Week before last its aggregate circulation was 179,477, and according to its statement published Saturday its circulation was only 169,633.

STAR STILL LOSING. Times Steadily Gaining Circulation. Can't Fool the Public. Notwithstanding the liberal distribution of sample copies by the Star last week its circulation fell off 1,414. ALL UP THE SAME LADDER. The action of the Episcopal convention at Minneapolis in sending brotherly greetings to the Methodist conference in session a few blocks away is an unexpected innovation on Episcopal precedent.

THE PASSING OF THE PRIZE RING. One of the most cheering reflections in connection with the action of the Texas legislature is that it furnishes gratifying proof of the growth of a sentiment hostile to such exhibitions of brute strength as are furnished in the prize ring.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS. The Old Bay State never does things by halves. The platform adopted by the Democrats in convention at Worcester yesterday accomplished in the beginning the herculean task of endorsing President Cleveland; it declared for Jeffersonian Democracy, for sound money, for tariff reform, for home rule for cities, for good navigable roads, for government loans to protect the gold reserve, for the Moore doctrine (which was a left-handed blow at the President), and in favor of the broadest religious tolerance as opposed to the spirit and teachings of an organization known as the American Protective Association.

JUDGE BUCK IS WILLING. When wise people sit in the clouds and predict that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is off so far as a contest in this country is concerned, their minds are too far skyward to recall that Judge Buck Eilers is in existence. The unarmed judge who presides over a legal throne and represents the administration in the Indian Territory says there is nothing in his backbone to bother their fighting, and doubtless he would adjourn court to see which of the "starned cases was the best feller."

WOMEN IN THE UNIVERSITIES. Without great ado, just as if it were a matter of course, two women have entered the Catholic University as students, and as students of philosophy at that. It has been done so quietly that its great significance was unappreciated.

attached to this event. On the one hand, it is much that the gates of one of the great universities of the United States are not closed to women; on the other, proof is given that women are ready to avail themselves of the best opportunities afforded them for driving into the depths of a scientific education.

These ladies have simply taken up the study of Greek and its kindred branches. Others will come, no doubt, who will want to embrace other branches. Each and all will be welcome, if they have the necessary qualifications for admittance and the will to persevere to the end.

There has been a great deal of talk about the codification of the sexes. It has been advocated and denounced with equal vigor. Yet it has come to pass, and is steadily expanding of its own momentum, and its recognition and adoption by so conservative an organization as the Catholic church will unquestionably establish it more firmly. The world is slowly, perhaps, but surely demolishing the barriers erected by antiquated prejudices, and woman is entering upon the broad highway of equal chances so long occupied exclusively by the so-called stronger sex.

HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN. The address delivered by Dr. W. W. Johnston, on the occasion of the opening of the medical department of Columbian University, a few evenings ago, was more than momentarily interesting in that it dealt in a masterly manner with several sociological questions. The suggestions there thrown out are the more worthy of consideration as coming from one eminent a practitioner and student of social conditions.

OF JOHNSTON'S ADDRESS. Dr. Johnston's remarks respecting prevalent methods of education, which are severely condemned as retarding and injuring both the physical and mental development of the pupils. He describes this system as impractical when he says that "awards prizes and medals are given to the youth of an unhealthy imagination, and requires all, without distinction, 'to submit to the same invariable law of supply and demand.'" He deplores of improvement "until work bears some relation to health and strength, until health comes first and learning after."

NO ULTIMATUM SENT. Secretary Olney Could Be Impached Had He Done So. Dispatches stating that Secretary Olney had given Great Britain ninety days in which to accede to arbitration of the Venezuela boundary dispute, as well as may, the sending of children to school at the very age of five or six years. No child ought to be put into a school room until it is at least eight years old, and then, so far as possible, the arrangement should be made to keep the child at home until it is at least ten years old.

VIEWING PASTEUR'S BODY. Parisians Pay Tribute to the Memory of the Scientist. Paris, Oct. 3.—More than 20,000 persons marched in single file past the coffin of Prof. Louis Pasteur today and viewed the body of the great chemist and scientist, which lies in the Pasteur Institute.

WILL HOLD STATE CONVENTION. New York Democratic Reform Party Has No Decision. The New York Democratic Reform Party held its annual convention at Albany today. It was held in a hall in the city and was attended by a large number of delegates from all parts of the State.

STARTING ON ITS JOURNEY. Old Liberty Bell Removed From Independence Hall. Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—The old cracked Liberty Bell, which will be exhibited at the Atlanta, Ga., Exposition, was this afternoon removed from Independence Hall to the Pennsylvania railroad freight station, where it will remain under guard until tomorrow morning when the journey south will be begun.

WRITTEN BY A VICTIMS HORSE. Brodbeck, Pa., Oct. 3.—Joseph H. Marshall, son of ex-Governor Marshall, was probably fatally injured by a vicious horse in his father's injury stable last evening. The horse, which was named "Old Tom," turned upon him, biting a huge piece of flesh from his cheek and lower jaw. The injury was also split open, and the lower lip torn away and the jawbone crushed. Lockjaw is feared.

SLOW BRIDGE REPAIRING. Editor Times: The projected repairs on the Pennsylvania Avenue bridge over Rock Creek are now in progress. That the repairing had become a necessity the driving and traveling public will bear evidence to. But to the casual observer the work might have been pushed with more vigor than it is being pushed. When eight men at work, where twenty might have been employed, a work that the completion of which would not require more than ten or twelve days, will require forty, or perhaps sixty days.

THE ARMES COURT-MARTIAL. The release of Major Armes by habeas corpus proceedings will amount to nothing more than an effective way to have him discharged from confinement pending trial by court-martial. Charges have been preferred against him by order of the Secretary of War, and there is little doubt that he will be cashiered and dismissed from the army, perhaps without opportunity to explain the reason, if he has any, why the offending letter was written to Gen. Schofield. Major Armes can only be reinstated by act of Congress, and as he has already received similar favors from that body his case will have to be strong to succeed a third time. As a matter of justice, Major Armes should be permitted to make his best possible defense before the court-martial. The simple fact of his having written the letter may be sufficient to secure his dismissal, but inasmuch as he claims perjury, and says he can prove it, that opportunity should be given, even if it affects the reputation of as high and influential an officer as Gen. Schofield.

THE OCCASION OF MAJOR ARMES MAY BE WITHOUT FOUNDATION. His charge of perjury may be the imaginings of an erratic mind, as has been alleged; but these facts should be developed at a trial, if they are true, and not allowed to slumber in inanimate allegations which lack substantial proof.

NO DEVELOPMENT OF THE COURT-MARTIAL CAN INJURE GEN. SCHOFIELD IF HE IS INNOCENT OF THE CHARGE MADE BY MAJOR ARMES, AND IF HE IS GUILTY IT WOULD BE AN IRREPARABLE ACT OF INJUSTICE TO SHIELD HIM. It now lies as if some of the Goo Goos would fall from Grace and join Tammany.

When a man once mixes himself up with a fish line his affairs usually get into a tangle. If the New York Democrats can multiply the stars they adopted as a ballot emblem into a sort of a galaxy they may be able to see their way out of the next election.

It is nearly as difficult to find a good place to hold prize fights as it is to discover the North Pole. There would be less whipping-post talk if the excise board would close the speakeasies in the Division.

According to the Spanish cable now is the season of Cuban defeat. While the intention of the Democratic party in New York was to benefit the public by demanding good roads for bicycles it no doubt expects to ride that hobby into power.

It reports concerning Hayes' comet are true an effort should be made to cancel its engagement. The Commissioners received yesterday a telegram from the Liberty Bell committee in Philadelphia accepting with pleasure the tender of a luncheon made by the Washington Board of Trade, which will be given to the Liberty Bell on its arrival at the State Department.
