

Busu Southeast Washington

Popular lunch of Bacas Bros., at 1120 Eighth street, opposite the main gate of the Navy Yard.—Photo News.

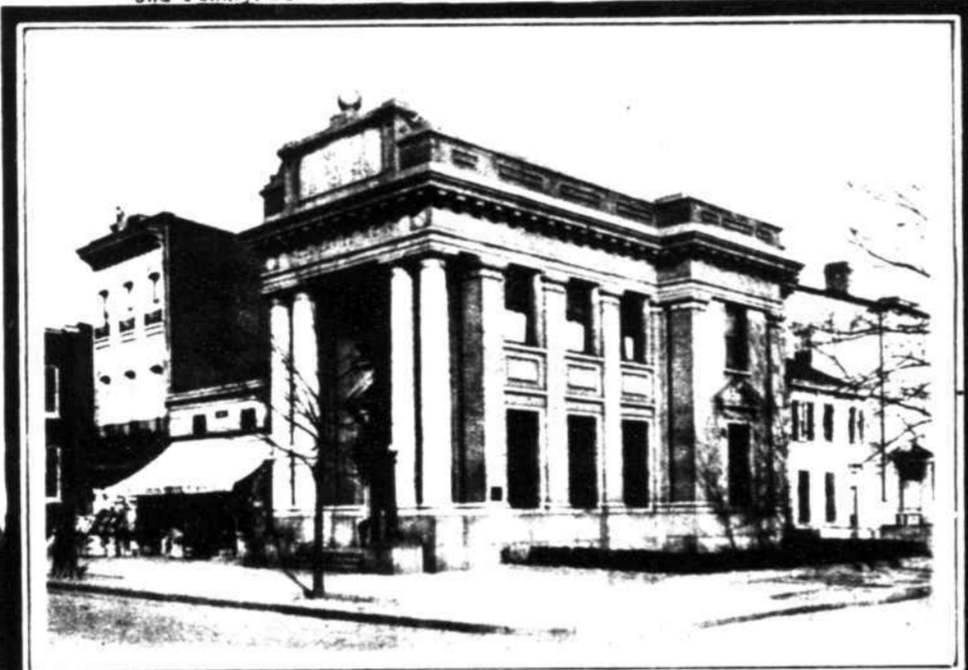

R. H. Reamy's music store at 623 Pennsylvania avenue, is completely stocked and has a justifiably large patronage.—Photo News.

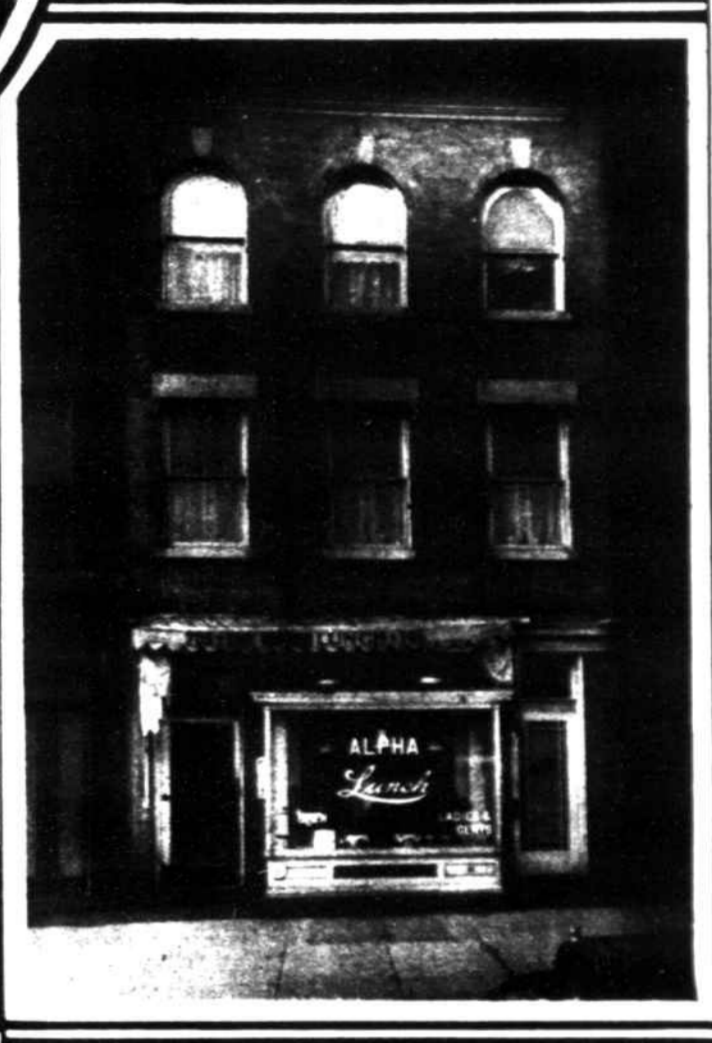

"The heart of the Southeast's business district, Eighth street and Pennsylvania avenue.—Photo News.

Establishment of William H. Scott, funeral director, at 409 Eighth street.—Photo News.

A flourishing financial institution is the Washington Mechanics' Savings Bank at Eighth and F streets.—Photo News.

Alpha Lunch, at 705 Eighth street, just a step from the Navy Yard. George M. Stavridis is proprietor.

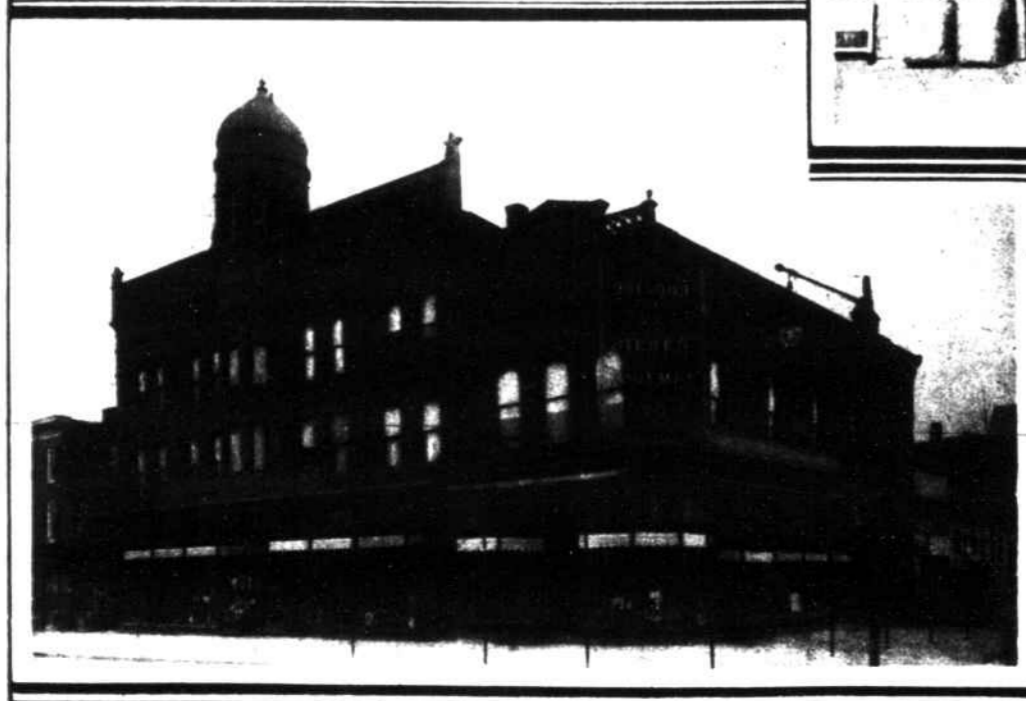

One of the longest established and best garages in the Southeast is the Congressional at 628 Pennsylvania avenue. F. E. Saunders and F. W. Mattingly, proprietors.—Photo News.

One of Washington's most reliable plumbing firms is that of George J. Cross, jr., at 636 Pennsylvania avenue.—Photo News.

Sales establishment of G. L. Clubb, dealer in coal, wood, feed and building material, at 622 Pennsylvania avenue.—Photo News.

Bieber-Kaufman Company's men's furnishing store in Eighth street.

The American Meat Market, C. Fuss, proprietor, does a big business at 924 Eighth street.—Photo News.