

HARVARD STARTS DRIVE FOR FUND

$15,000,000 Endowment Asked in Order to Increase Salaries.

The general public, as well as Harvard men, will be appealed to for subscriptions in the local campaign for the raising of a $15,000,000 endowment fund for the university, according to an announcement by Walter R. Tuckerman, chairman of the local executive committee in charge of the drive. The campaign will begin tomorrow and continue for a week. Each of the 645 Harvard men residing in Washington will be paid a personal visit by a member of one of the group of canvassing teams. Circular letters explaining the purpose of the campaign and urging liberal support have been sent to all of the former Harvard students so that they will be acquainted with particulars of the campaign when they are called upon by the canvasser.

Subscribers to the fund may either pay cash or arrange for payments covering a period of five years. If they choose they can make quarterly payments on their subscriptions. Checks may be drawn payable to Charles F. Adams, treasurer of Harvard College, the legal name of Harvard University. Checks should be sent to the headquarters of the local campaign committee in the office of Charles Warren, room 715 Union Trust Building.

The endowment fund will be used to increase the low salaries of faculty members, wipe out annual deficits, and extend the work of the university.

SHOES ON SALE AT ARMY STORE

Price Will Range From $2 To $3.50; Food Stocks Sell Rapidly.

Several carloads of reclaimed army shoes will be placed on sale at the army retail store in the Liberty Hut, opposite Union Station, next Saturday. Prices will range from $2 to $3.50, and all pairs are guaranteed to be in excellent condition.

Ten carloads of food commodities were placed on sale at the store yesterday, and Washington was afforded the first real opportunity to purchase army food in unlimited quantities.

The sale of shoes was not included in the original plan of the store, but the present high prices caused the War Department to offer them to the public.

"The purpose of the army retail stores is to reduce the cost of living," the War Department announced yesterday, "and because of the high cost of footwear we have offered shoes for public sale."

The sale of gas masks, helmets and other war souvenirs was delayed because of the urgent demand for food and merchandise, but within ten days Washington will be able to purchase all sorts of war relics at the retail store.

It was said yesterday that the present supplies at the Liberty Hut store were sufficient to last for six months. This is a vivid contrast to the opening week of the store when the supplies were practically exhausted after the first day's sale.

Three Sailors Burned in Explosion on U. S. Greene

Three sailors were severely burned in a boiler accident on board the destroyer Greene, thirty miles off Key West, Sunday afternoon, the Navy Department was advised yesterday. The Greene is disabled, and so far, because of heavy seas, navy ships have been unable to tow her.

Submarine chasers, with doctors aboard were sent to the scene, but because of the heavy seas were badly damaged when they tried to give assistance. This morning a navy tug was sent to the scene, but because of the rough seas is not expected to give help immediately.

The U. S. S. Shamrock intercepted a message from the Greene shortly before noon yesterday, and is going to aid the crippled destroyer.

Chiropractic Physician.

The word Chiropractic is derived from the Greek and literally means hand doing, or done by hand. Appleton's Medical Dictionary defines a physician as a practitioner of medicine. Therefore, the meaning of Chiropractic Physician would be "a hand fixing practitioner of medicine."

Chiropractic is not medicine, nor does it consider itself a competitor of medicine any more than a dentist is a competitor of the family physician. Nor is a Chiropractor a physician, and no real Chiropractor would call himself one; he is just a Chiropractor.

Remembering that the success of Chiropractic has tempted many to turn a real science into a "get-rich-quick" scheme, we wish to again urge you to consult the classified business section of the telephone directory under the head of "Members of the Chiropractic Association of the District of Columbia." These practitioners are graduates of real schools and have worked hard to learn their profession. Each member has demonstrated and proven his ability before being admitted to membership. This for your protection and ours. Remember that a Chiropractor is NOT a physician, a surgeon or a osteopath, nor does he pretend to be anything but a Chiropractor.—Adv.

Thirty Years Ago The Washington Loan and Trust Company

opened for business in the office pictured above, located at 1001 F Street Northwest. Twice since then it has been necessary to build or rebuild on a large scale to accommodate the ever-increasing business. In response to popular demand, the company opened a branch office in 1917 on Seventeenth Street opposite the State, War and Navy. Last winter a fully-equipped savings department paying 3 per cent on deposits was established and met with immediate success as indicated by 4,000 depositors and nearly $1,000,000 deposits in eight months' time. Now a foreign department with agencies in London and Paris and with connections throughout the world supplies the needs of our customers.

- 30 Years of Continuous, Conscientious Service!
- 30 Years of Courteous Consideration of Customers!
- 30 Years of Conservative and Successful Management!
- 30 Years of Experience in the Handling of Trusts!
- 30 Years of Satisfactory Settlement of Estates!
- 30 Years Under Practically the Same Management!

These are the factors that have built the business of the company and caused the 1,000 depositors of 1889 to increase to 40,000 in 1919, and swelled the deposits from $100,000 to $10,000,000 in the same time.
