MAILS ON STREET RAILWAYS. Citizens of Columbia Heights Ask That

Such Service Be Established. The Columbia Heights Citizens' Association, through a committee, appointed at their last meeting and consisting of Mesers John B. Gisburne, chairman, V. M. Husted and Thomas J. Losier, has addressed ing the establishm ent of a street tailway mail service similar to that recently put in operation in Beston, New York, St. Losis and other large cities.

Attention is called to the fact that that section of the city is more than two miles from the central office and necessarily the mail delivery is inte. In this section reside many citizens who conduct various business enterprises, the proper management of which in a great measure depends on prompt mail service. Among those are several contractors, with a residence de-livery Justice Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court, Mrs. John A. Logan, the Hangpond Sanitariom, the Chinese embassy and a large number of important busiiness interests which would be greatly benefited by the operations of the new system suggested.

MAKING THOUGHT VISIBLE

Our prices were never lower than they are now, nor bargains more Problem Which Mr. Julius Emmner Is Trying to Solve.

MACHINE TO READ MIND

Inventor of the Long Distance Telephone Believes That Thought, Like Sound and Light, Produces Vibrations Which Can Be Reduced to Ocular Demonstration.

Another of those inventions which occaenaily startle the world is being evolved treet northeast, the residence of Mr. Julius Emmner, who is celebrated as the inventor of the long-distance telephone. Themachine which he has under construction is to demonstrate that thought is material, just as is heat, light and electro-magnet-

He is a firm believer in the wave theory, and that thought produces vibrations, that vibrations of any kind produce results, and that it is possible to reproduce and make tangibie any such results.

WHY NOT THOUGHT?

"Sound," be said to The Times yester day, "is addressed to the ear, yet it may be made visible, a proof of which fact is found in the phono-autograph, in which the vibrations of sound are nated distinctly inde on a sensitive plate.

"Light leaves us record in photographic vork, and heat leaves its record in many familiar ways. Electricity also leaves is record in many well-known ways, and why cannot thought be made to leave an ampression or in some substance from out of which it can be reproduced to the eye?"

This last is the problem which Mr. Emmuer has undertaken to solve in a

As is well known, Mr. Emmner is not a isionary or a speculator for specula-on's sake, but is an ingenious scientist and seeker after the reduction of the subtle and occult forces to practical phases.

Mr. Emmner was asked if he would give an idea of the mechanical device by which he proposes to produce thought impressions. He said that it was scarcely fair to ask that question. He is not yet protected by patent rights, and although he is in posion just now to ask for such protection world anything more than is contained in his reference to his design

ONVEY THOUGHT MECHANICALLY The instrument is simply one in which it is said that thought can be focused and concentrated on the substance employed to make this record.

"Thus far," said Mr. Emmner, "there has been comparatively but little diffi-culty, but the perfection of the invention is to consist in conveying these impressions back again from the instrument to a person or persons not the author of the thought. For instance, A's thoughts are recorded in the machine. The problem with me now is to reproduce them so that they can be conveyed to the brain of B or C by a purely mechanical process.

There is something akin to this idea," e said, "in what is known as mind reading where the thoughts of the person whose mind is read are transferred to the brain of the reader, but the present process is entirely different."

The closest comparison to the instrument of Mr. Eumner is the graphophone, into which the voice goes and is so reproduced that the speech of the person, who talked into the machine, lives again and is repro-

Mr. Econoger is carefully guarding his ecret, but he speaks so enthusiastically of his success that he must have obtained the ost satisfactory results so far from his investigations.

Good Balance of Trade in Our Favor for 1894.

The Secretary of Agriculture issued yesterday a circular on the imports and exports of the United States for 1393 and 1894. It shows that, notwithstanding the depression of business, exports from the United States in 1894 were valued at $889,843,000, against $847,665194 in 1893. Three-fourths of that vast value came from the farms and farmers of this

IS ACCUSED OF TRICKERY These..

Real Estate Agent H. F. Johnson the Subject of a Snit.

He Is Said to Sell and Resell Lots by False Representations-W. A. Murray the Plaintiff.

Fulton and Edwards, as lawyers for William A. Murray, of the Agricultural Department, yesterday filed a bill in equity in the Supreme Court of the Listrict against Miss Hannah L. Keity, of No. 1763 P street northwest, and James Madigan, for breach of contract and to compel them to refund certain moneys paid in part for certain small lots in Ashland and Kelly's subdivision of College Park, Md.

The lots in question were sold by Howard F. Johnson, of No. 1316 Thirteenth street northwest, who is Miss Kelly's sole agent and manager, and who Mr. Marray accuses of false representations and fraudulently attempting to declare that his, Mirray's. contract void, and all the payments made thereon, amounting to $116, forfested. Johnson is also accused in the bill of selling the same lot to several different people and collecting from them severally n the same lot at the same time.

The full price of the lots in question is $160 each, of which $60 of the first money on each lot is retained by John son as his commission, Miss Kelly taking all the chances of getting the remain $100 for the property at the rate of $1

The bill says Johnson is assiduous in his collections and attentions upon the purchasers of lots until be has collected when his calls relax and then he keeps out of the way until the purchaser is more than four weeks in arrears, when, according to the terms of the contract, he is empowered to declare the lots and all ey paid thereon forfelied."

Murray avers that in the present case he has not been in arrears, and has several Johnson, which he has persistently re-fused to accept, under various pretexts, until the required four weeks had elapsed, when Johnson told Murray his lots and money were forfeited. Murray says that also told him that one of his lots had been sold by him in March last to James Madigan, of Georgetown, who is also made a defendant in this case, and Johnson, declares the bill, admits receiving money from both purchasers on the same lot at the same time, and this was done in anticipa-tion of the forfeiture of the lots.

Lawyer Fulton says he has heard of sev-

Johnson's dealings. The complainant prays for an injunction against Miss Kelly to restrain her from executing any deed to the lots in question pending a settlement of this suit. Murray wants his money refunded in full or the full amount paid, $116, credited on one lot, in accordance with Mr. Johnson's promises and agree-ment. Johnson, as Miss Kelly's agent and manager, refuses to do either of these things. Miss Kelly, it is alleged, has not received any of Murray's money, as it has all been retained by Johnson.

MUSIC HAD CHARMS. It Caused a Thief to Steal Mr. Swann's Guitar.

Mr. William F. Swann, of Overlook Inn has considerable local reputation as a guitar player. Wednesday evening he visited the retty suburban village of Garfield, D. C. with him. REFUSE TO PROTECT LIFE

General Postoffice Contractors Will Not Lay a Temporary Flooring.

> Superintendent Kinsey Will Demand That It Be Done Before Beginning Work on the Eighth Story.

If Thorp & Bond, the New York contracors for the city postoffice building, can help it, the workmen will have no protection from a recurrence of such accidenta as that which last week resulted in the death of Charles Beach.

This much was settled yesterday, when a tter was received from the firm refusing to lay a temporary flooring. What the outone will be remains to be seen. The tragic scurrence of inst Friday afternoon has thoroughly aroused the men, and they have behind them in their demand for protection the supervising architect and Mr. Kinsey, superimendent of construction. Mr. Kinsey wrote a letter on Tuesday ast to the contractors in New York calling attention to the unfortunate death of Charles Beach, and demanded that they

the safety of the men, as required by the plans and specifications. When seen by a Times reporter yester day morning he said he was very much surprised to receive a letter from the contractors, in which they positively refused to do anything further in the premises, claiming that the specifications did not require them to lay a temperary floor for the safety of the men at work on the building, and those engaged in the take proper precautions in the future for work would have to assume all risks. They characterized Mr. Kinsey's request as both absurd and unreasonable, structed in New York buildings of far greater magnitude and importance than the Washington Postoffice and no such recognion was taken or even requested. Mr. Kinsey will write a letter to-day, in reply to the one received, which he will submit to Supervising Architect of the Treasury Aiken.

"I will not mince words with them this time." said be. "but will demand that the flooring be laid at once before I will order work to proceed on the eighth story. As they seem to have no regard for human life and safety, by the tone of their letter, I will see if compulsory methods cannot be brought to bear to secure immediate action. "The cost of the flooring would be merely omical, and I am satisfied that the contractors could secure better work from the nea employed it they would insure them rotection. No man is going to take any risk when he knows his life is indanger."

Architect Aiken was seen at his office, and while he said that he had received no communication from Superintendent Kinsey on the subject, he felt sure that the specifications, which are most explicit in requiring Messrs. Thorp & Bond, the contractors, to provide safe and suitable scaffolding, would have to be lived up to.
