Foss, of Boston, who is stopping at a Washington hotel, resulted in a jail term of fifteen months for Walter Mitchell, twenty years old, who was charged in the Police Court yesterday with destroying private property. Mitchell invited two friends to take a "joy ride," telling them he was employed by Mrs. Whiting. SAILORS ARE SENTENCED.

They May Be Released if Each Pays $100 Fine.
Although they pleaded their altercation with Thomas Carr was a fight and not a slaughter, Thomas Clark and Frank Wisnowski, sailors on the U. S. S. Tallahassee, were yesterday sentenced to ten months each in the workhouse for Judge Pugh in the Police Court. The sailors and Carr were fighting in a lumber yard, the question of the fighting qualities of soldiers and sailors having arisen. Carr told the court he would have made a better showing, but was out of practice. If the sailors pay a fine of $100 each, they will be released, and it is said the fines will be paid by their comrades.

HALSTEAD CASE HEARD.

Chief Justice Claiborn Reserves Decision After Argument.
Chief Justice Claiborn yesterday heard arguments on the demurrer filed to the plea in abatement raised by Griffin Halstead in indictments for alleged false pretenses in connection with transactions when he was engaged in the stock brokerage business under the firm name of Griffin Halstead & Co.

Involutary proceedings in bankruptcy had been filed against Halstead, and when a receiver and later when a trustee were named by the court Halstead surrendered his books and papers to him. In his plea of abatement Halstead alleges misuse was made of these books by the United States attorney when he presented them to the grand jury in connection with procuring the indictments. It was argued by Attorneys A. A. Briney and H. Prescott Gattley, counsel for Halstead, that by such action the government had practically forced Halstead to be a witness against himself, contrary to his constitutional rights. United States Attorney Wilson contended it is not enough that some documents were the evidence before the grand jury upon which the indictments were based. The chief justice reserved decision.

DUE TO AN ACCIDENT.

Coroner's Jury Gives Verdict on Death of Engineer Burch.
Unavoidable accident was the verdict of the coroner's jury yesterday morning in the case of Charles Burch, the Baltimore and Ohio engineer, who was killed Saturday night when riding a train on the Chicago express, jumped the track near the end of the terminal yards, New York and Florida avenues northeast. An autopsy performed on the body Sunday developed the fact that Burch's heart was crushed when the front trucks of the mail car passed over the body. Howard Crumbitt, the fireman, who was thrown out of the cab, and escaped unhurt, testified he did not know how the engine came to jump the track, or what was responsible for the accident. Dr. Edgar M. Partlett, medical examiner in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, told of seeing a passenger on the train and of noticing the brakes being applied quickly and the train stopping. He told of finding the engineer under the mail car dead. Clarence B. von der Horst, assistant train director for the Baltimore and Ohio, testified that immediately after the accident he examined the tracks. They were in perfect condition and he could not explain the cause of the accident. The body of the engineer, which was taken to Martinsburg, W. Va., Sunday morning by his nephew, Albert B. Burch, was buried yesterday afternoon.
