DREARY OLD AGE.

I'm growing old. That fact forlorn brings to my eyes the tears. The music of the dinner horn no longer charms my ears. I'm summoned to the groaning board, and go with dragging feet, and languidly I take my sword and carve the fragrant meat.

ODD AUCTION SALE
FOR THE TREASURY

Articles Sent by Consuls Under the Hammer.

Estates of United States citizens who have died abroad and without friends were yesterday sold at auction by C. G. Sloan & Co. for the Treasury Department. It was necessary to pass a special act in Congress before the sale could be held. The estates sold covered a wide range, one estate consisting of a 5-cent Spanish coin and a bone collar button.

Ever since 1890 the articles have been accumulating, being sent from the various United States consuls in foreign countries. There was a crowd of more than 200 persons at the sale, including fashionably dressed women. Men, it is said, bought practically all of the goods. The record price for the day was $75, and included a set of diamond earrings, which sold for $7. A number of bidders expressed wonder at the variety of articles sold, some of which told the histories of the deceased American citizens. One estate consisted of a rifle, which showed signs of use and about 50 cartridges of large caliber.
