WORK OF THE TRIENNIAL

Churchman's League Discusses the Recent Convention.

Rev. Dr. Elliott and Mr. Skitwith Wilmer Tell What It Did for the Church.

The autumn meeting of the Churchman's League of the District of Columbia was held last evening in the Sunday school room of the Epiphany Church, 6 street, between Third and Fourth streets northwest.

The meeting was largely attended, and was presided over by Commissioner Truesdell.

After the routine business, during which interesting and satisfactory reports were submitted by the secretary and treasurer, short addresses were made by Rev. John H. Elliott, S. T. D., pastor of the Church of the Assumption, and Mr. Skitwith Wilmer, delegate to the general convention held in Baltimore.

Concerning the work of the convention, Rev. Dr. Elliott said that there was one thing about it worthy of especial note, and that was the smoothness with which everything was done.

Nothing was done hastily. The church of to-day is true to the principles of the primitive church in adapting everything according to time and place.

In concluding his address the conservatism of the convention in all its undertakings and in reference to the admission of congregations as a whole, briefly defined the requirements necessary to the candidates for confirmation and the candidate for orders.

Mr. Wilmer said as with Congress so it was with the general convention, everybody wants to know what was done. And again, as with Congress very often, we see it did not do anything. But this is not literally true. There was a little done, and we can congratulate ourselves with the knowledge that that little has done well.

There is always a natural yearning, he said, for a change in one way or another, and in this the convention did nothing, but at the same time it met the demands and needs and progress of the church is concerned it did a great deal.

With all respect to the clergy, Mr. Wilmer said the great conservative force of the church is found in its laymen, for no matter what changes are asked for they are never considered unless they are shown absolutely necessary for the advancement of the whole church.

At the conclusion of the address a rising vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Dr. Elliott and Mr. Wilmer.

Robbed of His Rest. "There!" As the doorbell rang twice in succession Von Blumer jumped up from his seat with a look of intense annoyance and turned around swiftly to face his wife.

"Have you been sleeping again?" he inquired, anxiously.

"No, dear," said Mrs. Von Blumer, "I haven't been out of my room to-day."

"Then," said Von Blumer, throwing down his paper with a gesture of impatience, "it's a call. No sooner does a man come home from work at the office, worn out with the day's struggle and prepared to settle down to a quiet evening, than his peace is disturbed by some confounded bore, who is all very well in his way, but what do these people care for us, or for their sleep? Here I was just congratulating myself that I would be able to get a good night's rest, and now the dream is over. I've got to sit up and exert myself to be pleasant to a lot of idiots that I wish were in Halifax. It's just my luck—(tired out) all broken—Hello! what's this? A note! Umph! Ah, yes, of course! Where are my shoes? Break up my hat, will you! Not a moment to lose. Show him into the parlor, Dinah. Be right out, where—"

"Who is it, dear?" asked Mrs. Von Blumer.

"Who is it?" repeated her husband, as he rushed by her into his room, "who is it? Heorah! It's Dimpleton, with two tickets to the theatre—Harper's Bazar."

There's Millions in It. Who says that "lilies now are cheap?" In this brave land, fair Freedom's home, should into some dark corner creep, Or in the densest forest roam.

Whoever such a statement made Will get a well-deserved rebuke. For Gotham's richest girl has paid Ten million dollars for a duke.

DON'T NOTICE US

Never mind what the makers or dealers say about ALDERNEY CREAMERY BUTTERING. Ask the people who use it upon their tables. They know. They are to be found in every street in Washington; in the foreign legations; in the great hotels. See if they don't say it is better than butter—because purer, more wholesome; finer flavor and texture. Does not get rancid, and costs less.

If you are not convinced—the only thing to do is to try a pound. If you don't like it, don't ever buy it again. If you do like it, like other folks do, it will be a case of "good-bye to butter" for you. Buy a trial pound at 50c at the Square Marble and Glass Stands in CENTRAL MARKET.
