparations without a liquor license, or only on a physician's certificate, it will result in injuring many drug stores.

These malt extracts are prescribed by physicians for debilitated persons. They are not used as a beverage, nor are they sold in saloons. President Harper, of the Druggists' Association, said to a Times reporter today that it was a little singular that the malt question should just be taken up at this time. The druggists, he said, had been selling malt extracts for years, and no one had ever raised the question that it was against the law. It could not be sold on a physician's prescription for the reason that not more than a half a pint of liquor can be sold on a prescription, and the malt extract bottles hold a pint. This whole question will probably be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, should the Court of Appeals sustain the decision of the Police Court.

SACRIFICES TO OBEAH.

A Child Offered to a Heathen God in Dominica.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Letters received here from Kingston, Jamaica, dated October 21, say that a sensational story of Obeah in its most extreme development comes from Dominica, the British island in the Leeward group. According to the official reports of the circuit court of the Leeward Islands a man is in custody charged with having deliberately murdered a child for the purpose of offering a human sacrifice to his "Mumbo-Jumbo" in connection with a search for alleged hidden treasure. In view of the enormity of the offence and the extreme penalty involved, the jurors concluded not to agree on any verdict, the ensuing trial being postponed to a subsequent session. This, however, in no way affects the facts of the case.

The attorney general said that there was no belief that the child had been made a victim of a grave and barbarous superstition which exists in these islands. This, counsel for the defence freely admitted, but he argued that the prisoner was not the person who committed the murder.

One of the leading West Indian newspapers, the "Demerara Argosy," referring in general terms to "those places in which the Obeah man is a terrible power for evil owing to the intensity of the ignorant superstition of the inhabitants," says: "The Jamaica newspapers for some months past have been giving through the records of the law courts very disagreeable glimpses into the condition of the social life of the common people. But, loathsome though these reports must be to all who wish the West Indies well, they are surpassed in 1882 to 1884, then went to New York and for two years was assistant rector of Trinity church. In 1866 he was elected to the Maine Episcopacy, to succeed Bishop Burgess.

Bishop Henry A. Neely Dead. PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 1.—Bishop Henry A. Neely, of the Maine Episcopal diocese and for six years chairman of the House of Bishops, died last night aged 69 years. He was born in Fayetteville, N. Y., was graduated from Hobart College in the class of 1842, remained in that institution several years as tutor and was ordained to the priesthood in 1854. He served two years as rector of Calvary Church, Utica, and seven years as rector of Christ Church, Rochester, N. Y., was chaplain of Hobart College from 1852 to 1854, then went to New York and for two years was assistant rector of Trinity church. In 1866 he was elected to the Maine Episcopacy, to succeed Bishop Burgess.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Senator Hawley and family have returned to their Washington home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Grays, who are at the Virginia Hot Springs, have just been joined by Mr. T. L. Holbrook, of Cleveland Park.

Colonel and Mrs. Miller, of East Washington, who spent the summer and early autumn in Continental travel, have arrived in New York, but will visit their former home in Maine before returning to this city.

The steamship Friesland, due to arrive in New York tomorrow, includes among her passengers the Countess Ida Lantersvelde and Count Louis de Lichterwilde. Prof. Simon Newcomb, Mrs. F. H. Carter, and Masters John and Hugh Carter, and Mrs. J. L. Hickenlooper.

The marriage of Mr. Lloyd Lowndes, Jr., son of the Governor of Maryland, to Miss Mary Quinn, of Chillicothe, Ohio, will occur November 22.

Miss Juliette Thompson, the artist, is the guest of Mrs. Robert C. Barry, of Baltimore.

A DOUBLE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Brooklynites Hold a Celebration With Some Interesting Features.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—There was a golden wedding in Brooklyn last night, which drew together a large company of venerable Brooklynites. The celebrating couples were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Benedict Reed and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wildes, life-long friends, who have for years lived together in the comfortable residence 170 Remsen Street.

Mr. Reed was born in Manhattan, but from early boyhood has lived in Brooklyn. He was one of the charter members of the Manhattan Club. Among the many presents received by the couple last night was a costly slumber robe of woven Roman silk for Mr. Reed. It was from William A. Butler and Mr. Wheelock, who graduated with him from the University of New York, in the class of 1843, stood up with him when he was married, and who have since dined with him at least once each year. Messrs. Butler and Wheelock are soon to celebrate their golden weddings.

The wine in which the couples were toasted was brought from France in 1756. It fell into the hands of John C. Fremont in 1846, and a few cobwebbed bottles found their way into the cellar of President Stout of the Shoe and Leather Bank. He passed them along to Mr. Wildes, who presented them to Mr. Reed. Mr. Reed was wedded March 1, 1849, and Mr. Wildes had then been married two weeks. Nevertheless, when it came to Mr. Reed's golden wedding, this two weeks' lead was canceled and the old friends celebrated together. Mr. Reed is a lawyer and holds a position of trust in the American Surety Company. His wife was Louise B. Townsend, daughter of Palmer Townsend, who nearly a century ago was county judge of Lewis county.

Married Despite Objections.

NORWICH, Conn., Nov. 1.—William Douglas and Cecilia King, both of Preston, decided on Saturday to go to New York to become man and wife. The girl's father sent the police to intercept them, of which fact they learned. They changed their course, and went to Shannock, R. I., where they were married on Sunday morning. When a policeman saw them alight from a train at Norwich on Sunday evening he detained them and showed them a marriage certificate he telephoned his captain, who told him to release the couple, who are now with the bridegroom's parents.

A Discovery of Natural Gas. PIEDMONT, W. Va., Nov. 1.—It is reported that a gas well has been located at Jones Station, near Relington, W. Va., by Geologist White, of Morgantown, W. Va., and that a well is to be put down by Senator Stephen B. Elkins, with the view of piping the gas to Elkins, W. Va., the Senator's home.

THE BAZAAR A SUCCESS.

Crowds at the St. Patrick's Church Charity Entertainment.

The charity bazaar under the auspices of the Ladies of Charity of St. Patrick's Church, in Carroll Hall, is proving a great success, and a large sum of money for the poor of the city will be realized. From eleven o'clock this morning until two this afternoon every seat at the dinner tables was occupied and many were compelled to wait their turn, while there were crowds around the booths.

Last night the bazaar was well attended. The hall with its many colored decorations and gaily dressed booted presented an animated appearance. The friendly spirit of competition was everywhere in evidence. The different booths arranged along each side of the hall were besieged with prospective purchasers all anxious to get at the many costly and beautiful things. The large portrait of Rev. Dr. Stafford, mounted in a heavy gold frame, occupied a central position in one of the booths, and the handsome upright piano donated by a well known firm was placed in a prominent position on the floor.

The nine booths were tastefully arranged and the decorations were harmoniously carried out. No idea of the value of the bazaar is given, but they amount to thousands of dollars. Every firm in the city appealed to contributed something, and large sums of money were received from New York and other cities. The Dewey "pie" booth, where pie is not sold, but which takes its name from the homogeneous accumulation of articles it contains is a great success. Its popularity has been demonstrated from the first, and the money received, although in small sums, does not compare unfavorably with the amounts taken in by the other booths. Every one visiting the bazaar has the privilege of voting for the most popular booth.

A donation of particular interest is a first-class passage to Paris and return. There is a great deal of speculation as to who will be fortunate enough to secure a trip, and it will not be known until the votes are counted at the close of the bazaar. Everything imaginable in the way of household articles, bric-a-brac, musical instruments, and even a carac in languages, has been contributed to make the affair a success. The entertainment feature of last evening was the tableaux representing character sketches by Gibson. Those taking part were Misses Viola Latham, Jeannette King, Grace Thyson, and Ella Corbett; Messrs. J. J. Fitzpatrick, Charles Mulhern, Joseph Cushman, D. F. O'Brien, Michael Ryan, and James Higgins. The programme will be changed every evening. Leader Santelmann, of the Marine Band, has signified his intention of repeating the concert of Monday evening on Friday night. The Georgetown Glee Club, under the direction of Professor Wells, will give a concert this evening. The Society of the Ladies of Charity of St. Patrick's Church was organized a number of years ago. As its name signifies, its object is to assist all those in need, irrespective of church or color. Hundreds of families remember with gratitude the many acts of charity performed by this organization last winter. The money received from the bazaar now will be devoted to carrying on this work. Miss Nellie E. Eady, who has the general supervision of the booths, is greatly pleased with results so far achieved, and expects to realize at least $12,000.

BOYS SPANKED IN COURT.

A Recorder's Plan to Make Them Hear Their Ways.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 1.—Recorder Keegan sat in his court at Kearney, N. J., yesterday, much puzzled. Before him stood five weeping boys, whose ages ranged from nine years to twelve. They had been captured by a detective in a freight car of the Erie Railroad. They were eating apples, and a broken apple barrel told the tale of their wickedness. The Erie had been losing much fruit for a long time, and had made an extra effort to catch the culprits. The captives were the sons of respectable families of the town. Their names were James Allen, John Tolman, James McBride, James Ford, and Charles Colton.

The recorder took counsel with Police Captain Tolen, who is regarded as a Solomon in Kearney. "Have 'em spanked," said the captain, sententiously. Then the captain recalled the fact that once before some boys had been spanked for wickedness, and had forever mended their ways. "That is a bright thought," said the recorder. "Suppose you send for their fathers."

The fathers came and agreed that a spanking was just the thing. A father stepped up to a table, and Captain Tolen handed his belt to him. Twelve hard whacks were laid on the boy. Each boy yelled, for the punishment hurt. When all had been spanked they were allowed to go in the custody of the fathers.

A Strange Hallucination.

BRIDGEPORT, N. J., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Annie Shepherd has the remarkable hallucination that she has committed suicide. "I've killed myself! I've killed myself!" she wildly shouted yesterday afternoon, startling everyone in her home, 189 Lafayette Street. "I've taken my life. Help! Help! I've poisoned myself!" An ambulance was called. Dr. Hare found that Mrs. Shepherd was in perfect physical health, but he could not disabuse her mind of the idea that she had committed suicide. She is the wife of a well-to-do railroad man. She is being closely watched lest she become violent and really do herself bodily harm.

A Suit for Alleged Libel.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1.—In the United States court today Attorney Homer Morris, on behalf of Albert S. Dulin, filed a suit against the "Cincinnati Enquirer" for $50,000 damages for alleged libel and defamation of character. The suit is the result of an article in Saturday's issue, alleging that Dulin, who is Mayor Jones' legal manager, was in the employ of Mark Hanna and the Republicans, and was deceiving Mr. Jones.

NARROWLY ESCAPED MURDER.

An Iowa Woman's Life Menaced by an Infernal Machine.

WATERLOO, Iowa, Nov. 1.—An infernal machine which have blown to atoms the largest business block in the city, was received Monday by Mrs. J. W. Hoote, in an express package from Chicago. For some unknown reason the fuse failed to ignite when Mrs. Hoote attempted to open the strange package. Later when the police took the implement of death to the river and exploded it, the concussion broke windows in houses a block away and was felt over the entire city.

On Monday Mrs. Hoote received a letter from Chicago which she believes is from her husband from whom she is separated. The letter said: "You will get all your presents to me by express today. Good-bye. Tab." In the afternoon the United States Express agent delivered a package at her home. It was a really made, highly polished box fitted with small tubes at the ends. Mrs. Hoote started to open the box, but when it was separated only partially there was an explosion like the report of a pistol and the room was filled with fumes of powder smoke. The terrified woman at once informed the police and they took possession. The husband, who is suspected of using this means to rid himself of his wife, was married to her less than a year ago and deserted her, she claims, a few days later because she would not deed her property to him. He was last heard from in Chicago in April. He wrote then from the Hotel Morrison, but his address since then is not known. By his wife's death he would have inherited her property and $2,000 insurance on her life. The Chicago police have been notified.

FAITH HEALING BLAMED.

Alarming Spread of Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 1.—One hundred and fourteen cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria have been reported to the health department in a single day. They are traced by the authorities to the communication of contagion among children in the public schools. Dr. Herman Spalding, chief inspector of the health department medical staff, who has eight men at work disinfecting houses, said the present force of the health department was unable to cope with the situation. During the past week the cases reported averaged forty a day, which beats all records for nine years. Dr. Spalding ascribes the big increase to "faith healing." He declares the believers in this doctrine do their utmost to conceal the existence of the disease from the authorities, which is responsible for the spread of contagion in the schools.

Bishop McLaren Seriously Ill.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 1.—Right Rev. William E. McLaren, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Chicago diocese, is seriously ill at his home, 1825 Roscoe Street. A carbuncle on his neck, dangerously close to his windpipe, has threatened to end his life at any moment. He is reported today to be better and it is thought he will recover.
