Postmaster General and Mrs. New Will Return Next Week From Motor Trip in Middle West.

The Honorable H. L. May, the U.S. Postmaster General, and his wife, Mrs. Margaret May, are expected to return to their home in Washington next week after spending the summer months in the Middle West. The couple are expected to remain here for about a week or two before returning to Washington.

The May's are expected to visit several places in the Middle West during their stay, including Chicago, St. Louis, and Kansas City. They are also expected to visit a few friends in the area.

The couple has been away from Washington for several months, spending the summer months at their home in a quiet part of the country. They have been busy with various social and official engagements during their stay.

The May's are expected to return to Washington next week, and will probably attend the International Conference of Postal Authorities, which is scheduled to take place in Washington later in the month.

Why Your Family Should Have a Star Sedan

The body is finished in blue lacquer, upper half and fenders in black, and radiator shell nickled. Tires are straight-side cord. The motor is the most modern, most powerful in the low-priced field. We want to tell and show other reasons why your family should have it, shall we call or will you pi?
