

PERSHING AND HIS MEN MAKE CAPTIVE GLAD HEARTS OF CHEERING THOUSANDS

Soldiers of America Return as Victors Over Autocracy

Back From a Distant Land, Bearing no Spoils and With no Captives Chained to Chariots—How the Grand Review Impressed a Veteran of the Civil War—Significance of the Two Great Historical Events as Seen by a Veteran of 1861-65.

By HENRY Z. OSBORNE, Member of Congress from California, and Past Senior Vice Commander-in-Chief, G. A. R.

NO PATRIOTIC man or woman could have witnessed without emotion the grand spectacle of the passing along the broad avenues of the National Capital of the first body of American soldiers to cross the Atlantic and plant the Stars and Stripes on European soil.

the chariots of the disdainful conquerors, with thousands of distressed prisoners, men, women and children, presently to be reduced to slavery, and with the display of the rich spoils of the conquered peoples, they could hardly have failed to impress the spectators as they passed in martial splendor through the streets of the Imperial City, with the warlike strength and power of their successful soldiers and generals.
