MUD HORSES TO THE FRONT NEWS FROM ALEXANDRIA

A Heavy Track at Pimlico Causes Many Scratches.

LADY DISDAIN BEATS BABIECA

The Judges' Decision Giving the Former the Race is Hissed—Squad Again Wins at Good Odds, Defeating King T, Who Had Thirt—Prompt First Under the Wire.

Baltimore, Nov. 26.—Scratches were numerous in the different events here this afternoon, owing to the heavy track, and to the rain of last night. Almost a half of the number of entries were withdrawn, which resulted in small fields in four of the five events. The talent were not successful in their attempt to pick mud horses, as only two out of the five had their fields home.

In the fourth race, Lady Dismain finished on the rail, and Babieca on the outside of the track, but still there was not the slightest doubt that Lady Dismain won, although Judge McDowell's decision was greeted with hisses and grumbling by the backers of Babieca.

Summaries: First race—Six and one-half furlongs. Bryan Cross, even, won; Booker, second; Laurel Leaf, third. Time, 1:15-3/4.

Second race—Six furlongs. Prompt, 5 to 1, won; Tremar, second; Sumner Sea, third. Time, 1:13-1/4.

Third race—One mile. Ray, 2 to 1, won; Redstart, second; Lady Dismain, third. Time, 1:46-1/2.

Fourth race—Six furlongs. Lay 146, 25 to 1, won; Babieca, second; Nan Ger, third. Time, 1:17.

Fifth race—One mile. Landale, Oak Ideal, 108 each; Marcan, Marshall, Waterman, Eleonore Mac, Buckeye, Abingdon; James Monroe, 105 each; Rukey Lad, 104; Minnie Alphonse, Her Own, Tranato, 107 each.

Sixth race—Steeplechase, two and one-half miles. Decapod, Brock, Tom Moore, 168 each; Tripoli, 152.

GRATEFUL MRS. EVANS

The Wife of a Special Pension Examiner Tells How She Was

CURED BY MUNYON

She Suffered for Years From a Complication of Diseases—Read the Story of Her Cure.

Mrs. W. H. Evans, wife of special examiner in the Pension Bureau, residing at 1440 Coronan street northwest, Washington, D. C., recently was a sufferer from a complication of diseases for several years. These were nervous prostration, general debility, stomach and liver trouble, catarrh and nervous headache. I was unable to get relief from any source until I placed myself under the care of Munyon's Specialist. By the use of Munyon's Kidney and Liver Purifier, I find that my vitality and strength have been added. I have been cured of all my ailments, from which I suffered intensely. The distress in my stomach and liver has disappeared, and a great improvement is noticeable in my general health. I have found that Munyon's remedies are all that is claimed for them, and that Munyon's electrical machine and the chamber for wounds, scratches and cuts, has given me relief from all my ailments for what has been my trouble.

Cured of Kidney Trouble.

Mr. D. J. Duran, 521 Tenth street, Washington, D. C., says: "After only one day's use of Munyon's Kidney Cure I find that my ailments caused by that disease have disappeared."

Munyon's remedies comprise a separate cure for each disease, and are of all organs, mostly of a vital nature. Munyon's Static Electrical Machine cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Debility, Headache, and all ailments of the head and face. At your service free any day and evening, Sunday, 2 to 6. 623 Thirtieth Street northwest.

BOTH MEN MEANT TO KILL

Prospective Father-in-Law and Son-in-Law After Each Other.

A tragedy was near being committed yesterday afternoon at Garfield. Robert Buchanan, colored, an aged one-armed soldier, was the intended victim. Samuel Burr, a young driver, was the assailant, and he is now locked up at the Police Court station, charged with assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons.

Buchanan has a pretty little daughter, only thirteen years old, and she is the loved object of her father's affection. The latter is not liked by the girl's father, however, and more than once Buchanan has demonstrated with both the girl and her swim because of his frequent visits.

Yesterday Burr spent some time with the father and daughter. He saw the old man ordered him away. Burr went out, but returned, to find the house locked. He cursed and demanded admittance. Being refused he broke in the door and drawing a revolver aimed at his prospective father-in-law. Burr fired but the bullet passed through the air and struck the wall.

Buchanan managed to secure his musket and vowed he would kill Burr. A large crowd gathered and it was with difficulty that the two men were kept apart. Some-one went for the police and Sgt. Anderson and Private Stevens responded. They arrested Burr and locked him up at the Anacostia station. He was later transferred to the Fifth precinct station.

THE ELECTRIC ROAD DEAL

Hamored Opportunity Opened for the Southern Railway.

The report has heretofore been published in The Times that J. Pierpont Morgan was interested in the deal involving the sale of the Eckington and Soldiers Home Railway and the Belt Line. It is said that while not a member of the purchasing syndicate he is in the background with the view of buying and improving it.

The basis of the report is Mr. Morgan's interest in the Southern Railway. The conjecture is that the new acquisition may eventually be used to give the Southern Railway an outlet of its own to Baltimore.

Fell Between the Cars

William Etra, of No. 1629 Sixth street, boarded a cable car at Seventh street and New York avenue last night and after the train had started north he attempted to pass from the car to the one for leaving and fell between the two. He was dragged along for some distance until the train was stopped, when he was hauled out by Policemen Money and the conductor, assisted by several citizens. He was considerably bruised, but it is thought that his injuries are not serious. He was removed to his home.

LIKE GULDENSUPPE CASE

French-Canadian Carpenter Murdered in His Bed.

Wife Betrays Tom Parslow and Declares He Committed the Murder—He Says She Assisted.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—A murder in some points strongly resembling the Guldensuppe case, for which there is now under way a trial, was committed here a few days ago. The facts have just been brought to light by the confession of the murderer.

Isadore Potier, a respectable French-Canadian carpenter, living at St. Catharines, a small place near this city, was found dead in his bed on Sunday morning with his throat cut from ear to ear and a bloody knife lying beside him.

It was first supposed that the man had committed suicide, but evidence of a scuffle, which was subsequently found, clearly pointed to murder. Suspicion rested upon Sam Parslow, a friend of the place, who, it was known, had been intimate with Mrs. Potier. Detective McCabe was put on the case, and as a result of his investigation, he ordered the arrest of both Parslow and Mrs. Potier.

The latter when she saw she was in danger, confessed and laid the whole blame on the man. Parslow, she said, had frequently urged her to kill her husband, and about a month ago had gone to Montreal and purchased a revolver, but she objected to the use of the weapon as it would make too much noise. About a week ago Parslow took the butcher knife with which the murder was committed and sharpened it. She advised her lover, she said, not to murder her husband, as he would be caught. On the day of the murder she left home, and although nothing had passed between her and Parslow on the subject she felt convinced that the murder was about to be committed.

On the way back from her father's house, the morning after she met her lover, his words were: "I have done it. He had laid the whole blame upon him, and he is now locked up at the Police Court station, charged with assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons.

According to his story, both he and Mrs. Potier went into the room on Sunday morning where her husband was lying on the bed asleep. The knife was upon the bureau. The man lay crosswise on the bed in the same position in which he was afterwards found. He was asleep, and the entrance of the two did not disturb him in the least. Parslow sat down upon the bed beside Potier and the headboard, while the woman took up a position on the other side of the smothering man.

"Kill him," said the woman, according to Parslow, and under her breath she said that she wanted her husband. The man then went quickly over, got the knife, and struck Potier in the throat. This, the murtherer says, was all he remembered for "everything after that was all blacked out."

The first stroke of the knife was the one that did the mischief, and the murtherer says, was all he remembered for "everything after that was all blacked out."

Parslow was then placed in the same position in which he was afterwards found. The first stroke of the knife was the one that did the mischief, and the murtherer says, was all he remembered for "everything after that was all blacked out."

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION

Seventh Annual Gathering of the District Body.

The Seventh Annual Convention of the Epworth League of the District of Columbia opened last evening with a grand rally at Hamilton M. E. Church. The exercises consisted of a song service led by Mr. William J. Palmer, devotional services conducted by the Rev. Luther R. Wilson, D. D., and a report on the work of the league during the past year.

The business session of the convention will begin this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and continue, with short intermissions, until 9 p. m.

After the meeting the delegates were entertained in the lecture room of the church by the ladies of the social work department of Hamilton Chapter of the League. Refreshments were served by Misses Ida O'Neal, Irene Bane, Clara Crew, Jennie Perry, Hattie Stotes, Beattie West, Laura Jackson, Bertha Boyer, Celia Mayne, Hattie Hutton, Mrs. Dalton, Mrs. Polk and others.

Terraline will quickly cure that football cough or cold.

GOLDEN MAY BE STILL HERE

Alleged Mysterious Disappearance of Senator Thurston's Nephew.

Was After an Indian Agency, But Was Told He Would Not Be Appointed.

Mr. M. Golden, a politician of Oklahoma, a nephew of Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, and a personal friend of Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, is said to have mysteriously disappeared from Washington, where he has been for some time endeavoring to secure the appointment of agent to the Osage Indians.

The missing man was strongly backed by both these Senators for the position, but there seemed other and stronger influences which kept him from securing the place he coveted. He had other strong influences, but notwithstanding this it is alleged that he had been plied to by the Interior Department that he would not receive the appointment because of the fact that his nomination had been lodged against him, and found to be true.

The first intimation received here that Golden had disappeared was through the inquiry sent by his business partner at Ottawa, yesterday. The day before Golden had sent him the following telegram:

"I leave here today for where I don't know. I have squandered $8,000 trying to get a place and have been deceived. I cannot pay my creditors. Send my family to Ottawa."

No one could be found last night who knew where Golden had been stopping, though many have seen him about town for several months past. He frequently called at the Interior Department of the Indian Office, and also at the White House, though when Secretary Carter was seen last night he said that he had not heard of Golden's disappearance. He had seen him at the White House frequently, but did not believe that he ever had an interview with the President.

It is believed that Golden had about given up hopes of securing the agency, though his statement that he had spent $8,000 is not credited by anyone who has met him here in Washington. They do not believe that he had that amount of money with him or anywhere to his credit, and certain it is that he did not spend that amount of money in riotous living, was not known as a lavish spender and could not have reasonably disposed of the money except in reckless investments or upon the rack, and as he was not known to indulge in any of these expensive luxuries it is thought that the $8,000 is wholly exaggerated.

There are also those who believe that Golden is still in Washington and that the alleged telegram is merely a ruse in order to enable him to carry out some plan or scheme which he may have in mind.

New York, Nov. 26.—Count Channing Livingston was found unconscious in his room at No. 107 East Fifteenth street, this morning, suffering from the inhalation of illuminating gas. The gas was escaping from a pipe which was connected with the gas stove.

The count was baselined in the house, which is kept by Mr. Hampf, for the past three years, and is said to be a man of wealth. The other bedrooms in the house say he is heir to a large estate in England. Mrs. Hampf said this morning that the count was not late last night. The doctors say that he will probably recover.
