SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Victoria Makes No Reference to the Venezuelan Dispute.

IT INDICATES NO POLICY

Salisbury and Balfour Are Thought to Have Agreed on Some Statement to Be Made to Parliament in the Venezuelan Affair—Queen Mentions Several Bills to Be Presented.

London, Feb. 10.—The speech from the throne, which will be read at the opening of Parliament tomorrow, was read at the queen's speech banquet, given by Lord Salisbury and the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, respectively, at No. 29 Arlington street and No. 10 Downing street, this evening.

The speech makes no reference whatever to the subject of arbitration of the Venezuelan dispute. It sets forth that the relations of Great Britain with foreign powers are satisfactory; recapitulates the known facts of the Transvaal troubles; alludes to the necessity for an increase of the naval strength of England and refers to the dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela and the negotiations with the United States in regard thereto, as pending in exactly the same terms as vaguely outlined in Saturday's United Press dispatches, which stated that the government of Great Britain had under consideration proposals for the arbitration of a more peaceful solution of the dispute.

ARMENIAN MASSACRES

The speech also recites the facts of the massacres and disturbances in Armenia. While it deplores the excesses which have been committed, it says that some degree of satisfaction is to be found in the Sultan's promises to institute reforms, but avoids any indication of a future policy of England in regard to Turkey.

Her majesty congratulates the country upon the success of the bloodless operations of the British expedition in Ashantee and deplores the death of Prince Henry of Batavia, who was a member of the expedition.

The speech announces that the measures to be introduced by the government will include an employees' limited liability bill; a measure for the creation of voluntary schools, an Irish land bill; a bill for the formation of an Irish board of agriculture for the relief of agricultural distress; a bill for the regulation of alien pauper immigration; and a measure for the construction of light railways for the rural districts.

STATEMENT ON VENEZUELA

No importance is attached to the absence of any reference to arbitration of the Venezuelan dispute. No experienced politician expected that any reference would be made to the subject for the reason that the speech is never the medium of merely incidental developments.

The representative of the United Press learns that Prime Minister Salisbury and the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, have reached a carefully guarded statement which they will make in the House of Lords and House of Commons early in the debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech, affirming the willingness of the government to arbitrate the question of the territory that is not occupied by the British settlements.

HUNTER LACKED ONE VOTE

This Week May Settle the Kentucky Senatorial Deadlock

HUMORED THAT GOV. BRADLEY WILL CALL THE LEGISLATURE TO MEET IN LOUISVILLE UNDER POLICE PROTECTION

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 10.—There were 102 members present in the joint assembly today and Hunter once more came within one vote of an election.

This happened as the result of a pair between Senator Ogilvie, Dem., and Representative Poor, Pop., who were absent. The vote stood: Hunter, 51; Blackburn, 46; scattering, 5. Necessary to a choice, 52.

This is expected to be the most interesting week of the session, and it is claimed will see the end of the prolonged deadlock. The contest cases will be taken up tomorrow in the case of the return of Lieut. Gov. Worthington, who is presiding officer of the joint assembly.

Several days ago it was given out that the Republican caucus had taken action and agreed to vote for the assenting of Alexander Tompkins of Owsboro, and ex-Senator Charles Werner. The Dunlap-Kauffman case had not then been taken up.

Now it is said that it is not settled that Hunter has a card up his sleeve by which he hopes to win. It is alleged that the Hunter people are hoping to win through the assistance of Populist Poor in the case. Senator Ogilvie is unable to be brought to the hall, in which case there would be no necessity of unseating any Democrat.

Republicans discussed a new scheme today to the effect that Gov. Bradley would issue a proclamation calling the legislature to meet in Louisville in one of the large opera houses there, the session to continue until the election of a Senator.

There, it was argued, would be ample public protection. The session would be even much stronger than the McCreey guards would be able to render in case they were called into active service. This story was denied by officials.

CLEVELAND WILL PRESIDE

His Selection for Presbytery Meeting Warmly Discussed

New York, Feb. 10.—The Presbytery of New York met in the hall of Presbyterian board building this afternoon. The hall was well filled with members and others, the special attraction being the understanding that a report would be presented from the committee appointed to make arrangements for the forthcoming public meeting of church people and citizens in behalf of home missions.

The committee reported that His Excellency, Governor Cleveland, President of the United States, had been written to and had indicated his willingness to preside at the meeting.

Mr. Dr. C. A. Thompson, chairman of the committee, said that in making a selection of President Cleveland, he and his colleagues had been unanimous in their personal object in view. They had no partisan idea. Democracy or Republicanism were not considered.

The selection, he said, was made because it was deemed that it would add greatly to the importance of the meeting to have the President occupy the chair, and because Mr. Cleveland and his father and brother were Presbyterians and personally interested in the missionary work.

There was a slight opposition by perhaps a half dozen members of the presbytery to having Mr. Cleveland preside, the claim being made that his presence might give a semi-political tone to the meeting and divert attention from the real object of the demonstration.

The chairman retorted that the objection was nonsensical and without good reason.

A vote was taken and the action of the committee was sustained.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 10.—At the morning session today of the committee having charge of the investigation of the charges against the management of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institution, Miss Maggie Hogwood was the first witness examined.

Her testimony was very confused. It seemed to be difficult for her to recall Mr. Bear as a teacher at the institution, but she succeeded in so doing, she denied that he had been criminally intimate with her.

She said another pupil had been intimate with Bear and wanted her to do the same, but she refused. She described, however, a party given by Bear and his wife, which had taken place here, which were reprehensible.

BIBLED WITH LIQUOR

John T. Cashon, who is blind, was the next witness. He testified principally to the matter of the use of liquor at the institution. He named certain monitors whom he said he bribed with liquor. Williams said that Captain Doyle never gave liquor to pupils, but he heard regarding the matter at election time and even members of the board did so. He mentioned the name of Mr. Oppenheider. He said they were given liquor to induce them to vote the ticket supported by the institution.

Cashon further said he did not want to testify as to what he heard regarding the matter, but he had heard regarding the matter from other people. He mentioned the name of Mr. Oppenheider. He said they were given liquor to induce them to vote the ticket supported by the institution.

As the engine struck the switch it left the rails, and together with a combination baggage and mail car, rolled down an embankment, the cars in front of the baggage master Fisher and Mail Agent Bell were caught under the falling car, the former being instantly killed, while Bell received very serious internal injuries.

TRIES TO SHIELD JACKSON

Miss Hollingsworth Still Says Pearl Bryan Was a Suicide

HIS COAT IS IDENTIFIED

Accused Murderers Will Fight Against Being Taken to Kentucky for Trial—Pearl Bryan's Finger Taken From Her Fingers Probably for Preventing Identification

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 10.—Today the detectives in the Fort Thomas murder case took the bloody coat found in a catch-basin yesterday to the jail and tried it on Walling and Jackson. Jackson said it was his property.

He claimed that he put it in a closet January 6 in his room at the boarding-house and that he has not had it in his hands since. He put it on, and the negro, Allen Johnson, said it looked like the coat Jackson had on the night he took Pearl Bryan away in the cab.

The coat was then tried on Walling, but it was a misfit. The cap found was shown to Walling, and he said it was his, but that Jackson used to wear it. It was next taken to Jackson, who put it on, and it adjusted itself to his head.

Inquiries were made today at all the tailors and revealed some interesting facts. Two separate witnesses testified to the fact that a cab was driven rapidly toward the scene of the murder about 10 o'clock Friday night and back to the same break-neck pace after 2 o'clock Saturday morning, going toward Fort Thomas.

Indianaapolis, Feb. 10.—Facts that cast a serious doubt upon the story of Laura May Hollingsworth, who says that Pearl Bryan committed suicide, developed here today, and as a result it is being claimed that the girl is attempting to shield Jackson and that she did not see Pearl Bryan at the Union station on January 28, during the time that she stopped over here to board a Cincinnati train. Miss Hollingsworth claims that she met Pearl about 4 o'clock, that the latter confided the story of her troubles to her, and that she helped her to a boarding house which would help her out of her condition.

If Pearl Bryan arrived in Cincinnati between 6 and 7 o'clock, as all the facts indicate, she could not have been in Indianaapolis at 4 o'clock, and if she was here and met Miss Hollingsworth at the latter time, she could not possibly have reached Cincinnati until after 5 o'clock. Miss Hollingsworth still sticks to her story, however.

SAW WOOD AND PEARL

Miss Hollingsworth still sticks to her story, however.
